Yugoslavia Reds, Army Rallying to Back Tito

Meetings Hail Him; Marshal Elected Soldiers' Delegate To Party Congress

Belgrade, July 1 (AP).—Communist Party members and soldiers throughout Yugoslavia were reported rallying to the support of Marshal Tito today.

(The Belgrade Radio, recorded in London by Tanjug, Yugoslav news agency, declared "organized incidents which are insults to the Yugoslav people, the Yugoslav state and are aimed at impairing Albanian-Yugoslav relations" had taken place in Albania. The broadcast said Yu oslav diplomats had filed a protest against such "brutal and hostile acts" as the pulling down of Tito portraits, the banning of textbooks and songs mentioning him, the closing of the Yugoslav bookshop and the banning of the Yugoslav newspaper Borba.

(The Moscow Radio announced tonight that the central committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union has approved the resolution of the Cominform dealing with the situation in the Communist Party of Yugoslavia.)

In the face of allegations by the other members of the nine-nation Communist Information Bureau (Cominform) that Yugoslav leaders are anti-Russian and not good Communists, the army's First Proletarian Division elected Tito as its delegate to the Fifth Communist Party Congress.

The central committee of the Communist Party of Slovenia, one of the federated states of Yugoslavia, declared "we cannot be shaken for one moment in our confidence in our leadership, the central committee (of the Communist Party of Yugoslavia) and Tito."

Meetings Hail Tito

Borba, the party newspaper, declared numerous Communist meetings throughout Yugoslavia were hailing "the heroic central committee," and that Yugoslav soldiers were sending warm greetings to Tito as the founder and supreme commander of the army.

(Il Giornale Della Sera in Rome quoted a western power diplomatic representative from Belgrade as saying Tito had offered to back the proposal to return Trieste to Italy if he receives Marshall Plan aid.)

In a strong editorial, Borba expressed complete faith in the Yugoslav marshal, and attacked the Cominform's resolution.

Citing a Bulgarian Communist communique indorsing the Cominform action, Borba asked how Bulgarian-Yugoslav brotherhood could be advanced when Bulgarian leaders joined in accusing Yugoslav leadership of such "fantastic things."

United States Government monitors in Washington said they recorded a Communist broadcast from Albania saying that country also stands with Russia and that Yugoslav leaders were guilty of "open treason."

Shopping Center To Be Built on McLean Tract

About four acres of the original McLean estate, Friendship, located on Wisconsin ave. between Macomb st. and Idaho ave. nw., have been purchased from the Fairmac Corp. by Rose Kass of Kass Realty Co., Inc., it was announced yesterday.

Purchase price of the property, which includes the remainder of the estate on which the United States Government built McLean Gardens, was said to be close to one million dollars. The sale was negotiated through Shannon & Luchs Co.

Mrs. Kass will build a complete shopping center on the property including a department store, a theater, bowling alleys, a roller skating rink and several national chain stores, at an estimated cost of six million dollars. Construction is scheduled to start within a year.

$50,000 Libel Suit Filed

Authorship of Shakespeare Plays Basis of Court Action

One expert claims X-rays of this portrait of Shakespeare by Ashbourne revealed the Earl of Oxford's coat of arms

Who wrote Shakespeare's plays and poems became a $50,000 question in District Court yesterday.

Charles Wisner Barrell of 6 Grove st., New York City, who believes that the real author is the seventeenth earl of Oxford, has filed a libel suit for that amount against Dr. Giles E. Dawson, curator of books and manuscripts at the Folger Shakespeare Library.

Barrell claims to have found evidence in X-ray photographs of two portraits of Shakespeare at the library linking them with Edward de Vere, Earl of Oxford.

Dawson, in a letter replying to the inquiry of a third party said in part, "we were unable to see any of the things he (Barrell) saw in the negatives. They just weren't there.

"If he can now produce pictures of these things, they must have been doctored up."

This, Barrell's suit claims, is "recklessness, ill-will and malice" and damaged Barrell's reputation.

Barrell is described in the suit as secretary-treasurer of the Shakespeare Fellowship and editor of its quarterly publication.

The fellowship is described as having 300 members engaged in the study of Shakespeare, Elizabethan history and literature to show that the seventeenth earl of Oxford was the author of the works "published under his pseudonym, William Shakespeare."

Dawson, 45, joined the Folger staff 16 years ago yesterday. He previously taught English at Western Reserve University and received his Ph.D. degree at Cornell University. He lives at 3434 34th st. nw., and is the author of numerous articles on Elizabethan bibliography and manuscripts.

The suit revolves around the "Janssen" portrait and the "Ashbourne" portrait, both oil paintings that hang in the exhibition hall of the Folger Library.

According to the suit X-ray and infra-red ray pictures were taken of these paintings by Barrell and Arthur G. Eldredge, formerly of the University of Illinois and National X-ray Laboratory of Washington.

Subsequently, Barrell in an article in Scientific American, January, 1940, said that the X-ray portraits showed "clear-cut evidence" that details of the original portraiture had been changed at some early date concealing "symbols of personal identification" with the Earl of Oxford.

And further "beyond reasonable doubt that the Shakespeare who appears in these works must have been the mysterious Elizabethan court poet Edward de Vere, 17th earl of Oxford, and not the member of the illiterate Shakespeare

Bardwell Trail At Dead End, Prowler Freed

Man Picked Up Near Scene Says He Was Making 'Investigation'

Another trail in the murder of 11-year-old Carol Bardwell came to a dead end yesterday as police released a blond 31-year-old man, picked up as he prowled around Rock Creek Park bushes only 25 feet from where the little girl's body was found Sunday.

After about five hours of questioning, homicide squad men were satisfied that the suspect had nothing to do with the murder.

The man, picked up by Mounted Park Policeman Bland M. Davis at 3:30 p. m. claimed he was merely doing some private investigation in response to police pleas for aid from the public.

Clerk Also Released

Apparently a devotee of detective work, the man, a bowling-alley employe, loitered around police headquarters for hours after he was released.

Meanwhile, police also released a 22-year-old grocery clerk after three hours of questioning.

He had been picked up after two girls told police that the youth was seen in Rock Creek Park on Sunday, the day Carol's body was discovered a few yards off a path leading from 17th st. and Colorado ave. nw. He was known to carry a knife, the girls said.

The young man provided an airtight alibi and was freed after certain chemical tests.

A conjecture that Carol may have been slain by someone she was acquainted with was advanced yesterday by Chief of Detectives Robert S. Bryant. Bryant would not elaborate on his conjecture.

Victim Was Raped

A 10-cent piece which Carol had been given by her father "for a coke" on the day she was slain has never been recovered.

Bryant said yesterday "as far as I know no money was found at the scene."

The missing money had earlier given rise to the conjecture that the crime may have been committed during a juvenile "holdup."

Must Deliver Records

Tucker Halts Work on Auto; SEC Forced Action, He Says

Chicago, July 1 (AP). — Preston Tucker announced today the Tucker Corporation is suspending its automotive operations temporarily and is turning over its complete books and working data to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

"The SEC made a peremptory demand for literally truckloads of our files and records to be delivered at their office in Chicago," Tucker, president of the company, said.

"Tying up such records at this time will make it impossible to continue operating," Tucker said in a formal statement issued at a news conference.

"Whether its action is right or wrong, SEC has effectively blocked our every corporate operation at our most crucial point, when we are on the threshold of mass production with engineering and development completed.

"By automatic use of power under present SEC regulations, the commission has succeeded where our toughest competitors and industrial rivals have failed — they have stopped us for the moment," Tucker added.

Thomas Hart, regional administrator of the Securities and Exchange Commission, said he had not been advised of Tucker's plans.

"If Mr. Tucker says the producing of his records will force his corporation to suspend operations, I will have a very complete statement in reply to that in court tomorrow."

The SEC is seeking authority of the Federal court for permission to obtain Tucker's financial and operation records.

Tucker told newsmen he had decided against "further legal resistance" to the demand for the records and mechanical data in the second SEC investigation within a year.

"We are confident," he added, "that we will win a clean bill of

Rail Strike Ban Is Made Permanent

Order Is Signed As Goldsborough Sees 'No Doubt' It Should Be Issued

Justice T. Alan Goldsborough yesterday made permanent his order banning a railroad strike.

He signed a permanent anti-strike injunction after saying there is "no doubt" one should be issued.

The judge said:

"To permit a strike to take place at this time would create an extreme situation which society is not required to tolerate under the Norris-LaGuardia Act." (That act regulates issuance of injunctions in labor disputes.)

A temporary court order, barring a railroad strike, has been in effect since May, when the Government seized the railroads to head off a threatened strike by three big railroad brotherhoods.

Goldsborough said that since the Army seized the railroads on May 10 the rail workers have been Government employes.

Rules on Legal Right

He had refused earlier to consider the merits of the wage dispute that led to the strike threat.

He said in U. S. District Court that the only issue for him to decide was whether the railroad unions have a legal right to strike.

The three unions—locomotive engineers, firemen and enginemen and switchmen—already had taken steps to appeal from Goldsborough's earlier temporary order banning a strike.

"All we have to do is to file some more papers," one union official said.

The permanent injunction will run now until one or the other side asks the court to dissolve it. That will happen when the dispute has been settled.

Tightly Deadlocked

The controversy was tightly deadlocked, despite repeated efforts of John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, to get the railroads and the union chiefs together. They may resume conferences again Friday. Steelman recessed the White House talks to await the Goldsborough decision.

The strike-threatening unions refused to settle for the same 15½-cent hourly pay increase accepted by the other railroad unions in the past year. The engineers, firemen and switchmen asked for several rules changes as well. The carriers say they now are demanding 31½ cents an hour. The unions say that was their original demand, and that the cost of living has gone up materially since the other unions got the 15½-cent raise.

The three unions were ready to walk off the job May 11 at 6 a. m. after months of wrangling.

President Truman directed the Army to take over the rail lines, because the three unions, with only 190,000 members, could tie up the major train movements immediately.

The Justice Department also obtained a restraining order to make sure the unions stayed on the job.

Goldsborough ruled the railroad workers were Government employes, and as such were in the same position as the coal miners he ordered back to work in December, 1946, when the pits were under Federal operation.

The Norris-LaGuardia Act of 1932, limiting injunctions in labor disputes, does not protect the railroad unions, Goldsborough said.

Peace Hopes Become Dim In Palestine

Both Arab League And Israel Regime Reported Ready To Reject U. N. Plan

From Press Dispatches

Hopes for Palestine peace grew dimmer last night as reports from Cairo and Tel Aviv indicated both the Arab League and the Israel government plan to reject the proposals of Count Folke Bernadotte, the United Nations mediator.

The Egyptian nationalist newspaper Al Misri said Bernadotte had proposed that Arab Palestine be annexed to Trans-Jordan and that the Arabs accept Israel as a state. The newspaper said the plan included an extensive revision of the U. N. partition program, including giving the Negeb Desert to the Arabs and northern Galilee to the Jews.

Tewfik Abdul Houda Pasha, Trans-Jordan Prime Minister, said the proposal would be the same as returning his country to a dependent status, by placing the enlarged Trans-Jordan under partial jurisdiction of the United Nations.

In Tel Aviv, government sources said Israel could not accept the peace program submitted by Bernadotte two days ago because of two basic provisions to which it is unalterably opposed: his proposal for incorporating Jerusalem into Arab Palestine, and possible further restrictions on Jewish immigration.

Willingness to consider counter-proposals from the mediator was indicated in Tel Aviv. It was believed he might make flying visits to the Israeli capital before the truce expires a week from today.

Count Bernadotte was scheduled to arrive in Cairo Saturday for conferences with the political committee of the Arab League, a league official said.

Leahy Renamed Head of District Selective Service

William E. Leahy, District Selective Service director during World War II, was nominated by the Commissioners yesterday to head selective service here again under the new Draft Act.

The nomination was forwarded to President Truman.

Leahy, a prominent Washington attorney, was chairman of the board of appeals for selective service from 1940 to 1941. He became District selective service director in 1941 and continued until wartime selective service ended.

He also served as chairman of the mass tuberculosis chest X-ray survey for the District, which was completed Wednesday.

Mercury Under 90 Is Weather News for Day

The weather yesterday just couldn't make up its mind, vacillating from threatening skies to rain and sunshine.

But the temperature was firm about one thing—for the first time in five days it stayed below the 90s. High was 84 at 4:25 p. m. and low was 68 at 6.35 a. m.

Today's forecast is sunny, with highest temperature about 82.

Regular Grand Jury Acts

30 Indicted Here for Gaming; Record Group in Recent Years

By Murrey Marder
Post Reporter

In one of the largest groups of gambling indictments in recent years, 30 persons yesterday were indicted on gaming charges by the regular grand jury.

One reason for the unusual number of indictments was that the April grand jury was completing its term, and had held over some indictments that would normally have been returned last week.

The 30 defendants were named in 12 true bills returned before District Court Justice Edward M. Curran. Only one gaming case was ignored.

The regular grand jury is not to be confused with the special grand jury, which has been holding sessions periodically in its probe of the over-all aspects of gambling.

Seven in One Indictment

Seven persons were named in one indictment resulting from a raid last February 14 on what vice squad detectives charged was a city-wide headquarters for numbers and horse bet collections doing a $10,000-a-day business.

In this case, charges of operating a lottery, setting up a gaming table, and possession of lottery slips were returned against Frank J. Battista, 33, of 1400 Woodside pkwy., Silver Spring; John Fitzgerald, 43, of 1414 Pennsylvania ave. se.; George L. Langley, 33, of 2524 N. Florida st., Arlington, and Fred Makin, 40, of 718 Alabama ave. se.

Police said the group operated from 317 Gallatin st. nw. Two others in the same case were arrested at 56 N st. sw.: Joseph L. Holmes, 38, of that address, and Charles E. Hines, 29, of 2628 Barry rd. se. The seventh man in the indictment was identified only as William Perry, and is still at large.

Holmes and Hines were charged with operating a lottery and possession of lottery slips, and Perry was charged with operating a lottery.

Five Seized May 10

Second largest case in the indictments named five persons seized May 10 in a raid at 1039 5th st. ne.

When a police undercover man went there on May 7 to place a numbers bet, police said, Luther E. Saunders, 44 of that address, allegedly told the officer that he also accepted horse race bets—and also invited him around for a crap game.

Saunders was charged with operating a lottery, setting up a gaming table, and possession of lottery slips. Also charged with operating a lottery and possession of lottery slips in this case were:

Edna M. Young, 44, of 1125 5th st. ne.; John W. Smith, 31, of 519 L st. ne.; John Rozier, 48, of 76

4-Power Cooperation Ends as Soviet Quits Berlin's Government

Western Allies See Evidence That Russia's Blockade May Be Backfiring

Berlin, July 1 (U.P.).—Russia ended all four-power cooperation in Germany today by withdrawing from the Berlin city government.

At the same time, in a contrasting "cold war" move, the Soviet news bureau hinted that the Russian land blockade of Berlin soon may be lifted.

Some evidence that the Soviet blockade of Berlin is backfiring on the Russians came today from British and American authorities. They said the Soviets were running short of wheat, penicillin, insulin and streptomycin, and had sent out "feelers" about a possible barter arrangement to relieve the situation.

Soviet Col. Boris Kalinin announced the Russian decision to quit the four-power Allied Kommandatura which governs Berlin. He said the Soviets were pulling out partly because of the actions of Col. Frank Howley, American commander in Berlin.

[According to other Berlin dispatches, the western Allies said the Kommandatura would be continued on a three-power basis, leaving the door open for a Soviet return—Editor's note.]

Conditions Serious, Says Clay

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in chief, said in Frankfurt that "present conditions in Germany are very serious," but he would not comment on Russia's walkout from the Kommandatura. He said only that it was "difficult to understand their reasons."

Kalinin, the Soviet chief of staff, gave Russia's reasons for pulling out in a brief speech to the Kommandatura.

"It is well known," he said, "that the behavior of Colonel Howley, the American commandant, and the lack of reaction on the part of British and French representatives to the protest made by Soviet authorities, as well as the separate actions of British, French and United States authorities in introducing currency reform in the western zones of Berlin city, which is part of the economic system of the Soviet zone, has resulted in the fact that four-power meetings in the Allied Kommandatura cannot take place any longer.

"In conjunction with this, Soviet representatives will no longer participate in four-power meetings of the Allied Kommandatura in the city of Berlin. That is all."

Howley Walkout

Kalinin's statement about Howley referred to the June 17 meeting of the Kommandatura. Howley walked out of that meeting, but, as Clay said in Frankfurt today, "he had the permission of the chairman."

Clay told his news conference today that American C-54 transports were joining the air shuttle service now feeding the 2,500,000 residents of Berlin's western sec-

Farming Out 'Voice' Scripts To End Oct. 1

State Department To Take Over Work From CBS, NBC

The State Department announced yesterday that it will take over on October 1 the "Voice of America" news broadcasts which are now being made for the Government by two private radio networks.

Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen said the National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting System signed temporary agreements in New York yesterday to continue handling the program only until then.

Some of the Government-sponsored programs prepared by NBC writers recently stirred up a storm of controversy. Angry Congressmen charged that their States had been "libeled and slandered" in descriptions of the United States beamed to Latin America.

Department to Review Scripts

Congressional committees, hastily appointed to investigate the situation, placed the blame partly on the State Department for failing to exercise proper supervision over the broadcasts.

Allen said the networks agreed to continue the job for a three-month interim period to give the department's international broadcasting division time to get ready to take over the job.

The department will make a "full and complete review, prior to broadcast," of all scripts aired in the meantime, he said.

The two networks have been broadcasting programs for the department in English, Spanish,

Germans Get Right to Form West Regime

States' Heads Do Not Appear Enthusiastic Over Allied Plans

Frankfurt, July 1 (NYHT).—The architects' plans for the government of west Germany were unveiled here today by the American, British and French military governors.

The 11 minister presidents of the states to be formed into a sovereign body expressed a noteworthy lack of enthusiasm for the project at the conclusion of an hour-and-a-half briefing, judging by their guarded comments. They later disclosed that fear of Soviet reaction and a possible East-West conflict dominates their thoughts today.

In what was described as "an historic occasion," Gen. Lucius D. Clay, along with his British and French colleagues, authorized the minister presidents of the United States, British and French zones to convene a constituent assembly by September 1.

Objective of Plan

Its prime objective will be to draft "a democratic constitution" which provides a "governmental structure of a Federal type" guaranteeing state rights under an "adequate central authority" and containing "guaranties of the individual rights and freedoms," General Clay explained.

This new proposed government has not been given any name by its Allied planners. That is for the Germans to decide.

Equally careful were the military governors not to limit its future geographical boundaries to

Eisenhower? Up To Him

Will Be Nominated, Elected, Truman Declares to Newsmen

By John W. Ball
Post Reporter

President Truman is not only confident of nomination on the first ballot at the Democratic convention in Philadelphia but promised yesterday to beat Dewey this fall.

He prefaced that remark at his press conference by saying he liked Governor Warren, that he hadn't anything against him or Dewey, either, except that he was going to beat the latter in the coming campaign.

The President, in addition to replying to political questions, said that Secretary of State Marshall had his approval in issuing his statement Wednesday declaring "we intend to stay" in Berlin despite Russia's efforts to squeeze us out of the city.

He replied to a question as to whether he would welcome General Eisenhower on the ticket with him by saying that was up to the general.

He remarked that he would, of course, accept Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt as a running mate, after remarking that that selection was up to the convention. He asked the questioner what he expected him to say to such a question.

In New York City, Mrs. Roosevelt said she had "no intention whatsoever of running for public office."

Mrs. Roosevelt's name was brought into the presidential questioning when the Chief Executive was asked if he "liked Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce's advice to the Democratic Party."

Mr. Truman answered that he didn't know what it was; that he hadn't read it.

At Ridgefield, Conn., Mrs. Luce, former Republican Representative from Connecticut, remarked "how wonderful" when told of Mr. Truman's statement. In a recent

Calm Atmosphere Prevails as Finns Start 2-Day Vote

Helsinki, July 1 (AP).—Finland's national election began today in fair weather and a calm political atmosphere.

Today and tomorrow 2,000,000 Finns are expected to vote, selecting 200 members of Parliament among six parties for the next three years.

Although Parliament recently approved a friendship and mutual assistance pact with Russia, the general expectation was that the Communist-dominated Popular Democratic bloc, which now has 51 seats, would lose slightly.

Social Democrats and Agrarians, each with 48 members in Parliament now, were expected to gain slightly. The other three parties participating are the Conservatives, Liberals and Swedish.

PEOPLE In The NEWS

Leahy, Named as D. C. Draft Director, Has Been Teacher, Prosecutor, Lawyer

When William E. Leahy takes over as boss of the draft program in the District, he won't be a stranger to the job.

Outstanding as a teacher, attorney and Government prosecutor during his career, Leahy put most of his lucrative law practice to one side during World War II to serve as Selective Service Director for the District. The job paid no salary.

WILLIAM E. LEAHY
Draft director

So well did he do that job that he was awarded the Cosmopolitan Club's Distinguished Service Medal for 1942. The club considered his "the most outstanding and unselfish service to his community."

In recent months Leahy has been active in the legal arena and with remarkable success.

Defended Dairy Group

He defended the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association; the association's secretary-treasurer, Bruce B. Derrick, and seven area dairies when they were indicted for conspiring to control the price and sale of milk here. District Court Justice Richmond B. Keech finally threw the case out of court.

In April, Leahy appeared in District Court as defense counsel for the Washington Real Estate Board. The local organization had been indicted along with the National Association of Real Estate Boards on charges of criminally conspiring to violate the antitrust laws.

Leahy's presentation again must have been efficient. At least Justice Edward M. Curran handed down a directed verdict of acquittal.

He is a fighter who has the gift of employing tact while pulling no punches. Before a jury, he can unleash an all-out offensive against the testimony of a witness or the arguments of opposing lawyers and at the same time cagily keep his guard up against counter-thrusts.

Controls Fiery Temper

He gets mad at times, he admits, but wisely never loses his temper. He knows that a judge or jury can easily be antagonized and he is ever vigilant against doing just that.

Leahy's forebears lived in County Kerry, Ireland. He was born in Monson, Mass., July 11, 1886. After receiving a bachelor's degree at Holy Cross University, he became a teacher of Latin, Greek and German at Williamstown (Mass.) High School.

He had reached the level of vice principal of the school when he decided to turn his talents to law. He came to Washington in 1909 and entered Georgetown University.

Worked Way Through School

Leahy worked his way through law school by teaching languages and for a time taught at Gonzaga College. He was admitted to the bar here in 1913. Between 1915 and 1925 he served at various times as an Assistant United States attorney, a special United States attorney and special assistant to the Attorney General.

He is a bundle of drive, which probably explains his marked success in handling the draft program during the recent war years. He never requires more than five or six hours sleep a night.

He is married and lives at 3325 Garfield st. nw.

Army Reaffirms Confidence in 27th Division

By The Associated Press

The Army reaffirmed its confidence in the Twenty-seventh Infantry Division, which figured in a stormy wartime controversy, by awarding a unit citation to the 105th Regiment of the division.

The citation said the conduct of the regiment in the fierce battle against attacking Japanese during the Saipan campaign reflected "great credit on itself and is in keeping with the highest traditions of the armed forces of the United States." The Twenty-seventh Division is a New York National Guard organization.

The Twenty-seventh Division went into action along with Marine forces in the attack on Saipan, in the Marianas Islands, in July, 1944. The campaign was under the overall command of a Marine, Maj. Gen. Holland M. (Howling Mad) Smith. The Marine general relieved Army Maj. Gen. Ralph Smith of his command of the Twenty-seventh during the battle and sent him back to Hawaii. The Army-Marine argument over the action by the Marine general persisted for months.

'Big 3' Delay Berlin Protest To Moscow

London, July 1 (NYHT).—Britain, France and the United States will delay for a while longer making any joint representations to Moscow on the Berlin situation, it was learned tonight at the Foreign Office.

Three-power strategy in dealing with the Russian squeeze on Berlin was canvassed for over two hours at the Foreign Office today by Sir William Strang, head of the German section; Lewis W. Douglas, American Ambassador, and Rene Massigli, French Ambassador.

Largely on British initiative, it was understood, the three representatives decided that the time is not yet ripe to put the Berlin situation on a government-to-government basis with Moscow. The contention is that to protest to Moscow might freeze action rather than obtain action.

First reaction here tonight to the Russian dissolution of the Allied Kommandatura was that it simply confirmed a situation which already existed.

tors. He said the city could be fed by air if the Soviet land blockade continues.

American and British planes poured supplies into the city today in what was described as the greatest air supply job for a single city in history. The first of 40 four-engined C-54's arrived in Frankfurt today. Others were expected before nightfall.

The Soviet news bureau, official agency of the Russian occupation authorities, said today that the Soviets "were considering altering traffic regulations on the autobahn in order to extenuate the present restrictions."

Kalinin made it clear that past rulings of the Kommandatura would remain binding on the Russians.

Soviet Ambassador Talks With Lovett

By The Associated Press

Soviet Russia's Ambassador talked over a "current question" for 20 minutes yesterday with Undersecretary Robert A. Lovett at the State Department.

The envoy, Alexander S. Panyushkin, said in response to a reporter's question that he did not deliver a new note.

"I can't comment because we talked about a current question," Panyushkin said through an interpreter.

Officials said he asked for the appointment with Lovett, who has been acting Secretary during the absence of Secretary Marshall. Marshall has been at Walter Reed Hospital for a physical check-up.

West German Rule Proposed

the present American, British and French zones. The way is left open for "the eventual re-establishment of German unity, at present disrupted," General Clay pointed out.

Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British military governor, called for the modification of the present Laender boundaries, so that no state would be "either too large or too small in comparison with the others."

Gen. Pierre Koenig, French military governor, then revealed the proposed Allied "occupation statute," a quasi-peace treaty under which the new western German state will function. This was the most criticized of the three documents presented today as the Germans complained that its restrictions virtually nullified from the outset the concept that the new government would enjoy some measure of real independence.

Serving as a "guide" of what the Allied powers will demand, it provided a grant of "legislative, executive and judicial power to the German government" and reserves to the military governors such "powers" as are necessary to assure the fulfillment of the basic purposes of the occupation.

Following the formation of a new government, the Allied military governors will:

1. Control German foreign relations "for the time being."
2. Exercise "minimum control over German foreign trade and in general policies which could adversely affect foreign trade."
3. Maintain control of the Ruhr, reparations, the level of industry, decartelization, disarmament, demilitarization, and certain aspects of scientific research.
4. Protect the prestige and insure the security of the occupation forces, and their requirements "within defined limits."
5. Insure the observance of the constitutions which they have approved.

Official Cites Red 'Terror' In N. Y. Store

By the United Press

A New York department store executive testified yesterday that his employes are members of a union headed by a "notorious Communist" who keeps them in line through a "veritable reign of terror."

Gordon Greenfield, secretary-treasurer of Oppenheim-Collins & Co., Inc., named the union chief as Nicholas Carnes, head of Local 1250 of the CIO Retail, Wholesale and Department Stores Employes Union.

Greenfield and other representatives of New York stores testified before a House Labor Subcommittee which is investigating Communist activities in department store unions. Committee officials have said the inquiry will cover Communist infiltration of all labor unions.

To Protect Witnesses

Representative Fred A. Hartley (R., N. J.), chairman of the full committee, promised "protection" for any "rank-and-file" union members who want to testify against Communist leaders. He said their testimony would be taken in secret, if necessary, to hide their identity.

Greenfield said his company is "prepared to prove that the leaders of (Local) 1250 are Communists." He described Carnes as a "notorious Communist."

James S. Schoff, president of the Bloomingdale Department Store, described for the subcommittee retaliatory action which he said was taken against three of his employes for their opposition to alleged Communist union leaders.

His testimony prompted Subcommittee Chairman Charles J. Kersten (R., Wis.) to comment that Local No. 3 of the CIO Union used "typical Moscow trial technique" to try to expel the employes.

Schoff identified the three employes as Gustave Holmstrom, Samuel Wolfson and Anthony Bucceri, all members of Local 3.

Greenfield said the present Oppenheim-Collins management took over the stores in 1945 and since then has found that the union "considered it disloyal to give good service to customers."

He said it discovered that 72 per cent of the people who entered the New York store, walked out without buying anything and that 73 per cent of the Brooklyn customers did the same. He claimed this was due to the attitude of the union employes.

Spaatz Says Russians Have Planes Which Can Reach U. S.

New York, July 1 (AP). — Gen. Carl Spaatz says Russia has developed a plane that puts "practically every United States industrial area of consequence" within range of a one-way, no-return mission from Soviet soil.

Spaatz, retired commander of the U. S. Air Force, said in a Life magazine article the plane was "copied" from the American B-29. He identified the Russian plane as the Tupolev TU-70.

"There is reason to believe," he said, "that the Russians now possess several hundred of them and are manufacturing more at a fairly good rate."

From Three "Lost" B-29s

Spaatz said the Tupolev model was copied from three "lost" B-29s which made emergency landings at Vladivostok, Siberia, in 1944.

"The advent of the Tupolev," he said, "signifies the final piercing of the ocean cushion behind which, during two wars, we mobilized our industrial capacity undisturbed."

Spaatz said "the iron curtain" surrounding the "mystery" of the three B-29s "was parted this year at the Soviet armed forces' great May Day show."

He said 10 of the Tupolev models,—"obviouysly the bomber imitation," appeared in the show.

"One wonders whether Russian engineers were able to reproduce all the other marvelous details" as well as "the general B-29 structure," he said.

Range of New Craft

Spaatz said the Tupolev, "from either Murmansk or eastern Siberia," could reach "practically every United States industrial area of consequence" on a one-way, no-return flight.

Spaatz said: "Some airmen have been puzzled that the Russians should have committed their hard-driven air factories to the production of an airplane which was already seven years old on the drawing boards.

"The Tupolev's radius obviously falls far short of the requirements for TNT warfare against the Western Hemisphere from Russian bases.

"But with the atomic bomb as payload, the Tupolev, from the Russian viewpoint, makes sense."

Spaatz added that "the Russians have come into possession of an intercontinental carrier for their atomic bomb if—and when—they get it."

Korean 'Invasion' Plan Is Revealed

Seoul, Korea, July 1 (U.P.).—Secret Communist documents predicting that the "People's Army" of north Korea will enter the American-occupied zone of south Korea this month have been captured by the Korean police, the U. S. Army announced today.

A high American source in Seoul said, however, that the Army was "not unduly concerned" over the alleged invasion plan.

The papers were signed by the "committee of the party in Wanju Gun (Wanju County in south Korea)."

Detailed plans were given for the organization of guerilla bands varging in size up to a full division.

"Fighting will be started early n July, at which time all Russian troops will be withdrawn from north Korea," the captured documents said. "The People's Army will then come down to south Korea and unite with (the Communist) South Korean Labor Party."

Repudiate Heads

Nenni

They decided the alliance had failed to solve the fundamental problem of uniting workers, peasants and the middle class.

Party President Pietro Nenni and former Secretary-General Lelio Basso were dropped from the leadership at a special Socialist Party congress.

Delegates decided neither leftist nor moderate members will head the party in the future.

Giancarlo Matteotti, 30, son of Socialist Marytr Giaromo Matteotti, was nominated almost unanimously to head the party, but he declined because of his youth.

The leftists showed their ardor for communism had been dampened by passing a resolution establishing a new policy, which courts Communist support, but leaves the door ajar for the return of the right-wing Socialist minority which walked out of the party 18 months ago. It denounces the present Catholic government and "accepted" the Marshall Plan.

Italians to Strike Today In Commerce, Industry

Rome, July 1 (NYHT).—The strike wave directed by members of Italy's Communist-dominated Labor Federation rose to a new peak today as unions sent down orders for a 12-hour general strike Friday of all Italian industrial and commercial workers.

All factory hands and most business workers were directed to stop work between noon and midnight.

The strike orders direct all street cars and buses to suspend operation from 5 p. m. until midnight. Union leaders said they had not decided whether to call out employes of food and clothing stores as well.

is being supplied by Yugoslav lcms.

The Borba editorial adopted one conciliatory note toward Russia, however, saying the Red Army had been of great help in liberating the country from the Germans. It also declared Yugoslavia intends to remain in the Communist front.

"No one can expel our party and our country from this front," declared Borba.

Action in Congress

The First Proletarian Division which named Tito as its delegate to the party congress, July 21, was the first military unit organized by the Marshal when he became a guerilla leader in 1941.

The congress probably will be called upon definitely to set Yugoslavia's course in the present crisis.

Meanwhile, the Communist Party of Austria declared its rejection of Yugoslav territorial claims for parts of southern Austria. The Austrian Communist newspaper said the Yugoslav claims were "nationalistic." The paper did not mention that Russia has supported the Yugoslav claims.

2 Former U. S. Workers Guilty of Pasport Frauds

Philadelphia, July 1 (U.P.).—Former United States Commissioner Norman J. Griffin and another former Federal employe were convicted today of conspiracy to defraud the Government in issuing passports to alien Chinese.

He and Warren J. Belcher, 37, former head of the passport office here, were accused of accepting bribes for issuing fraudulent documents.

Sentencing was deferred by Federal Judge Paul Leahy pending disposition of a new trial motion.

Battleship Wisconsin Is Put in Mothballs

Portsmouth, Va., July 1 (AP).—They put the battleship Wisconsin in mothballs today.

"Lower the commission pennant," ordered Capt. J. M. Higgins of Madison, Wis., skipper of the 45,000-ton ship. "Haul down the colors."

Thus officially the Wisconsin was decommissioned and became a unit of the Norfolk group, Atlantic Reserve Fleet.

Indonesians Ask One Mediator If Current Deadlock Continues

Lake Success, N. Y., July 1 (U.P.).—Indonesia asked the United Nations Security Council today to name a single mediator for the Dutch-Indonesian dispute if the three-national Committee of Good Offices proves unable to break the current deadlock.

Indonesian Delegate L. N. Palar suggested that the committee be authorized to take actions by majority vote instead of being bound by the present unanimity rule, which gives any single member a veto.

Dutch Representative Eelco van Kleffens immediately rejected the Indonesian suggestions. The Dutch contend that the Good Offices Commission has no right to impose its decisions.

The meeting marked the debut of Ukrainian Delegate Dmitir Manuilsky as Council president. Manuilsky, whose country was elected to a Council seat by last fall's General Assembly, seized the occasion to accuse the United States of supporting the Indonesian Republic in words only while really supporting the Dutch.

Bulgar Pilot Dies After Plane Fight

Istanbul, Turkey, July 1 (AP).—The pilot of a Bulgarian transport plane which was seized by anti-Communists to flee the country died today, making two fatalities on the wild trip.

The pilot, identified as Boris Ganes, was fatally wounded and his radio operator, Morgis Nodelkoff, killed outright last night when the attack was made by passengers. The mechanic was wounded in the arm.

A dazed survivor told of the trip, which began as a routine Burgas-Sofia flight inside Bulgaria, and ended in Istanbul with Communists and anti-Communists still battling viciously.

The survivor said the trouble began when six or seven of the plane's 21 passengers took over the ship in a "frantic plot" to escape Bulgaria.

He said that shortly after the takeoff a man brandishing a gun demanded the pilot turn over the controls. The radio operator intervened, and five other passengers drew guns and began firing. The radio operator was killed and the pilot fatally wounded. A bullet struck the mechanic in the arm and he fainted. He was revived and ordered to assist the new pilot.

The plane was turned for Turkey, and other passengers, who declared they were Communists, were held at gun-point until the plane approached Istanbul.

Rebels Slow Greek Drive

Athens, July 1 (AP).—Rebel forces increased counterattacks today in mountainous northern Greece, but a government communique said army troops are driving forward slowly.

The communique said that in two days of fighting at Nevrokopi, just south of the Bulgarian border, 47 guerillas were killed, 26 captured and 12 surrendered.

Clashes continued in the Sarandoporos River valley and the Smolika Mountain district, and guerilla activity was reported from the Roumeli region. It was in the latter district that the army said six weeks ago it had inflicted 2500 casualties and completed its operations there.

Army units supported by the air force and navy drove guerillas off heights on both sides of the Ioannina-Prevezi road—main supply line for the Greek 8th, 9th and 10th divisions. War Minister George Stratos said communications had been restored.

The Gallup Poll

Europe Red Strength Reported Waning as 3 Elections Near

By George Gallup
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J., July 1.—There is evidence that the Communist wave in Europe may have passed its peak.

In three key countries, Finland, Sweden and Holland, elections that will provide a crucial test of strength are being held in the near future—Finland, in fact, is voting today and tomorrow—but reports from affiliated Gallup Polls in those three countries show no indications that the Communist Party will make substantial gains.

In fact, taking the three countries together, the Communists are not likely to do any better than they did in the last election, and possibly not as well.

The surveys show the Communist Party polling 7.6 per cent in Sweden, 19.8 per cent in Finland and 11 per cent in Holland. The Finnish general election is July 1-2, while Holland holds its election on July 7. The Swedish general election is scheduled for September 19.

The last indication of Communist voting strength in a major European country was the Italian election last March in which the Communist front failed to win, polling a maximum of only 31 per cent of the popular vote.

Political sentiment in Finland was sounded as of June 15 by Suomen Gallup of Helsinki, the Finnish Gallup Poll. The following table shows the poll results and a comparison with the last general election.

FINLAND

	1945 Election	Poll June 15, 1948
Social Democratic Party	25.1%	28.3%
Democratic League (Communists)	23.5	19.8
Agrarian League	21.3	21.3
Coalition Party	15.0	15.0
Swedish People's Party	8.4	8.0
Progressive Party	5.2	5.3
Small Farmers Party	1.2	1.3
Others	0.3	0.5

The coming Dutch election shapes up into a fairly close fight between the Roman Catholic People's Party, the leading party, and the Labor Party (Free Democratic League). The Dutch Gallup Poll in its latest test shows the Communist Party gaining slightly as compared to the last election. Polling is being continued and a further report will be issued by the Dutch poll before election day.

HOLLAND

	1946 Election	Poll May, 1948
Roman Catholic People's Party	32%	31%
Labor Party (Free Democratic League)	29	28
Anti-Revolutionary Party	13	13
Communist Party Netherlands	10	11
Christian Historical Union	8	8
Liberal Party (Party of Freedom)	6	6
Others	2	4

In Sweden the last national election was held in 1944 and was forecast by the Swedish Gallup Poll in one of the most accurate election predictions in the history of public opinion polling, the average error on all parties being 0.4 per cent.

Comparison of the vote obtained by the Communist Party in 1944 with that shown in the current Swedish Gallup poll shows a loss of ground for the Communists.

SWEDEN

	1944 Election	Poll June, 1948
Social Democrats	46.6%	42.0%
Liberals	12.9	21.7
Conservatives	15.8	14.0
Agrarians	13.7	14.2
Communists	10.3	7.6
Others	0.7	0.5

FOR YOUR FAMILY
from the steel in your car

You're guiding a ton and a half of steel down the road when you drive your family to a picnic.

Your car is made up of many materials but 95 per cent of its weight is steel.

The steel industry's manpower, resources and knowledge are riding with you, helping make the trip safe, quick and comfortable.

To serve you better the steel industry over the years has steadily expanded its plants and greatly improved its products.

That kind of progress has meant . . .

For you — more and better things made of steel;

For steelworkers — more employment at high wages;

For the industry — the ability to turn out record amounts of steel at an average profit on the sales dollar last year of a little more than 6 cents.

President Gallegos Honored at Dinner

By The Associated Press

President Romulo Gallegos of Venezuela was honored last night by President Truman for his efforts to further the ideals of democratic government "founded on individual human dignity and freedom."

The United States Chief Executive awarded his guest from South America the Legion of Merit, degree of chief commander, at a state dinner at the White House a few hours after Gallegos' flight here from Venezuela. Both men will unveil a monument to Simon Bolivar, South American liberator, at Bolivar, Mo., on Monday.

The President read the citation, calling his visitor Venezuela's "greatest modern literateur" and a "strong pillar in the organization of hemispheric solidarity" and then proposed a toast to his guest, whom he commended in the citation for "his forthright championing of the common man."

The visiting executive said he was "very thankful" for the kindnesses shown him by the United States. He spoke in Spanish. An interpreter quoted President Callegos as saying he was "proud to shake the hand of so sincere and simple a man as the President of the United States."

He said it was a great honor "to have been received at the White House."

The medal, he said, was unexpected and he accepted it in the name of his people and in recognition of the great friendship between the two countries.

After dinner the men retired to the Green Room for cigars, coffee and liqueurs while the ladies had their coffee in the Red Room.

The Venezuelan President and his wife spent the night at the White House. They are to move over to the Blair House, reserved for distinguished guests of state, today.

Mrs. George C. Marshall, wife of the Secretary of State, attracted more than usual attention at the dinner. She wore a Chinese dress, the gift of Madam Chiang Kai-shek. She said that Madam Chiang had sent the gown, a light blue brocade, with the suggestion that she wear it at her next visit to the White House.

President Truman will accompany Sr. Gallegos to Bolivar and will accept the statue in a speech which has been billed as an "important pronouncement" on Latin-American relations.

The two Presidents will leave Washington Sunday morning by train, arriving in Bolivar Monday.

Following the Bolivar ceremonies, Gallegos and his party will visit in New York City until July 11, when the group will go to New Orleans en route to Caracas.

Mr. Truman plans to return immediately to Washington, arriving back here Tuesday night.

Cowen, GOP New Deal Enemy, Made Ambassador by Truman

President Truman yesterday emphasized the Administration's break with New Deal elements of the Democratic Party when the White House announced the appointment of Myron Melvin Cowen as Ambassador to Australia.

Cowen, a lifelong Republican, was given a recess appointment, subject to confirmation when Congress reconvenes.

Cowen, a former commissioner of the Court of Claims, has practiced law in Washington and New York since his resignation June 30, 1933, four months after President Roosevelt's first inauguration.

As counsel for the National Retail Dry Goods Association, he soon afterward engaged in a bitter battle with Gen. Hugh S. Johnson and the National Recovery Administration, in which he termed the New Deal NRA "high-handed."

Cowen was born Myron Cohen, in Logan, Iowa, in 1898. In 1926 he was appointed to the Claims Court at the instigation of the late Senator Albert B. Cummins, leader of the so-called "standpat" elements in the Iowa Republican Party. Cummins, a few weeks after, was defeated for reelection by the late Smith Wildman Brookhart, a Progressive Republican.

Cowen received considerable publicity in 1940 when he turned over the use of his home, then at 2930 Woodland drive, to the late Lieut. Gen. William Knudsen, when the latter came to Washington with the Office of Production Management.

Among the valuable furnishings in the home, Kuasen found one too precious to have left in his care. Those were dinner plates with a double "B" enscrolled in blue, given to Disraeli (Lord Beaconsfield) by Queen Victoria on the occasion of the opening of the Suez Canal.

Cowen changed the spelling of his name about three years after resigning from the Court of Appeals. He has specialized in tax laws.

Greenbelt Plans Parade on Fourth

A parade, athletic contest and a fireworks display will feature an Independence Day program to be held in Greenbelt Saturday under sponsorship of the town council.

The parade, featuring several National Guard units, nearby Maryland fire departments and veterans organizations, will open the program at 11 a. m., and will be followed by entertainment features continuing until midnight. The fireworks display is slated for 9:30 p. m. at Braden Field, and will be followed by square dancing. In the event of rain, the program will be held Monday.

823 U. S. Employes Speculated $212 Million In Commodities, House Unit Report Shows

Speculation in commodities by 823 Federal employes in 1946 and 1947 totaled 212 million dollars, the Special House Committee investigating commodity speculation reported yesterday.

The profits on operations of this size, the committee estimated, would amount to between 10 and 20 million dollars.

No names were given in the report. Chairman August M. Andersen (R., Minn.) said all the names had been published in reports by the Commodity Exchange authority, made public early this year.

"A female clerk in the Navy Department," the report said, speculated in 1,785,000 bushels of wheat, 285,000 bushels of corn, 720,000 bushels of oats, 50,000 bushels of rye, 270,000 pounds of lard 1,500,000 pounds of cottonseed oil, 35,500 bales of cotton and 48 carloads of eggs.

"Based upon the actual price paid for these commodities, the value of the contract traded in by this employe, whose salary was about $3300 per annum, was approximately $10,311,990. It is estimated that this employe realized substantial profits."

Again, without revealing names, the committee reviewed the commodity trading of Edwin W. Pauley, former special assistant to the Secretary of the Army; Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, personal physician to President Truman, and others.

However, the report said, "with a few exceptions, the speculating employes were small operators. Some have made a few hundred or a few thousand dollars in commodity trading. A substantial number have lost money."

The report said the committee would continue its investigations.

Colvin Huston

Carl Colvin yesterday was named deputy director of the Farm Credit Administration.

He will be in charge of finance and head of the agency's administrative services. He succeeds J. D. Lawrence, who has accepted presidency of the Columbia (S. C.) Bank for Cooperatives.

Colvin moves up from his post as Deputy Land Bank Commissioner. He will be succeeded in that job by James H. Huston of St. Louis who has taken a year's leave of absence from his present post as vice president of the Federal Land Bank in St. Louis.

Nonpaying Uniforms Bankrupt Bus Line

Tsingtao, China, July 1 (AP).—This city of 800,000 was without public transportation today—the bus company went broke.

The reason: Seventy per cent of the passengers were in uniform and refused to pay fares.

Bus Routing To Be Studied For Parking

A four-man subcommittee was appointed yesterday by the District Traffic Coordinating Committee to study shuttle bus routing in the proposed plan for "fringe" parking for 1350 autos.

P. Y. K. Howat, chairman of the Motor Vehicle Parking Agency, who presented details of the plan to the committee, said he was informed that the subcommittee would seek better routing on the eastern section of the shuttle bus line.

Plans had called for buses to run east on F st. nw. to 8th st., then via D, 6th, C and John Marshall pl. to the Municipal Center parking lot. Members of the committee objected to the number of turns in this route and will attempt today to determine a more suitable course.

Wallace Manager Says KKK Also Meets July 23

New York, July 1 (AP).—Henry Wallace's campaign manager said today two groups will hold national conventions July 23—the New Party and the Ku Klux Klan.

C. B. Baldwin said KKK Grand Dragon Sam Green has sent out half a million copies of a "fiery summons" to a national "klonvocation" atop Stone Mountain, Ga.

The "klonvocation," Baldwin said, is set for the same day the Wallace party begins its national founding convention in Philadelphia.

Baldwin accused Green of selecting the date as "the signal for all-out war against the only political party which really is fighting racial and religious discrimination in America."

Brass for Cooks Called Answer to Better GI Food

New York, July 1 (AP).—George Mardikian, War Department food consultant and San Francisco restaurateur, suggests bigger hats for Army cooks and more rank for mess officers as one method of improving GI food.

Mardikian came home on the liner Saturnia today after a four-month study of food served American troops in United States military areas of Europe. He is going to Washington to report to Gen. Omar Bradley, Chief of Staff.

He said one of his recommendations would be to inculcate more "pride in the accomplishment of serving better food to GI's."

One way to achieve it, he thought, was "bigger hats for the cooks and more rank for them, and also more rank for the officers in charge of the food."

Chicago Paper Strike Settlement Is Rejected

Chicago, July 1 (AP).—Striking AFL printers today rejected a "clarified" proposal advanced by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association for ending a seven-month strike against five daily papers.

In a mass meeting, members of the International Typographical Union approved a counterproposal drawn up by the scale committee, which the union called its "minimum" terms for settling the strike.

Dewey Takes Slap At Foreign Policy

By Edward F. Ryan
Post Reporter

Albany, N. Y., July 1.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today forecast a wide-open campaign fight with the Democrats on both foreign policy and domestic issues.

He told a press conference in his office at the State Capitol that bi-partisan foreign policies have operated only in America's relationship with the United Nations.

He was asked whether he felt the Administration of President Truman had not kept faith with the bi-partisan policy in other fields.

Dewey replied that he would reserve his conclusions for use in the campaign. He made a similar reply to a question about how he feels on domestic issues.

Long Talks With Dulles

The Governor called his press conference after lengthy discussions the day before with John Foster Dulles, his adviser on international affairs.

He announced that Dulles had been invited by the State Department before the Republican convention to be a United States delegate to the meeting of the Assembly of the United Nations in Paris in September. He said he had advised Dulles to accept, since he had served as a delegate at all previous similar meetings.

Dewey said his conference with Dulles was the first chance the two have had in a month to discuss thoroughly the situation elsewhere in the world.

'I Founded Policy'

"I founded the bipartisan foreign policy four years ago to lift our participation in the world organization above partisanship and it has so continued," said Dewey.

"Of course, it has not applied in other fields of foreign affairs, in most of which there has been no consultation at all by the Administration with the Republican leadership.

"The Greek-Turkish policy was conceived and handed to the American people without consultation. The same was true of the Potsdam Conference and all its agreements. The same thing was true of the entire China policy, or lack of one, and many other areas of foreign affairs."

Dewey was asked whether he had a criticism to make of the Greek-Turkish policy.

"On all questions of opinion, I'll express by conclusions when the campaign gets under way." Dewey stated.

Palestine Also

To another question, he replied his remarks about failure to consult the Republican leadership applied to the shifting Administration policy toward Palestine.

On the European Recovery Program, however, Dewey said the plan as enacted had conformed very largely to the views expressed by Republican leaders.

Dewey said that since the convention he has talked with a number of leaders in and out of Congress and will continue to do so. Among the men with whom he has had discussions, he said, were Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R., Mich.), Senate president pro tem and Foreign Affairs Chairman; Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio), head of the Senate Republican Policy Committee; House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, jr. (R., Mass.), and House Majority Leader Charles A. Halleck (R., Ind.). All four had been presidential contenders or possibilities before Dewey got the GOP nomination.

Dewey said there would be many more leadership conferences before the campaign gets under way.

After the conference, Dewey left Albany by automobile to attend West Point funeral services for Col. David Marcus, graduate of the U. S. Military Academy and former Army officer, who was killed while fighting with the Haganah forces in Palestine on June 10.

Marcus was buried in the West Point Cemetery 28 years to the day after he entered the academy as a "plebe." He and Governor Dewey were close friends. After the ceremony the Governor spoke briefly to Mrs. Emma Marcus, widow of the colonel.

Georgia Starts Stampede For Eisenhower

Macon, Ga., July 1 (AP).—A stampede toward Dwight Eisenhower for President developed tonight as hundreds of Georgia Democrats—Talmadge variety—poured into Macon for the State Democratic convention tomorrow.

High sources predicted the assembly of 5000 or more partisans definitely would indorse the former Chief of Staff for the Presidency. They said the convention's choice for a vice presidential running mate would be Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia.

If General Ike makes a new statement positively turning down a Democratic draft, Georgia delegates to the national convention would swing behind Russell for President.

Resolutions to carry out this program were ready for submission. Their adoption was almost a foregone conclusion after top chieftains in the dominant forces of Herman Talmadge gave their nods of approval tonight.

Arvey Sees Possible Eisenhower 'Stampede'

Chicago, July 1 (AP).—Jacob M. Arvey, Chicago Democratic leader, said today that nomination of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for President could "stampede" the party's Philadelphia convention.

Arvey told newsmen that many of the delegates in the Nation "who have declared themselves to be pro-Truman are prepared to jump on the Eisenhower bandwagon."

He said that "Eisenhower is the choice of the people, according to all polls," and that his nomination "could stampede the convention, providing he doesn't withdraw before or during the convention."

Arvey is chairman of the Cook County (Chicago) Democratic Central Committee. He previously had suggested Eisenhower instead of Mr. Truman as the party's 1948 presidential nominee. His predecessor as head of the powerful Chicago organization, Edward J. Kelly, favors Mr. Truman.

O'Mahoney Headquarters Will Be Opened July 10

Headquarters to boost Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming for the Democratic vice presidential nomination will be opened July 10 in the Bellevue-Stacord Hotel, Philadelphia.

John B. Clark, chairman of the Wyoming Democratic Central Committee, will be in charge.

Wyoming, Montana, Nebraska and Alaska Democrats have instructed their delegations to vote for O'Mahoney for second place on the Democratic ticket.

Lucas 'Not Candidate' For Vice Presidency

Havana, Ill., July 1 (AP).—Senator Lucas (D., Ill.) said today he is "not a candidate for Vice President" and "I would not accept it" if the Democratic nomination is offered to him.

Lucas said he has not made up his mind on his choice for the presidential nomination and "won't know" until he arrives in Philadelphia as a convention delegate-at-large.

He declined to comment on reports that the 60-vote Illinois delegation is split on whether to support Mr. Truman, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Justice William O. Douglas or other possibilities.

Warren's View

GOP Likely To Tee Off In September

San Francisco, July 1 (AP).—The Republican presidential campaign probably will get started the first week in September, Gov. Earl Warren, the party's vice presidential nominee, said today.

Arriving by plane on a hurryup trip to resume his duties as Governor, Warren told newsmen at San Francisco municipal airport he thought the campaign would be something like that of four years ago.

He pointed out that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, then and again this year the party presidential nominee, made his first speech September 7.

Warren, looking rested and fit after an all-night plane flight from New York, was greeted by 100 persons, including U. S. Senator William F. Knowland of California, on his retur nto the state after his triumph at Philadelphia.

Warren hastened back ahead of his wife and daughters because an operation hospitalized the State's lieutenant governor, Goodwin J. Knight, at Los Angeles.

O'Dwyer Out To Purge Tammany Hall

New York, July 1 (AP).—Mayor William O'Dwyer declared war on Tammany Hall today.

Tammany Hall is the term used to denote the New York County (Manhattan) Democratic organization. For many years Tammany was the mainspring in New York City politics and often was a power in State and national political doings, but in recent times it hasn't been so potent.

It did, however, support O'Dwyer, a Democrat, in his race for mayor.

O'Dwyer declared today he wanted a new Tammany, composed of leaders who would provide a "decent" political setup in Manhattan. He said the present one was "decrepit."

The mayor last year embarked on what he termed a "purification" campaign, forcing the organization to elect a man chosen by him as Tammany chief, but not until today did he get going in earnest.

What aroused the mayor's ire was a thumping rebuff by the Tammany executive committeee in the choosing of a Democratic nominee for the post of New York County surrogate. The surrogate is a probate judge and the position is a highly important one here, since it often deals with administration of estates and execution of wills involving large sums of money.

Ritaliation Promised

A majority of the Tammany committee voted for General Sessions Judge Francis L. Valente as the nominee for surrogate. O'Dwyer and the Tammany chieftan, Frank J. Sampson, supported City Council President Vincent R. Impellitteri.

The mayor said he would do his best to unseat Tammany members who voted against his man. Also, he set about culling Valente backers from the city payrolls.

Campbell Soup Firm Grants Wage Increase

Camden, N. J., July 1 (AP).—Agreements on a new contract granting a 10 per cent across-the-board wage increase to 10,000 Campbell Soup Co. employes was announced today.

MILK can make your child's eyes shine . . .

JUST CHANGE IT INTO DELICIOUS RENNET DESSERTS

Apricot Surprise Rennet Desserts
½ cup sweetened apricot puree
2 cups milk (not canned)
1 package "Junket" Rennet Powder, vanilla flavor
chocolate sauce
Set out 5 or 6 dessert glasses. Distribute apricot puree amongst them. Make rennet desserts following directions on package—takes only a couple of minutes. Pour mixture at once, while still liquid, over apricot puree in dessert glasses. Do not move until set—about 10 minutes. Then chill. Just before serving, top with a small spoonful of chocolate sauce.

You don't need magic to interest children in MORE milk—only "Junket" Brand Rennet Powder. The rennet enzyme changes milk like magic into creamy, custard-like desserts . . . rennet desserts, even easier to digest than milk itself.

6 delightful flavors

Will Be Nominated on First Ballot and Elected, Truman Tells Press

newspaper column Mrs. Luce had written:

"I think it would be a wonderful thing for a woman to be considered for the vice presidential nominee, and certainly the Democrats can find no woman more able than Mrs. Roosevelt."

Yesterday Mrs. Luce said: "I'm delighted to see Mr. Truman take the advice of the many women who have urged Mrs. Roosevelt for the vice presidential nomination."

Later, Leon Henderson, chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, which favors either Eisenhower or Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas in the presidential nomination, issued this statement:

"Neither President Truman nor the Democratic National Committee have ever hinted that anyone else might dare to run against him.

"There has been constant pressure to prevent the names of other candidates, including the man most clearly favored by the people in all the opinion polls, from being considered by the delegates to the Democrate convention.

"The fight for an open convention has been won despite the opposition of Mr. Truman and his associates."

Mr. Truman also told newsmen:

1. That he had offered the job of Secretary of Labor to Dr. John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, but that he had turned it down. He has not yet appointed a Secretary, he said.

2. He said that Senator J. Howard McGrath (D., R. I.), Democratic National chairman, was correct when he said Mr. Truman would be nominated on the first ballot.

3. He declined to comment on reports he was going to Philadelphia during the convention.

4. He said he certainly did not take seriously talk about a Southern revolt and other troubles.

5. He said he could not comment at this time, when he was asked whether he would call Congress back into special session.

6. When a questioner asked if he would retire as a candidate, he called that a Number 1 foolish question.

7. He said the bill extending the terms of the Atomic Energy Commission had not yet come to his attention. There are still 60 to 65 bills to come in. He promised to comment on them as they were acted upon.

The news conference was one of the largest in months, due to visitors from out-of-town here between conventions.

Street Meters Trail in N. D.

Fargo, N. Dak., July 1 (AP).—An initiated measure to outlaw parking meters, one of the last two doubtful contests in Tuesday's North Dakota primary election, appeared to have been approved today, on the basis of nearly complete unofficial returns.

In the other remaining contest, Treasurer H. W. Swenson, Republican Organizing Committee, was apparently successful in his bid for renomination over Albert Jacobson, Nonpartisan League.

With 2144 of the State's 2269 precincts in, vote on the parking meter ban stood yes 91,494, no 90,180. An early "no" lead had been overcome by late rural returns.

With 1145 precincts in, Swenson led Jacobson 75,626 to 74,190.

Wallace Warner, upset NPL winner of the Attorney General nomination, had a 79,283 to 76,491 lead over Attorney General Nels G. Johnson, ROC, with 2125 precincts in.

Former Representative Usher L. Burnick, NPL, ousted Charles R. Robertson, former Leaguer who campaigned this year under the ROC banner, from the congressional race in one of the election's major reversals.

But Gov. Fred G. Aandahl, ROC standard-bearer, defeated Ervin Schumacher, Drayton farmer and Farmers Union leader, in Schumacher's first major poltical effort. Schumacher wired the Governor his congratulations last night.

Otherwise, the voters also:

POTATO SALAD PATTIES

New way to serve your picnic favorite! And Blue Plate Mayonnaise adds FRESH flavor

¾ cup Blue Plate Mayonnaise
1 tbsp. vinegar
3 cups cooked potatoes
1 cup diced celery
½ cup chopped onion
½ tsp. salt
pepper to taste
1 lb. liverwurst (liver cheese)

Blend Blue Plate Mayonnaise with vinegar, add the sliced potatoes, celery, onion and seasonings. Heap a portion of potato salad on each slice of liverwurst, chill. Pack with waxed paper between each serving for easy transfer to picnic plates. Blue Plate Mayonnaise is seasoned just right — just sweet enough, just tart enough. And always fresh, FRESH. This salad serves 4 generously.

PEACH PINWHEEL TARTS

Easy-to-eat Sweets—and Blue Plate Preserves make them scrumptious

2 cups flour
¼ cup sugar
½ tsp. salt
¼ cup milk
1 egg
Blue Plate Preserves
⅔ cup Blue Plate Margarine

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in Margarine. Beat egg, add milk. Mix with dry ingredients. Turn onto slightly floured board, roll thin. Cut in 3-inch squares, transfer to baking sheet. Slash each corner 1 inch toward center, fold every other corner to center. Place a teaspoonful of Blue Plate Peach Preserves in middle. Bake about 8 min. at 425°F. Makes 18 tarts. (Note: Other Blue Plate Preserves are just as delicious in pinwheels.)

Truman Criticizes, Signs Housing Bill

President Truman yesterday announced he had signed the "so-called housing bill" passed in the last hours of the Congress.

"But," he said, "as a housing bill, it is, as the vice chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Housing truthfully said, practically nothing at all."

The Chief Executive called the measure "a hasty patchwork."

"It was passed by the Congress in the final hours of the session, after the Republican leadership refused to permit the House of Representatives to vote upon the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill. This bill bears no resemblance to the comprehensive program included in the T-E-W bill," he said.

The bill does two things, Mr. Truman said, in explaining his signing:

"First, it increases the funds available for the Government purchase of home mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration, and restores the authority to purchase mortgages guaranteed under the GI Act, which the Congres allowed to lapse in 1947. This is the so-called secondary mortgage market, which is designed to encourage the supply of private credit to home buyers.

"Second, the bill purports to liberalize the Government's authority to insure mortgages for veterans' housing cooperatives.

"But even in these respects the bill is seriously defective. With respect to the secondary mortgage market the bill repeals the present authority of the Government to purchase FHA insured mortgages on rental properties. Thus, it actually eliminates an existing aid to urgently needed rental housing.

"With respect to veterans' housing cooperatives the bill is practically worthless."

Criticism of Measure

He found the following faults with the measure:

"It fails to provide for farm housing or for slum clearance.

"It fails to provide for housing research, for financial assistance to large scale home construction, or for encouraging large-scale production of prefabricated housing.

"It fails completely to aid in meeting our greatest housing need —low-cost rental housing. It makes no provision for publicly-assisted low-rent rousing, or, in fact, any rental housing.

"Constrasted with the T-E-W housing bill this measure was properly labeled as the 'teeny-weeny' housing bill."

Mr. Truman's criticism was quickly answered by Chairman Jesse P. Wolcott (R., Mich.) of the House Banking Committee, author of the bill. Wolcott said that the President's complaint that the act contains no public housing or slum clearance features indicates "the Administration is committed to the same socialistic tendencies we have been fighting since 1935."

Wolcott said the "act is not a complete housing bill" but declared that Senator Allen J. Ellender (D., La.) had blocked Senate action on his House-approved bill which was the same as the T-E-W bill without slum clearance and low-cost housing provisions.

"He has raised the basic question of socialism versus Americanism," Wolcott said. "This will be debated at length during the campaign.

"Mr. Truman will be asked many times to explain why he thinks it desirable to change the American form of government under which we have become the greatest nation on earth.

Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio), one of the coauthors of the T-E-W bill, indicated he will renew his battle in the next Congress for a long-range housing program that includes public housing.

Couple Observes Golden Wedding

The Washington Post

CAKE CUTTING—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Shreve of 1356 S. Carolina ave. se., celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last night. They were feted at a party at Kenneth Nash Post Hall, 224 D st. se. Shreve worked 48 years at the Washington Naval Gun Factory before retiring 10 years ago as a master mechanic.

Court Dismisses Paternity Suit

Cullman, Ala., July 1 (AP).—A Circuit Court judge dismissed today without prejudice a suit by a red-haired divorcee to have Alabama's Gov. James E. Folsom declared her common-law husband.

Judge James H. Crow, jr., withheld, however, a decision in a companion paternity suit seeking to have Folsom named the father of Mrs. Christine Putnam Johnson's 2-year-old son.

The ruling followed a hearing on objections by Attorney Kingman Shelburne to dismissal of the paternity suit. Shelburne, who filed the original suits last March 2 for Mrs. Johnson and her son, argued that dropping of the paternity action would violate the rights of the child.

Tucker Halts Work on Car

health so that we can go back to work."

Tucker said a score of Tucker cars are operating successfully here and in other parts of the country. He added that production lines capable of building up to 1000 cars a day are almost complete.

Tucker issued his statement a day in advance of a scheduled court hearing on the SEC's request for authority to examine the corporation's financial and operational records. Tucker had been waging a court fight against the move.

When the SEC first announced its investigation, a spokesman for the commission said they were interested in learning details on the way the corporation's books are set up.

The corporation's annual report showed that as of April 30, the company had received from the sale of franchises to dealers and distributors $6,123,050 in cash and $4,696,450 in promissory notes.

It showed that as of September 12, 1947, the company sold 3,490,000 shares of Class A stock from which the company received $15,007,000 exclusive of expenses. The stock sale was registered with the SEC. The company reported a deficit of $5,651,208 for 1947.

The annual report also showed pre-production, research, engineering and development expenses of $2,831,089, administrative expenses of $1,074,359 and "consumer influence expenses" of $749,469.

The SEC at a hearing in Washington May 28 charged that the Tucker's registration statement, supplemental prospectus and 1947 anpual report "contained untrue statements of material fact."

Tucker took over the 170 million dollar Dodge-Chicago war plant on a lease last year, to manufacture a radically new rear-engine motorcar. If left unhampered, he said recently, the corporation could be producing 400 to 500 cars a day by fall.

Fiery Cross Set Before Home of Negro Candidate

Macon, Ga., July 1 (AP).—Larkin Marshall, Negro candidate for United States Senator from Georgia on the Henry Wallace ticket, said today a 10-ft. fiery cross was set ablaze in his front yard last night.

Marshall said he and his family knew nothing about it until a next-door neighbor called them. The newspaper publisher put out the flames with a fire extinguisher.

He said the cross was built of heavy sections of wood bolted together and wrapped in burlap bagging. It had been soaked in gasoline.

There was no trace of the person or persons who placed and lighted it.

Shakespeare Plays Basis of Libel Suit

family who was buried at Stratford-on-Avon."

A painted-out coat of arms in the Ashbourne portrait, changes in facial structure and other differences were revealed by the X-ray, Barrell claimed.

Dawson in his letter said, "The various cults of unorthodoxy in regard to this question of authorship—Baconians, Oxfordians, Derbians, and the rest — are strangely persistent, but I submit they all stem from an attitude of mind compounded of a love for the mysterious and sensational and a dislike for the established and orthodox . . .

"Unfortunately these people cannot be dismissed as ignoramuses, because often they are intelligent and even learned men. But I have never known a Baconian or Oxfordian who was really trained in the scholarly investigation of literary or bibliographical problems of Shakespeare's time.

"All of them approach the subject fully convinced of this or that 'truth' and close their minds to any evidence on the other side. Indeed they are quite incapable of weighing evidence.

"What is really amusing is the spectacle of the Oxfordians sneering at the Baconians as a lot of ignorant cranks . . .

"On the other side, there is such a mass of perfectly clear evidence —both that neither Bacon nor the Earl of Oxford could have written the plays and that Shakespeare did —that anyone who will examine it will forget about the heresies. But then, of course, the heretics say exactly the same, and there is no use arguing with them."

Controversy as to authorship of the works of Shakespeare is an old one, with priority going to those who urge Francis Bacon as the author. This theory attracted a number of believers in the nineteenth century.

In the twentieth century similar claims have been made for the earls of Rutland, Derby and Oxford, each attracting a school of supporters.

Prof. George Lyman Kittredge, a famous Harvard student of Shakespeare, once sat through a dinner at which a Baconian "proved" that Bacon was Shakespeare by showing how certain language appearing in Bacon's writings also appeared in Shakspeare's. Kittredge thereupon used the same method to "prove" that Shakespeare had written the dinner menu.

Policy of U. S. Aids China Reds, Lattimore Says

Baltimore, July 1 (AP).—Neither Russian nor American ideas can totally exclude the other from Asia, Owen Lattimore, director of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations, declared last night.

Lattimore said the United States should shift from a policy of trying to exclude Russian ideas to a policy of competition—or trying to "help more people in Asia to get what they want than Russia can."

Speaking at the first of a series of summer lectures at Johns Hopkins University, he described Asia as a "market place in which the traffic in ideas is very brisk." He said Secretary of State Marshall's original proposals for a Chinese policy "would have been more practical and would have cost less than the policies finally forced on him by Congress."

"Plans for successful competition against Russia can be shouted down in favor of a policy that sounds tougher but would be less effective," he asserted, with the result that present "American policy in China is steadily increasing the influence of the Communists."

Hungarian Priests Taken

Budapest, Hungary, July 1 (AP).—The Interior Ministry announced today that political police have arrested four Roman Catholic priests, including the secretary of Catholic Action, for "inciting against democracy."

Truman Reverses Comptroller on Postal Clerk Pay

President Truman agreed with Congress yesterday that scores of postal clerks who volunteered to help the Army distribute mail during the war can keep extra pay of $100 to $1000.

He signed a bill reversing the Comptroller General, who ruled the clerks were not entitled to the money and asked for refunds.

The Comptroller General held the clerks were not on military duty all the time, and therefore should not get full credit toward automatic pay increases in the postal service.

Military duty for the clerks is classed as time spent in the postal service, whereas civilian duty with the Army is not.

The clerks were first assigned as civilians to the Army Signal Corps. They were trained, then put on military status, and sent all over the world to distribute wartime mail.

Will Asks Separate Burial for Widow

The will of William Aubrey Simpson, retired milk dealer, 81, who died June 25, disclosed yesterday that his wife doesn't desire to be buried in the same mausoleum with him.

Simpson left an estate of more than $300,000, and his wife, who was Mrs. Ellen T. Cochrane when he married her at the age of 75, will get the income from the bulk of it for life, according to District Court papers.

But a provision of Mr. Simpson's will said his wife "has expressed the desire to be buried alongside her first husband."

She was Simpson's second wife. His first wife bore him six sons and four daughters. The second wife had four children by a prior marriage. All are provided for in the will.

Under terms of the testament, various charitable institutions will get bequests. They are as follows: $5000 to the Little Sisters of the Poor; $5000 to Providence Hospital; $1000 each to St. Ann's Infant Asylum, St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum, St. Joseph's Home and School, the German Orphan Asylum, and St. Mary's Catholic Church in Newport, Md.

Most of the estate is placed in a trust fund, to support the widow. She also gets $5000 in insurance policies and the choice of the family homes in Florida or here at 4869 Colorado ave. nw. for life.

Upon her death the estate will be distributed among Mr. Simpson's children.

Outright bequests of $2500 each were made to Mrs. Simpson's four children by a prior marriage.

Man Gets 5 Years For Slaying Wife After Lipstick Row

George A. Austin, 25, of 1340 7th st. nw., was sentenced yesterday to serve 5 to 15 years imprisonment for the death of his wife.

Justice Edward M. Curran of District Court imposed the sentence after Austin, who was originally indicted for first-degree murder, was allowed to plead guilty to manslaughter.

The deceased, Virginia A. Austin, was shot fatally last December when her husband returned to their apartment at 1340 7th st. nw. Austin called police, admitted the shooting, but claimed it was the result of a scuffle over a gun. He said his wife threatened to shoot him when she saw lipstick on his cheek. He claimed he got the stain when his sister kissed him goodnight.

Navy Veteran to Run Against Marcantonio

New York, July 1 (AP).—John Ellis, 35-year-old Navy veteran, was selected today by Republican Party officials to oppose Vito Marcantonio in New York's Eighteenth Congressional District.

Marcontonio, American Labor Party, now represents the upper east side district.

Democratic leaders recently named Assemblyman John P. Morrissey as their organization candidate in the district.

Thomas J. Curran, New York County Republican chairman, said Harold Burton, 60, will be organization choice for Congress in the Twenty-second Congressional District, now represented by Adam Clayton Powell, jr., American Labor Party Democrat.

2 Kansas City Vote Fraud Figures Freed

Kansas City, July 1 (AP).—Two Kansas City vote fraud defendants were freed of conspiracy charges today when United States District Judge Richard M. Duncan sustained a defense motion for acquittal on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

The defendants were A. A. (Jack) Williams, former Jackson County Deputy Coroner, and William H. Costello, a Kansas City attorney.

Girl, 13, Accidentally Shot to Death by Sister in Beach Cabin

Deale, Md., July 1 (AP).—Jacqueline Spindle, 13, was killed in her bed today when a rifle held by her sister fired accidentally, police said.

Officer James Moreland said the girl, lying on the top bed of a double bunk, was shot by 14-year-old Dorothy Mae Spindle in the sisters' bedroom at a cabin their father was building near Deale Beach.

Moreland said Jacqueline was the daughter of James Spindle, a carpenter, who formerly lived in Washington and who had previously come from Tappahannock, Va. The girls' mother, Mrs. Sally Spindle, also had lived in Washington.

County Medical Examiner John M. Claffy issued a verdict of accidental death.

He said Dorothy had arisen early to get her father's breakfast and returning to the bedroom started to move her brother's .22-caliber, bolt-action rifle from its place against the wall into another room. A bullet in the chamber then discharged, Dr. Claffy said.

Naval Gun Factory Employes Retire Under New Act

Seven Naval Gun Factory employes, who have served the Government for a total of over 297 years, retired on June 30 under the new Federal Retirement Act.

The act, signed by the President in February of this year permits employes with 30 years or more of service to retire at the age of 55.

Retiring Gun Factory personnel are:

Henry Adlung, machinist, 43 years, 3324 South Dakota ave. ne.; Robert H. Baddy laborer, 30 years, 436 3d st. ne.; Dominick J. Dugan, tool engineer, 47 years, 807 Melville ave., Baltimore, Md.; Calvin A. Freyman, machinist, 43 years, 1422 Michigan ave. ne.; Orrin A. Kitchen, machinist, 44 years, 5225 42d pl., Hyattsville, Md.; John E. Roland, engineering material and equipment inspector, 48 years, 1908 Q st., se., and Elmo Springman, machinist, 43 years, 618 A st. ne.

Commodity Prices Still Rise, BLS Says

Wholesale commodity prices, as measured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, rose to a new post war high in the week ended June 26.

The bureau reported yesterday that its index of 900 commodities reached 166.7 per cent of the 1926 average of 100.

Park Prowler Is Questioned

This theory was later dispelled when it was found the child had been raped.

The only apparent progress made toward solution of the crime is in the establishment of a motive. Police had nothing to work on until tests Wednesday showed that the 11-year-old child had been raped.

Christopher J. Murphy, deputy coroner, reported yesterday that he had examined five weapons taken from suspects but that none of them bore blood marks.

With more than 100 persons already questioned in various degrees, police are continuing to search for a man seen at 14th st. and Park rd. nw. with a bloody face and wearing a blood-stained shirt between 4:30 and 5 p. m. Sunday. The slaying is believed to have occurred during that period.

Boy Also Sought

Authorities are also seeking a boy about 14 years old reported seen in the vicinity of 17th st., and Colorado ave. nw., around the same time. The lad, it was said, wore blood-splattered clothing.

While these moves were being made, Carol was buried yesterday in Mount Olivet Cemetery following prayers at her home, 1635 Webster st. nw., and requiem mass at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart.

Fellow pupils from Sacred Heart Academy lined the steps of the church as the coffin was brought in. The girls were dressed in white, the boys in dark suits. Approximately 800 persons in all assisted at the mass, which was said by the Rev. Paul Repetti, assistant pastor of the Shrine of the Sacred Heart.

"Carol has now joined the long list of virgin martyrs to be found in the pages of history . . ." Father Repetti said in part. ". . . on her tombstone should be written 'Carol, virgin and martyr, June 27, 1948.'"

The child's mother broke down and sobbed as the small casket was lowered into the grave.

British Food Cut By Dock Strike

London, July 1 (U.P.).—The Food Ministry announced today that Britain's meat ration next week will consist of 10 cents worth of fresh meat, and 10 cents worth of canned corned beef because the dock strike held up supplies.

In the following week, the ministry said, it should be possible to return to the normal ration of 17 cents' worth of fresh meat and 3 cents worth of canned corned beef.

The 17-day wildcat strike ended yesterday after King George VI declared an emergency, and troops were sent to unload idle ships.

Irked French Postmen Balk at Tax Notices

Toulon, France, July 1 (U.P.).—Postmen declared a boycott against the government today, and it was all right with the residents of Toulon.

The mail carriers announced that ordinary letters and parcels would be delivered as usual.

Jury Indicts Gypsy In $3000 'Blessing'

A gypsy woman, now a fugitive, was indicted by the District grand jury yesterday for gypping a gullible housewife of almost $3000 by the oft-repeated money-blessing trick.

Indicted for grand larceny was Doney Stevens, alias Madame Golden, 28, of no fixed address. Her victim was Mrs. Dorothy Wyche, 48, of 719 Euclid st. nw.

This was among 66 indictments returned by the April grand jury in its final session.

A carnal knowledge charge—which carries the death penalty if te jury so recommends—was placed against John J. Cook, 19, a soldier of Fort McNair here. According to the charge, he raped and beat a 15-year-old McKinley Tech High School coed on the campus on May 29.

Mrs. Annie W. Smith, 29, was indicted for illegally accepting Servicemen's Dependents Allowance checks for more than $450 on the claim that she was married legally to a soldier.

Alberto Garcia, 47, of New York City, was charged with lifting seven cameras from the automobiles of tourists in downtown Washington. The loot was valued at more than $1000.

Girl and Father

2 Halls Held For Jury in Police Death

Thomas Hall, 55, and his 20-year-old daughter, Janie, were held for action of a Prince Georges County grand jury yesterday in the slaying of Policeman Charles L. Caldwell in Deanwood Park, Md., June 12.

The two were bound over to the grand jury and placed in custody of Sheriff T. Ward Martin after they waived a scheduled preliminary hearing before Judge Alan Bowie in Hyattsville Police Court. Both are charged with the murder of Policeman Caldwell as well as felonious assault on Policeman Wallace Baker, who was seriously wounded while assisting Caldwell in an attempt to arrest Hall and his daughter.

The regular jury is not scheduled to convene until next October, and county officials would not indicate whether they were considering calling a special session to act on the Caldwell slaying.

Meanwhile, county officials reported yesterday a relief fund for the slain policeman's wife and family was boosted by about $2500 by proceeds of a benefit show held Wednesday night at the Cheverly Theater under sponsorship of the Sidney Lust theater chain.

With returns from the movie, the total raised in the relief drive is now above $15,000, according to the fund committee.

U. S. Fleet at Nice

Nice, France, July 1 (U.P.).—An American fleet headed by the aircraft carrier Coral Sea and the battleship Missouri anchored in French Riviera ports on courtesy calls yesterday.

Nudist Book Placed Under Tentative Ban

Prosecution officials yesterday put a "tentative ban," backed up by the threat of court action, against sellers in Washington of the July issue of Modern Sunbathing and Hygient, a nudist magazine.

The warning was made jointly by Assistant Corporation Counsel Clark F. King and Assistant United States Attorney J. Warren Wilson, in charge of their offices' prosecution in Municipal Court.

They made their ruling that the periodical was "indecent" after a newstand dealer came in to complain that a policeman had threatened to arrest him if he persisted in selling the issue. The newsdealer merely asked what his rights were.

Wilson added that he had been told that the original complaint against the magazine came from a Southeast minister who said that boys 14 years of age had been seen reading the magazine from cover to cover.

The publication contains 35 pictures, mostly of nude women, with children and partly clad men forming a distinct minority.

The women are pictured wading in streams, posing near waterfalls, poking daintily at shrubbery and leaning against trees, rocks and fence rails.

There is a text included which describes the values of sunshine and "naturism."

Under the District Code and under police regulations, whoever sells or gives away any obscene, lewd, or indecent book, pamphlet or photograph is punishable by a fine of $500 or a year in jail.

King said, "I am not telling the dealers what to do. I'm not actually banning the magazine. It's just that in my opinion, these magazines are illegal and I have warned this man who wanted to know about it that I am prepared to prosecute if he keeps on selling the thing."

Wisconsin Court Upholds Veil on Rape Victim

Madison, Wis., July 1 (AP).—The Wisconsin Supreme Court today upheld constitutionality of a State law which prohibits newspapers from identifying the victim of a rape case.

The high court reversed Superior Court Judge Roy Proctor in a case against William T. Evjue, editor of the Madison Capital Times. Evjue had been charged with violating the law in connection with stories concerning the murder of Carl L. Carlson, Superior, University of Wisconsin student, and an attack on a relative November 14, 1947.

Proctor held the law unconstitutional and dismissed the charge.

The decision, written by Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry, said that "if from the facts published, a reader of ordinary intelligence and experience may readily distinguish the female involved from all other persons, then her identity is published. In this case the name was published."

New York Opens Largest Airfield

New York, July 1 (AP).—The world's largest airfield, the 4900-acre New York International Airport at Idlewild, Queens, was opened officially today.

Then, for 13 hours, field personnel waited for a plane to take off or arrive. Finally, a small plane landed and taxied to the administration building. Out stepped Port of New York Authority Commissioner Donald M. Lowe.

"I'd like to see some business coming in," he said.

Packinghouse Workers Oppose Wallace Party

Chicago, July 1 (AP).—CIO Packinghouse Workers today disapproved Henry Wallace's third party.

A convention of the UPW indorsed the CIO's policy on political action. The Political Action Committee favors staying "within the framework of the two major parties."

Wallace supporters among the UPW delegates voiced bitter protest to the action.

French Tire Workers To End Strike Today

Clermont-Ferrand, France, July 1 (U.P.).—Striking workers at the Michelin tire plants agreed today to return to work Friday, officials of the General Labor Confederation announced tonight.

2 New Area Polio Cases Are Reported By Health Bureau Making 1948 Total of 3

Two new Greater Washington area polio cases were reported yesterday by the District Health Department, bringing this year's area total to three—all outside the District.

The patients were a 30-year-old woman of the 2800 block of S. Abingdon st., Arlington, admitted to Gallinger Hospital Wednesday, and a 9½-year-old boy of the 400 block of Masonic View rd., Alexandria, admitted to Children's Hospital the same day, health officials said.

In addition to the three Greater Washington cases, one nonresident patient, a 2-year-old Chincoteague, Va., girl, is being treated in a local hospital.

Last year at this time, they revealed, three District and four out-of-town cases had been reported. This year's lower rate indicated that the Washington area is not following the national trend toward higher incidence in 1948, they said.

The United States Public Health Service reported that the national total of 2007 cases (as of June 26) was well ahead of the 1529 total for the comparable period in 1946, when the second worst national polio record was reported.

Three States—Texas, North Carolina and California—accounted for 64 per cent of the national total.

(USPHS officials said they had no figures for the comparable period of 1916, the worst polio year on record.)

Adm. Spruance, Fifth Fleet Chief In War, Retires

Admiral Raymond A. Spruance, commander of the famed Fifth Fleet in most of the Pacific battles during the war, retired yesterday.

He will receive his $13,000 salary for life in accordance with a recent law giving such benefits to him, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Army Chief of Staff, and Gen. Carl Spaatz, retired USAF Chief of staff. Under prior legislation, all of the five-star generals of the Army and fleet admirals, as well as Gen. A. A. Vandegrift, former Marine head, get full pay for life.

Spruance, who alternated with Fleet Admiral William Halsey in command of the Pacific Fleet combat forces, was president of the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., until recently.

In explaining some misconceptions of Spruance's retirement, the Navy said that separate legislation approved in the closing days of Congress, will continue two other four-star admirals on active duty until July 1, 1950, when they reach the statutory age. They are Admiral Thomas C. Kirkaid, commander of the Eastern Sea Frontier and Admiral Henry K. Hewitt, now on assignment with the U. N. military staff committee. When they retire it will be with three quarters pay.

'$100 Call Girl'

U. S. Envoy's Kin Accused In Vice Trial

New York, July 1 (U.P.).—The beautiful, black-haired daughter of an American career diplomat, charged with being a $100-a-night call girl, today heard police officers testify about wire-tapped telephone conversations in which she allegedly made her "dates."

Mrs. Choremi

Mrs. Nancy Fletcher Choremi, 27, daughter of the U. S. consul general at Casablanca, was nervous and pale while two officers described three telephone calls between Mrs. Choremi and Madeline Blavier, who was said to have introduced her to strange men.

After the end of today's session in Women's Court, Mrs. Choremi, whose husband now is in Egypt, said the testimony of the police was "all lies."

"But what can I do?" she asked. "They've given all this testimony about me and it's ruining me."

Hearing Set On Rent Hikes

Public hearing of requests for 10 to 20 per cent rent hikes for 748 apartments at Brentwood Village, Northeast Washington housing development, will be held July 15, the District Rent Control Administration announced yesterday.

Examiner William F. Mansfield will hear the case beginning at 9:30 a. m. in the District Building board room, William A. Richardson, rent control secretary-docket clerk said.

Units of the development are located in the 1300 and 1400 blocks of Saratoga ave.; 1200 block of Brentwood rd.; 2500 block of 14th st.; and the 1400 blocks of Montana ave. and Downing st., he said.

Richardson also announced that owners have asked a 15 per cent hike for 118 units of Delano Apartments, 2745 29th st. nw. Present monthly rents range from $52.50 for three rooms and bath, to $175 for eight rooms and bath, he said.

Aliens 7 Years in U. S. Protected by New Act

President Truman signed a bill yesterday giving the Attorney General authority to suspend deportation proceedings against aliens who have lived in the United States seven years or more and have good records.

Previously deportation could be suspended only if the alien had a family in this country.

The new law also repeals an old section which prohibited suspension of deportation in the case of aliens who were not admissible because of racial origin, such as Japanese or Koreans. The Attorney General can now allow them to stay if they have maintained a good record for seven years.

Fact Finding Board Ends Pilot Hearings

A three-man emergency fact-finding board appointed by President Truman concluded hearings yesterday in the disputes between National Air Lines and its pilots, clerks and mechanics.

The board, headed by Grady Lewis, Washington attorney, was given until July 30 to report to Mr. Truman.

Line Seeks Interstate Fare Boost

The Alexandria, Barcroft & Washington Transit Co. yesterday asked the Virginia State Corporation Commission for a hearing on a request for increased fares on intrastate rides.

The increase asked are of the same ratio as those sought from the Interstate Commerce Commission in April for interstate service, accoding to AB&W General Manager Beverly C. May.

The request, first for intrastate rate increases in the company's 27-year history, was made necessary by an operating deficit which May said will reach $23,500 a month unless increases are granted.

Specifically, the intrastate revision would:

1. Raise present 5-cent fares to 10 cents cash or two tokens for 15 cents.
2. Raise present 10-cent fares to 15 cents cash or a token and 5 cents cash.
3. Eliminate use of the 12½-cent token in the 15, 20 and 25 cent cash-fare zones. Cash fare in these zones would remain the same.

Fourth Layer of Atoms Reported Above Earth

Pasadena, Calif., July 1 (AP).—Discovery of a fourth layer of excited atoms above the earth, which reflects radio waves and possibly stands as an obstacle to interplanetary rocket flight, was reported to the American Astronomical Society today by Dr. Donald H. Menzel, Harvard University astronomer.

The depth of the new layer is not known, but it has a temperature of 1800 degrees Fahrenheit, Dr. Menzel said. This is enough to make iron red hot.

Dr. Byrd Admitted To Practice Dentistry

The name of Dr. Grace E. Byrd of 1911 11th st. nw. was inadvertently omitted from a list of local residents who had been granted licenses to practice dentistry here, as published yesterday in The Washington Post. The error is regretted.

Floods Threaten Fukui Homeless

Fukui, Japan, July 1 (AP).—Rain pelted funeral pyres in quake and fire ridden Fukui today, adding to the misery of the thousands of homeless.

Concern was felt for refugees roaming the area as more heavy rains were forecast. River levees were smashed by Monday's temblor and danger from floods was acute.

Fresh earth shocks were felt, too, but they were of a minor nature.

(The Japanese national police in Tokyo announced the "official" earthquake casualties in Fukui and Ishikawa Provinces stood at 3254 dead and 7521 injured. These figures varied but little from tolls reported by United States Eighth Army from police and relief workers lists.)

Bodies of 325 victims, including 22 children, were recovered this morning.

It appeared unlikely any completely accurate total of the dead would be known. Families are scattered and fire consumed many bodies after the earthquake laid waste the town of 80,000.

Through With Politics, Says Clare Booth Luce

Ridgefield, Conn., July 1 (AP).—Clare Booth Luce said today that she was through with politics, both as a possible officeholder and campaigner.

The former Connecticut congresswoman and writer told the Bridgeport Post in an interview that she wants to return to her first love—writing.

Mrs. Luce plans to attend the national Democratic convention as a newspaper writer. That, she said, will be her last personal contact with politics.

ANG Chief Is Labor Advisor To Hoffman

San Francisco, July 1 (AP).—Harry Martin, president of the American Newspaper Guild, was appointed today as special labor adviser in the European Recovery Program. His home is in Memphis, Tenn.

The appointment was made by ERP Director Paul G. Hoffman, and was announced after approval by the American Newspaper Guild convention here.

Hoffman in a wire to the convention requested the Guild grant Martin a leave of absence to serve as labor adviser to W. Averill Harriman, ERP's overseas ambassador.

Hoffman explained Martin will represent the U. S. Government in its relations with the trade union movement of the 16 nations participating in the ERP. He will also act as a labor information specialist, channeling news of the program to the United States.

Earlier the guild went on record opposing a third party in the 1948 Presidential race. The resolution was passed unanimously by the 300 delegates at the fifteenth annual convention.

Coast Longshoremen's 'Peace Offer' Rejected

San Francisco, July 1 (AP).—Pacific Coast waterfront employers today turned down a new "peace offer" by CIO longshoremen, which the union claimed would have "settled the waterfront dispute without a strike or lockout."

The union offered to continue present hiring hall practices pending a court test of their legality, and to submit all other issues to arbitration.

Shipowners, however, replied that "it might take a year or more for the courts to decide the issue."

Postlude

Fine Music By Lutheran Hour Chorus

By Paul Hume

The Lutheran Hour Chorus, known for their singing on a weekly radio program, gave a sacred concert last night in the First Congregational Church.

Twenty-two men are capable of just so much variety in either repertoire or tone. The gentlemen from St. Louis provided every bit possible in the tonal department. Their soft work was of ethereal quality, and of such genuine hushed sound as to make their full voice more imposing than expected from a small group. Their enunciation and sense of pitch also were excellent.

That they could hold to proper intonation was at times amazing, for outside competition took the form of fire sirens and bells on one side, and lusty singing of gospel hymns on the other.

Under the restrictions of available literature for men's chorus the Concordia Seminarians did well to present as much Bach as they did. The latter portion of their program would benefit by excursions into the great modern scores for male voices.

Senate Unit Warns To Save Gasoline

By the United Press

A Senate subcommittee yesterday flatly contradicted an Administration expert's prediction that there won't be any gasoline shortage this summer, and warned motorist to slow down or else.

The else, according to Senator Clyde M. Reed (R., Kans.), may be a law requiring every automobile to have a mechanical gadget (called a governor) which automatically limits its speed to a maximum of 45 miles an hour.

Reed heads a Senate Commerce Subcommittee which has been investigating the petroleum shortage.

Reporting on the group's findings, he said that "extreme care by consumers" will be necessary or there will be gasoline shortages in part of New England and the North Central States this summer, and a scarcity of kerosene and heating oil next winter.

That was a quite different picture from that painted earlier this week by Max Ball, head of the Interior Department's oil and gas division. Ball said that no really serious shortages of gasoline or heating oil are expected this year, although "spot" shortages of a few days duration might develop in some areas because of distribution problems.

The committee urged the Governors of all States to appoint emergency fuel coordinators, and asked that they also "give serious consideration" to lowering legal speed limits.

"Gasoline consumption at 60 miles an hour is nearly twice that at 40 miles an hour," it said.

In a special warning to the oil industry, the subcommittee hoped that "further price increases (can) be avoided . . . so that any Federal action looking toward price controls . . . may be avoided."

Gen. Craig Becomes Army Inspector General

Maj. Gen. Louis A. Craig became the new Inspector General of the Army yesterday.

He was sworn in to succeed Maj. Gen. Ira T. Wyche who will retire soon. Craig, a veteran of both World Wars, comes from an Army family. He was born at West Point, and is a brother of the late Gen. Malin Craig, former chief of staff.

Assessors 'Graduated'

Ninety-five Maryland assessing officers were prepared yesterday to start putting science into property appraisal. They were awarded certificates signifying that they had completed the four-day building appraisal course at the University of Maryland.

Subsidized Gifts

The 4-cent-a-pound reduction in postage rates for relief parcels to 10 European nations and China provides an opportunity for private gifts to be of material help in supplementing the Marshall Plan. Such aid organizations as CARE have done a magnificent job of delivering standardized packages from overseas depots and still constitute perhaps the most efficient channel for American generosity. High parcel post rates have made it difficult, however, for those persons who wish to make up individual parcels of food or clothing for relay to friends or relatives abroad. The 4-cent cut in rates will apply to food, clothing, medical and household supplies and is being underwritten by a subsidy from the Economic Cooperation Administration under the Foreign Assistance Act. The subsidy is well directed. It will enable Americans to know the satisfaction of helping the world's needy through personalized gifts, and for the recipients abroad it will mean a ray of light in the grim life of patched clothing and subsistence rations.

Venezuelan Guest

For the second time in little more than a year Washington is host to the Chief Executive of a Latin-American nation. The visit of President Miguel Aleman of Mexico in May of 1947 helped cement even more firmly the already solid bonds of friendship between Mexico and the United States. Though it has been less lavishly advertised, the current tour of President Romulo Gallegos of Venezuela is of equal importance as a symbol of the good will that exists between the United States and this important Latin neighbor.

As a distinguished educator and man of letters, Dr. Gallegos would be a welcome guest at any time. His visit now is the more meaningful because of what he represents. Dr. Gallegos, whose reputation as a novelist is firmly established throughout the Spanish-speaking world, is the first popularly elected President in Venezuela's history. He comes as the head of a government which has made great strides toward social reform and genuine liberal constitutional democracy in the wake of a long period of despotism and oppression. His accession to office in February of this year was an important event to the United States as well as to Venezuela, for a popular regime dedicated to orderly change is the most effective answer to the current of discord that is overflowing in other parts of Latin America.

The high point of President Gallegos' 12-day visit will be the unveiling of a statue of Simon Bolivar at the little town of Bolivar, Mo., on Monday. The statue is the gift of Venezuela to the people of the United States, and it will be accepted by President Truman. The dedication of this monument to the liberator of six Latin-American countries on July 5 is especially significant because it marks both Venezuela's 137th anniversary as a sovereign nation and our own celebration of Independence Day. Our two nations thus have a birthday in common, and the joint commemoration affords an opportunity to review the obligations of each for promoting in practical terms the freedoms which are the core of independence.

Bolsheviks In White

The apostasy of two large Klaverns naturally stirred the indignation of Dr. Samuel Green, head of the Association of Georgia Ku Klux Klans. These two groups seceded from Dr. Green's leadership the other day, setting up a rival organization with Alton E. Pate as Grand Wizard. Undoubtedly this was a very rebellious and annoying act. Still, Dr. Green shouldn't have called the renegades "Bolsheviks." The term is not only a harsh one as applied to a group listing among its aims opposition to the "teachings of the Communist Party which embody advocacy of sexual equality under the guise of social equality," but it also leaves the doctor's own group, the "original Southern Klans, Inc.," in a thoroughly anomalous position.

Presumably Dr. Green is just as opposed to the advocacy of sexual equality as Mr. Pate. Presumably, too, he considers his own collection of Klaverns the one bona fide, official, regular, dominant and majority element of the Klan in Georgia. Yet by inference at least he has allowed his faction to be known as the Mensheviki, or minority, group, while conferring on the opposition the accolade Bolsheviki, which means, of course, majority. The terminology has the additional misfortune, moreover, of imparting to the whole Klan movement a slightly alien flavor, as though the burning of fiery crosses by men ashamed to show their faces and the beating of men and women because of their racial or religious backgrounds were somehow faintly un-American.

Tug-of-War

The President has reaffirmed Secretary Marshall's determination to stay in the tug-of-war over Berlin till Soviet Russia quits. In the meantime more and more cargo planes are being diverted to the task of feeding the Berliners. To be sure, the western powers cannot scuttle under the kind of pressure that Soviet Russia is exerting. This newspaper does not believe in scuttle. It believes, however, in statesmanship. In this context that means that the appropriate moment must be seized for trying to adjust a situation that has become, and will stay, intolerable as the result of two circumstances: The breakup of four-power control in Germany and the western powers' decision to recognize this breakup by embarking on a new policy based upon the partition of Germany. The appropriate moment would be the relaxation of the Soviet pincers. The western powers cannot have it both ways. It has been said that the greatest error in statesmanship is to cling to the carcass of a dead policy. How much more erroneous is it to stick to a dead policy after having evolved a new policy in its place! Logic demanded a pledge that the six-power pact setting up a rival government at Frankfurt should provide for the liquidation by agreement of the western position in Berlin.

If this was necessary because of the recognition of partition, it was surely necessary when the new currency was launched. Berlin was specifically excluded from the area of circulation of the new currency, yet, within a week, as a result of Soviet countermeasures against old currency dumping in its zone, Berlin was included. We couldn't have old currency dumping in our Berlin sector, just as the Russians couldn't in theirs! In the absence of Russo-western agreement (which was the reason in the first place for the new government and the new currency) this means the condemnation of Berlin to currency chaos. We see no point in this gratuitous plucking of the Tartar's beard—when so many real issues divide Russia and the western powers and when the whole attention of western diplomacy should be concerned with putting the Marshall Plan in operation.

It is said here by way of justifying the tug-of-war in Berlin that any retreat would be disastrous to the western powers' position in western Germany. This is a way of making the flesh creep. The fact is that the tug-of-war is bringing the job of reviving western Germany to a standstill. And the news from Frankfurt does not in the slightest bear out the justification advanced in Washington. "If the western powers depart," says Mr. Jack Raymond, wiring to the New York Times, "the Russian squeeze on Berlin will have the possible effect of strengthening the projected western government, German observers say. A western withdrawal for the sake of the Germans would make a most favorable impression, and German leaders who have proved themselves in the struggle for Berlin could join the western government, these sources add."

This newspaper, as our readers know, was not in favor of the establishment of a separate government. It felt that such a government would be inimical to our Europe policy based on the Marshall Plan. It would have been wiser, instead, to bring the Germans into the Organization of European Economic Cooperation in Paris, a move that would be a vital step in both recovery in Europe and a German reorientation toward a new Europa. This integration, this reorientation, is, of course, possible through the medium to be set up by the six powers. Yet everything seems to be halted in this direction while the tug-of-war in Berlin is being fought, and Mr. Averell Harriman appears to be getting short shrift from the occupation authorities while they concentrate on Berlin. And all because of this insistence upon flogging an old carcass that one of these days will have to be buried, anyway.

All this trouble-making illustrates once again the duality in the administration of our interests in and about Germany. This is predominantly military; the Army is the responsible agency in Germany. Where the Army leaves off and the State Department begins has always been a mystery. In the present case Secretary Marshall seems to have been cast in the role of a sort of backstop for the military. It is, of course, State's fault. General Eisenhower was always against administration by the Army, but could get neither Secretary Byrnes nor Secretary Marshall to take over the responsibility. Much of the present trouble is due to this duality. If State had been in charge, clearly the issue would not have gotten out of focus, and the Germany policy would have been fitted into our new Europe policy. The diversion of attention, time, money and energy from Paris to Berlin is disheartening. In the meantime we would invoke the story of the Duke of Wellington who, reviewing his troops before the Battle of Waterloo, said "I do hope they frighten the enemy for, egad, they frighten me." We hope our military and our planes (not to mention Tito) will frighten the Russians quickly, for they sure frighten us—in diplomacy.

Recruiting Teachers

The miserly rate of pay offered schoolteachers creates a tough recruiting problem for school boards in most communities. In Washington, the problem is aggravated to the point of insolubility by the discrepancies between teachers' salaries and the salaries available to Federal Government employes. The District Board of Education is altogether justified in the letter of protest it has addressed to Congress respecting the "serious discrimination" of the Federal pay-raise bill which left out of account all District employes, teachers included.

As things stand now, District schoolteachers who are college graduates with baccalaureate degrees will receive starting salaries lower than those accorded Grade 4 Government clerks who, generally, have no more than a high school education. Graduates of Wilson or Minor Teachers Colleges can get professional jobs in the Government far more attractive from the standpoint of remuneration than the Board of Education can offer them; their chances of advancement will be far superior, and they will not be denied sick leave by a Board of District Commissioners so niggardly that it chooses to require teachers who are ill to pay for substitutes out of their own pockets.

Small wonder that the demand for teachers in the District schools far exceeds the supply. Qualified applicants for teaching jobs are pathetically few in number. And the consequence, of course, is that the Board of Education is forced, in view of the growing school population, to employ as teachers applicants who are not qualified at all. Thus the penalty for the parsimony of Congress is visited directly upon the children of Washington—and indirectly upon the whole community which serves as the seat of the national Government.

EC Pact

The terms of the agreement that the Marshall countries are about to sign as a condition qualifying them for aid under the recovery program are of so general a character and so hedged about by conditions and reservations as to lay at rest any fears that the beneficiary governments might have their freedom of action circumscribed. Indeed, the highly important financial section pledging the government to use its best endeavors "to stabilize its currency, establish or maintain a valid rate of exchange, balance its governmental budget, create or maintain internal financial stability, and generally restore or maintain confidence in its monetary system" is merely a declaration of the laudable objectives outlined in the Economic Cooperation Act.

This vagueness and the lack of specific commitments may be unavoidable in view of the tremendous complexities of the financial and exchange problems confronting the Europeans. At the same time no time should be lost in tackling these questions with a view to developing a positive program of action. There is, for instance, the question how to prevent ECA dollars, advanced to Britain from being diverted to other countries under the arrangement by which so-called sterling area countries drew on their pooled gold and dollar reserves held by the British government. Moreover, the British have a bewilderingly intricate and varied system of exchange arrangements with countries outside the sterling area that affect world trading relationships.

British efforts to restore universal sterling convertibility led to disaster last year. The question is, then, whether the continued existence of the sterling area with its elaborate system of controls is a help or a hindrance to expansion of world trade—an institution to be tolerated or scrapped. In any case, as defenders of the system admit, its survival depends in final analysis upon a solvent Britain.

In view of prevailing uncertainties, it would doubtless be premature for the ECA authorities to try to deal now with the subject of sterling exchange rates. British devaluation of sterling may eventually have to be resorted to, if, when a buyer's market returns, other means of stimulating the outflow of exports prove inadequate. If or when that time comes, the machinery of the Monetary Fund will be called into action. But as the Fund's managing director, Camille Gutt, recently warned, "if you just make a devaluation in a country suffering from inflation (as Britain is), you just add new inflation to existing inflation. First, you have to stop generating inflation; you have to correct budgetary policy, credit policy, investment policy. After that is done, then you will examine whether the par value of the currency is an obstacle to the flow of goods outside that country."

Meantime, it will be the responsibility of ECA officials to see that American funds are being wisely used by the British government and to insist that that government keep the Monetary Fund and the World Bank as well as ECA fully informed with economic and financial data of Britain's situation. There has hitherto been too much secrecy.

Forced Retirement

Instructions from the White House happily have reversed a cruel trick that was being played on a small but significant group of Federal employes. Workers who entered the Government service with the understanding that they could complete the 15 years necessary to qualify for a half-pension were being compelled by several agencies to quit before the end of the period because they had arrived at the age of 70. Aside from the waste of talent, this practice amounted to a breach of moral contract that cast a shadow over all Government service. The inconsistency was highlighted by the fact that the Civil Service Commission recently issued a booklet assuring employes that they need not retire until they had had 15 years of service.

Now, in response to various protests, including letters printed on this page, the President is reported to be preparing an executive order definitely establishing the right of employes to remain on the job past the age of 70 in order to qualify for pensions. Certainly this is only elementary justice to persons who entered the Government in good faith; moreover, some means ought to be devised for rehiring physically fit workers arbitrarily laid off in this fashion. The purpose of the Federal Retirement Act is to give old-age security, not insecurity. The aim of the retirement system would have been completely defeated by a practice which doomed some employes to the gloomy vista of poverty or existence as public charges.

Arms To Israel

I strongly object to the conclusion drawn by The Washington Post Poll on June 28 that "Six of Ten in District Oppose Arms Shipments to Israel," my objection based upon the facts cited by the pollers themselves. According to the poll, over three fifths of the Washington area residents interviewed either knew little or nothing about the issues involved, or could not take definite sides because "the rights of the matter are so confused" (according to the persons surveyed).

Instead of using the 40 per cent who could have had a legitimate opinion as their 100 per cent sample, the pollers have made a grave statistical error by including all the persons interviewed whether capable of giving an opinion or not. Hence, their conclusions are inaccurate.

For example, in answer to the question, "Are you for or against shipping arms to Israel?" only 20 per cent had no opinion, as compared with the 60 per cent of those interviewed who were either confused or ignorant of the facts. Similarly, in answer to the question "Are you for or against lending money to Israel?" only 22 per cent had no opinion.

It is shameful that The Washington Post, which takes great pride in its wide reputation for reporting the truth, should create false impressions among its readers by such misrepresentation. I should like to see the poll issue the accurate results of this survey in the near future.

EDITH J. LA PORTE.
Washington.

As the poll made clear, the group which knows little or nothing about the conflict between the Jews and the Arabs in Palestine is a large one and represents a considerable number of people in the Washington area. Therefore we feel that it would distort the findings to ignore this group entirely in reporting the results, by exaggerating the extent to which public opinion is crystallized on this issue. For the administrator or legislator, it is important to know not only what proportion of people with opinions favor one side or another of a question, but also what proportion feel strongly enough about it to take sides at all.

Miss La Porte implies that, had we presented findings based only on the group with definite opinions, the results would have indicated greater support for Israel. This is true, but the proportions who opposed shipment of arms and loans would also have jumped up proportionately. For example, eliminating the "no opinion" group, we find 20 per cent approving shipment of arms; 6 per cent giving qualified approval, and 74 per cent opposed to shipping arms. Contrast this with the reported 16 per cent favoring, 5 per cent giving qualified approval, 50 per cent opposed, and 20 per cent with no opinion.

When the proportion with no opinion is reported, it is always possible to recalculate the results showing the proportions of those with opinions who take one side or another. It is not possible, however, to do this if nothing is known about the size of the "no opinion" group.

JANE A. SHEPHERD,
Director, Washington Post Poll.

Hurried Civilization

The most lasting impression I get from my share of the press is, that we don't know where we're going but we're on our way. And it's at a pace that's giving heart disease, sudden world-ender for the too strenuous and over-indulgent, a fast spreading margin over other ways of final exit.

It seems too bad that in the interest of social betterment and cheaper government, it can't be made more discriminating for, as Abe Martin said of rain, it "falls on the just and the just awful," though the latter, unless extra awful, get less space in the obituaries. To whatever extent the extra strain and drain of the income tax and other legalized rackets for revenue may be involved, we have what solace there may be in seeing that the "just awful" have no exemption, as our benevolent Uncle demands that they come across with a goodly share of their loot or else. But many of us think he'd be doing his poor relatives a much better turn by collecting his rents.

We are told that the Chinese are much freer from heart blocks because of their greater restriction to a meatless diet that, as fuel for the flame of life, leaves fewer clinkers lying around to become suddenly and completely obstructive. But their way of doing things, including the business of eliminating one another over political differences, is quite shy on speed, while with us, all is hurry and rush, mostly in grabs for an overload of things that increase our worries and leave the winner as bare as the loser in the final black-out.

Grace has long been short on philosophers, but some one of her old-timers who did their best work in their old age, left a remark to the effect that the man in a hurry is a laggard in civilization.

WALTER N. CAMPBELL.

471 Votes

Only 471 votes cast in D. C. Democratic primary . . . great!

With some people clamoring as loud as they are for home rule and suffrage for the poor benighted District of Columbia, this magnificent showing of interest in a local election should provide fodder for even the mildest anti-home rule advocate.

I won't even bother to estimate percentages; they'd be too ridiculous to mention. The outstanding indication is simply that a city as large as Washington that can muster but 471 citizens to the polls not only deserves no home rule, but no streetcars! Back to the square-wheeled oxcarts for Washington where the citizens muff their only chance to express any indication of their choice for President.

The average was less than 100 voters per polling place. The whole thing was so subnormal, that the D. C. delegation should be thrown out of the convention because they probably fail to represent scarcely the sum total of all their relatives.

It is a poor note for a young voter, voting for the first time, to see the general lethargy and apathy toward voting. I am thankful that I will soon have an opportunity to vote in another State where the citizens turn out and make an expression of their opinion.

A city that makes such a poor showing at the polls as the District did yesterday should never have the chance to elect a mayor from a number of voters which total less than half the members of one of Dean Kyser's history classes at George Washington University.

ARCH HARRISON, Jr.

Rabbit Punch

I was extremely disgusted at the very poor taste exhibited by Mr. Frank Fay of Harvey fame, Sunday night following Catholic University's production, Jennie Kissed Me.

I feel the entire cast deserved greater recognition than the patronizing criticism offered by Mr. Fay. And his final remarks, which contrived to drag in communism by its heels, was obviously a grandstand play.

Strikes And Communism

The elementary principle of communism is that any employer is a natural enemy of the worker. The fundamental attitude is: "Never relax in presenting workers' demands to an employer who is always an exploiter and do not fear that the employer will be ruined financially: sooner or later his plant will naturally be taken over by the Government, and this is what we want, since there we can exercise the dictatorship of the proletariat over the Government."

Every strike, however innocent, is an infringement of the "social contract," which is the foundation of our economic order. The baker who works because he knows that the miner will mine coal; the miner works because he knows that the textile worker will produce cloth and so on. The disrupture of any link in the Nation's production hurts the whole Nation. "Who does not work, shall not eat," proclaimed Apostle Paul, and now these great words are repeated in Stalin's constitution. A striker is an idle person who does not deserve to be given food.

Not only is any strike a menace to the society, it is a contagious disease and the background of communism in action. The law must fight against any strike on principle, but the Government cannot have sufficient strength unless it is backed by the society. One may say this is an appeal for enslaving the labor class. Not in the least, it is a plea for class cooperation as distinct from the Communist dogma of eternal class hatred.

There is no labor dispute that cannot be settled by amicable bargaining provided both sides are inspired by the idea of mutual cooperation and good will. The Taft-Hartley Labor Act was in the right direction as trying to protect the interests of the society and the "social contract," but a law alone cannot solve the problem of eliminating strikes since the chief condition for that is the faith and the conviction of both sides that mutual cooperation and confidence are far superior to the class hatred inspired Communist attitude with its strike menace as the chief weapon.

The constant repetitions and successive waves of strikes undermine all interest in investment and cripple the economic development of any nation. P. HAENSEL.
Hinsdale, Ill.

Courtesy To Foreigners

In your June 26 issue you published a letter from one P. J., a lady who had been grossly insulted by another woman in a market.

This letter would better have been addressed to Mary Haworth. Miss Haworth, in her inimitable style, would have told Mrs. P. J. that she was suffering from a bad case of self-pity and a serious superiority complex, as demonstrated by her entirely irrelevant reference to the complement of servants which she had in prewar Europe and by the rather officious manner in which she had pointed out to the other woman—who had only one purchase—that she was ahead of her in line.

She might have pointed out to her also, that she was letting her emotions get the better of her when she assumed that the other woman was a "native Washingtonian," or was typical of other Americans, and when she suggested that perhaps we have too much freedom of speech. What would she do? Haul the other woman into court? That would do absolutely no good except perhaps to satisfy a spirit of revenge. She might also have pointed out that Americans have been known to be insulted in other countries, sometimes without justification.

Of course, the other woman's vile and scurrilous language cannot be defended, but the best thing to do with vermin of that sort is to ignore them, or pity them.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Tougher Party Line

AT THE same time that Marshal Tito in distant Yugoslavia is feeling the crackdown of the Kremlin, the Communist lipe in the United States is being drastically tightened. Evidence is mounting that the uneasy zealots who guide the party's destiny in this country are about to launch a new crusade for a "mass base" for their strange organization.

The repercussions of this new drive are being felt particularly within Henry Wallace's third party. The determination of the Communists to take over lock, stock and barrel has produced a series of shocks that may split the loose confederation so violently that Wallace will be compelled to withdraw.

The contest between the Communists and the sincere non-Communist liberals who have followed Wallace is coming to the surface in the selection of delegates for the third-party convention scheduled to open in Philadelphia on July 23. The Communist leadership is determined to control that convention as part of the plan to lasso the Wallace following within the corral of the party itself.

In Colorado and Wisconsin the contest has become so bitter and the Communist tactics so arbitary that the non-Communists are pulling out in disgust. There even may be an open break on the floor of the convention over the rights of contesting delegations.

HOW THIS growing rift may affect Wallace is a matter of wide speculation among his own followers. The party-line operators close to him have been concerned for some time over his growing restiveness. Now and then the Communist Daily Worker has gently spanked him for his insistence on being a "progressive capitalist." The Wallace heresies — called "deviationism" in the gobbledygook of the party line — have caused increasing distress among the faithful.

As for Wallace, he has succeeded until very recently in closing his eyes to the Communist influence within his own organization. In spite of earnest pleading from members of his own family, he has refused to say anything because, as he put it, he refused to participate in "Red-baiting."

This was true even when the Communist Party officially claimed credit for the third-party movement. But the other day in his New England tour, Wallace spoke out. The correspondent of the Baltimore Sun reported him as follows:

"I'm never going to say anything in the nature of Red-baiting; but I must say this: If the Communists would run a ticket of their own this year we might lose 100,000 votes, but we would gain three million.

"I know if the Communists really wanted to help us, they would run their own ticket this year and let us get those extra votes."

This is "deviationism" of the rankest sort. It is a frank statement that the Communist Party is a deadly millstone for even a third-party candidate to carry. A day later Wallace issued still another official denial that he would withdraw. At Portland, Me., he said he would stay in the race, no matter whether a Democrat or a Republican seemed about to win.

STUDENTS of Communist tactics in this country have carefully analyzed a "critical review" of the party's work in the United Auto Workers' Union, which was published in the Daily Worker. With its harsh criticism of the pro-Communist faction that at one time played a major part in the UAW, this seems to set a new and sterner line.

Specifically, the "critical review" denounces party tacticians for relying on "our temporary allies" instead of building mass strength with the rank and file of the union. It casts on the scrap heap the Leonard-Addes-Thomas faction, pointing out in the party gobbledygook that the line now is to join "new principled combinations formed on issues."

The article expresses disappointment that a "general strike" in the auto industry was averted. It denounces Walter Reuther, who ousted the Communist faction in UAW, for the contract with General Motors, which has been so widely praised for its sane approach to the whole problem of labor-management bargaining.

Apparently, the line is to be drawn far more strictly from here on out. Any "temporary allies" are likely to find themselves under attack.

Just as Tito was attacked for showing the mildest kind of independence and failing to carry out orders to the letter, so American fellow travelers will be told off for the slightest "deviationism." In a free society this would seem to be the best possible way to alienate all but the little core of zealots.

Anti-Dewey

With the selection of Dewey as the Republican nominee for the Presidency, the virtual election of President Truman is assured. The working people of the United States will definitely not support Dewey. The Midwestern States do not care for Dewey, as shown by his defeats at the hands of Harold Stassen. The alert American realizes that if Dewey were elected, a recession would be inevitable, and the bread lines of Hoover's administration will make most Americans stop to think before marking their X.

Matter Of Fact

The Tito Trouble

THE SCHISM between Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia and Generalissimo Stalin's Soviet empire is so vitally important, so far-reaching in effect that months will pass before this historic event can be seen in the round. As an episode in the strange history of the Kremlin, the wisest authorities here place Tito's declaration of independence on a par with the great purge trials of the thirties. The purge trials made the informer, the slave labor camp and the lash into permanent features of Soviet society. This new event is also expected to play a fundamental part in shaping the Soviet future.

There is general agreement as to how the event occurred. Essentially, what has happened is the direct result of a crucial difference between the Yugoslav Communist Party and all other Communist Parties except, perhaps, those in China and the Far East.

In the Western world, the Communist Parties are subsidized by the Kremlin and ruthlessly controlled both by this power of cash and by the party "apparatus," which is operated by the MVD. In eastern Europe, except in Yugoslavia, the ruling Communist cliques do not need subsidies, since they have national revenues to draw on. But they are largely headed by men like President Boleslaw Bierut of Poland, whose previous employment is believed to have been the Polish desk at MVD headquarters in Moscow. Furthermore, these Moscow Communists, who marched into the countries they now rule in the tracks of the Red army, brought the MVD "apparatus" with them.

In Yugoslavia, on the other hand, the leaders are men like Tito himself, Kardelj and the chief of the local secret police, Rankovitch. These men fought through the war as partisan leaders, brought their own Yugoslav Communist Party into being in wartime, and forged their own "apparatus" of control from local materials.

BUT THE Kremlin always insists upon absolutism. It was an offense against all the rules that Tito should control his own large army. It was a downright outrage that he should control his own secret police. The Kremlin therefore sought to infiltrate Yugoslavia and to install a Moscow-managed "apparatus" of control.

Tito and his group, with unexpected independence, strongly resisted these attempts to infiltrate their country. Their resistance was successful, and this terrible but triumphant heresy led to the present open break. Such is the great break's real background.

A reconciliation is always possible, but is considered extremely unlikely. For the Kremlin cannot make deals with heretics as it could with Hitler; nothing less than abject submission can be accepted from professing members of the faith. Yet Tito is able to maintain himself in Yugoslavia, short of open aggression by the Red army; and from past experience Tito must know that if he now abjectly submits he will have a short life.

As to the great break's meaning, this is on several levels. First and most obvious, the Soviet empire has at least temporarily lost Tito's 36 Yugoslav divisions, together with a strategic position of incalculable importance.

Second, and almost more significant, the great break confirms the basic theory of American foreign policy, as set forth in George Kennan's "Mr. X" article and elsewhere. This theory has been that the combined pressure of western competition and internally divisive forces would eventually loosen the Kremlin's grip on eastern Europe.

THUS it has been hoped eventually to reduce the overweening Soviet strength, which is the cause of the precarious balance in world relations. Until this week, this theory was theory only, without any solid proof. What has happened provides the needed proof of the theory, and provides this proof from two to five years earlier than anyone had hoped or expected.

Third, and perhaps yet more significant, Tito has brusquely attacked the myth of the Kremlin's unchallenged authority. This myth is the very heart and center of the Soviet imperial system. One of the shrewder experts has been reminded by the great break of the old story of the silly old king and the innocent little child. It will be remembered that his majesty had been sold nonexistent clothes, which were supposed to be superbly beautiful, but visible only to honest men. Not liking to admit that they could not see what honest men were supposed to see, everyone praised to the skies the garments that were not there. And then a little child, observing the king's elderly nakedness, shrilly inquired, "Why does the king have no clothes on?" After that everyone lynched the cheats who had sold the imaginary clothes.

Tito has done the equivalent. If the Kremlin's authority is not sacred and inviolable, then Soviet power must rest exclusively on the Red army and the secret police. Empire builders who have to maintain their sway by naked force are always in trouble. And this is especially true of the Soviets, since Russian soldiers and secret policemen commonly succumb to the temptations which exist, even in eastern Europe, as soon as they are sent out of the Soviet homeland's airless, repressive atmosphere. Altogether, it is not surprising that the new development has caused open jubilation here.

New Police Inspectors Sworn In . . .

14th Precinct Is Launched In Anacostia

Washington's newest police precinct, the 14th with headquarters at Davis School, 44th and H sts. se., went into operation yesterday. The new precinct is only temporarily housed at the school until a permanent station can be built.

Also yesterday, 106 policemen received promotions at ceremonies at the Municipal Center.

Det. Lieut. Hoyle D. Secrest administered the oaths. Maj. Robert J. Barrett spoke briefly, citing as major accomplishments during his first year as superintendent a new crime reporting system and an increase in policemen available to fight crime. He promised to seek a further increase. Barrett was marking his first anniversary as police chief and 23d anniversary as a D. C. policeman.

In addition a new rotating inspection plan was announced, under which Inspector Lloyd Kelly, acting as assistant superintendent, be in charge of the department from 5 p. m. to 1 a. m. during July. Inspector Oscar J. Letterman will be in charge from 1 to 9 a. m. Inspector Clarence H. Lutz was assigned as Kelly's assistant during the latter's first month.

French Assembly Unit Adopts ERP Accord

Paris, July 1 (NYHT).—The foreign affairs committee of the French National Assembly adopted today by a vote of 22 against 11 Communists and 2 abstentions the Franco-American accord for economic cooperation under the European Recovery Program.

Legislative approval of the Marshall Plan document is expected to follow the committee approval. The National Assembly is to debate American aid tomorrow. The cabinet already has approved the bilateral accord.

June Just About Average, Except for Excess Rainfall

Mayhap there's nothing so rare as a day in June. But there was nothing rare about the month of June.

So the weatherwoman advises. "The past month was like the man in the street—just average, broke no records," we were told.

June saw (besides the nuptials of many maidens) 17 days of rain coupled with sunshine every day but one, the 16th.

The rain added up to 5.44 soggy inches, which is a little less than last year's June, lots more than the dry June of '46, and 1.31 inches over normal.

The sun shone 248 hours and 26 minutes, 56 per cent of the total possible sunshine hours. And the mercury boiled up to 90 or better (or rather worse) on six days, with the peak of 95 at 4:55 p. m. on the 24th.

All raindrops counted, the first six months this year have been wetted down with 27.29 inches of rain, about 5.62 inches over normal.

Coolest day last month was the 17th, when the mercury slipped to 52 at 5:45 a. m. Average daily maximum temperature was 84, average minimum was 64, with a mean of 74.

The prevailing wind was southwest, and it reached a velocity peak of 35 miles an hour on the 24th.

Arlington Starts Study Of New Taxes

Arlington County has launched a detailed study to pave the way for new taxes planned on businesses, professions, and auto licenses.

Authorized by the County Board, the survey will request the help of two University of Virginia research agencies. It is expected to cost about $400, with half the cost borne by the county, half by the university.

The power to tax business and auto licenses, normally reserved only for cities, was granted Arlington County County during the last session of the Virgin Legislature.

Aiding Arlington in determining the scope and content of the taxes will be the university's bureau of population and economic research and the bureau of public administration.

Arlington County Board Chairman Daniel A. Dugan said yesterday the survey is expected to be completed by September 15.

It may thus be possible, he added, for the new taxes to be levied beginning January 1.

Truman to Try Voluntary Plan To Obtain Steel

President Truman decided yesterday to try out a plan of voluntary cooperation to get the steel needed for the armed forces.

The new draft law gives him power to order the allocation of steel for military needs.

"I am, of course, prepared to exercise this authority should it prove necessary," the President wrote Secretary of Commerce Sawyer.

He ordered Sawyer to draw up a voluntary allocation program, seeking the cooperation of industry.

Mr. Truman said the Secretary of Defense had advised him the armed services will require only 2 per cent of the anticipated steel production this fiscal year, and less than 3 per cent in the next.

"It should be possible to insure fulfillment of a program of this limited size through the voluntary cooperation of industry," he said.

Suit Charges Steal In Hit Song 'Manana'

Los Angeles, July 1 (AP).—Singer-composer Peggy Lee and her guitar-playing husband, Dave Barbour, were sued today for one million dollars on the charge that they stole the hit song, "Manana."

Sterling Serwin, San Francisco songwriter, and Harry K. McClintock of Los Angeles filed the action in Federal Court, alleging that "Manana" is a note-for-note infringement of their song, "Midnight on the Ocean."

U. S. Pilot Killed

Frankfurt, Germany, July 1 (U.P.).—An American pilot was killed today when his P-47 Thunderbolt fighter crashed in flames at Passau on the Russian zone border during a routine flight.

Broad Civic Interest Urged By Mrs. Meyer at Vassar

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 1 (Spl.).—The 118 graduates of Vassar College were urged today to give at least part-time service to their communities and to interest themselves in community groups other than their own.

The speaker was Mrs. Eugene Meyer, wife of the chairman of the board of The Washington Post.

Appealing for optimism as to the future, she told the graduates during the college's eighty-fourth commencement ceremony the opportunities of today are "so vast they stagger the imagination."

She added she felt they were entering into an era in which America "through sheer moral force can determine the course of history," and she cited in support of optimism the advances, social as well as technological, made since her own graduation in 1907 from Barnard.

Many Fields Open

Today, she said, in addition to the technological advances and to the fact nearly every economic field is open to women graduates, the American people from bottom to top of the economic ladder have developed "a vaster social discernment, a higher concept of social duty and a magnified sense of communal responsibility."

Our democracy, she declared, has matured, and "we have learned that we are one people with common interests and a common destiny." She cautioned the graduates to "let no one tell you that we Americans are materialists with no moral standards and values."

Pointing to "the high promise of our country's future" and declaring the changes to be wrought in the atomic age may soon make our present social structure obsolete, she left her optimistic theme briefly to warn the graduates to heed some "danger signals" on the horizon.

One of these dangers, which she called "a threat to western civilization," is the revival of the "anti-quated war between religion and science."

"A metaphysical revival, a dangerous flight from reason, is well under way," she declared, "accompanied by a concerted attack on science and secular thinking as responsible for the spiritual sickness of the western world."

The scholars, she said, who uphold "this dualistic, antidemocratic concept" of life—who seek to widen "the gap between the world of ideas and the world of reality"—want to settle "all our problems by a return to the Hundred Great Books, to the absolutes of Thomas Aquinas or to the orthodoxies of the Reformation."

Attempts Called Defeatist

"Let us not forget," she warned the graduates, "that the people who wish to impose an absolute idea also wish to impose its logical consequence, an absolute government. Such attempts to imitate the thinking of more static eras are defeatist."

She urged the graduates not to fear reason "nor its humane, factual and analytical approach to life's problems," but to guard against "the overwhelming power of ignorance, passion and intolerance" and "the uncritical acceptance of outworn traditions and the sacrifice of the future to outmoded ways of thinking."

Mrs. Meyer, the principal speaker at the ceremony at which Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding, president of the college, conferred degrees on Vassar's last class to complete their studies under a three-year wartime speedup program, told the graduates every citizen must make a personal contribution to "nation-wide endeavors" to better American life.

"We must engage in public service not only because we are all needed, but because it is exciting and interesting and challenging whether you begin by ringing doorbells in a political precinct or by taking an interest in community welfare."

N. Y. Bans Pinballs

New York, July 1 (AP).—Local laws banning pinball machines and doubling the city's business tax were signed yesterday by Mayor William O'Dwyer after public hearings.

New Look Makes Raccoon Thrive, Become 'Nuisance'

The Fish and Wildlife Service yesterday growled about the "new look" and the "vagaries of women's fashions" and wished someone would buy a raccoon coat.

Frank R. Ashbrook, research scientist for the service, said that because people don't buy raccoon coats any more, the animals are overrunning farms and becoming a "serious nuisance."

Ashbrook is frantically researching to find some new use for coon skins. The trouble, he explained, is that raccoon coats, craze of the 1920's, are too bulky for the "new look." Women won't have them.

As a result, the market price for coon skins has fallen so low that trappers won't bother. Meanwhile, "enormous quantities" of raccoon skins are piled up in warehouses, and live raccoons have multiplied to a record population.

Price Cuts of 3 to 15% Ordered by Schuman

Paris, July 1 (NYHT).—Premier Robert Schuman announced cuts tonight ranging from 3 to 15 per cent in the prices of French manufactured goods in current household or agricultural use.

These cuts, he pointed out in a broadcast were agreed to by manufacturers after the recent reductions in the prices of certain raw materials and semi-manufactured goods decreed by the government.

The future of Schuman's government generally is thought to rest on meeting labor's demand for relief from inflation.

Hard Coal Operators, UMW Fail to Reach Pact

New York, July 1 (AP).—Representatives of hard coal operators and the United Mine Workers adjourned their contract talks tonight without any indication of new developments. They will meet again tomorrow. The current contract expires July 10.

6 Hospitals Study D. C. Procedures For Indigent Care

Officials and staff members of six hospitals to be included for the first time in a contract with the District Health Department for care of the city's indigent yesterday studied the reports and procedures involved.

During a two-and-a-half hour conference in the Health Department conference room at the Municipal Center, Department officials explained the procedures and records currently in use at Emergency, Casualty and Children's Hospitals.

Contracts are now under negotiation for indigent care at George Washington, Georgetown, Providence, Garfield, Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat, and Columbia and for renewal of present agreements with Emergency, Casualty and Children's.

U. S. Rubber Grants 11-Cent Hourly Hike

New York, July 1 (AP).—Signing of a new contract giving 35,000 United States Rubber Co. employes an 11-cent hourly increase was announced tonight.

Regular Jury Indicts 30 Here for Gambling

I st. nw., and Herman G. Brown, 41, of 1036 6th st ne.

In another indictment, Myer Friedburg, 59, of 807 Otis pl. nw., described as proprietor of the Tivoli Food Market, 3400 13th st. nw., and William E. McGee, 38, of 2715 Central ave. ne., a bakery truck driver, were charged with operating a lottery and possession of numbers slips.

Police Quote Denial

Police said Carl F. Krogmann, an undercover man, made numbers plays with Friedburg, who turned them over to McGee. Police quoted Friedburg as denying he took numbers bets, saying he just gave them to McGee. McGee allegedly admitted picking up bets for several months from about a dozen of his 36 bread customers.

Thad Brown, 65, of 1033 7th st. nw., and Lide Owens, sr., 39, of 1710 1st st. nw., both were charged with operating a lottery and possession of numbers slips after police said they made bets in a grocery at the 7th st. address.

A man who was said to have resisted arrest for disorderly conduct, Robert E. Young, 48, of 4920 Nash st. ne., ended up being indicted for assault on an officer and possession of numbers slips. Officer Tarver J. Thomas said Young hit him in the abdomen on June 23 at 48th st. and Deane ave. ne., and that a search later revealed Young had numbers slips.

A hotel night clerk, James T. Sullivan, 35, of 1121 New Hampshire ave. nw., was indicted for operating a lottery and possession of numbers slips after police said a $1 bet was placed with him on June 12 at the hotel, 1723 G st. nw.

Police who entered 1316 22d st. nw. on June 12, in the belief that whisky was being sold without a license, said they found no whisky but that Clarence B. Dandridge, 37, of 1335 12th st. nw., accepted a 25-cent numbers bet. He also was charged with operating a lottery and possession of numbers slips.

Bet Placing Alleged

Ralph A. Frazier, 48, of 3[illegible] Grant st. ne., was named on the same charges after a police undercover man said he made a numbers bet with Frazier at a public garage, 1234 9th st. nw.

Edna Hughes, 42, and Edward Hughes, 25, both of 104 N st. sw., were both indicted for operating a lottery and possession of numbers slips after alleged acceptance of bets at that address during April and May.

Three men were named on similar charges after their arrest April 29 at a grocery at 1526 15th st. nw.; David Lewis, 35, of 219 Upshur st. nw.; Oscar J. Whitfield, 27, of 1513 Church st. nw., and Kenneth W. Lawson. Police described Lawson as a "pickup man."

Robert Williams, 52, of 508 21st st. ne., and Leslie W. Hayes, 27, of the Dunbar Hotel, 15th and U sts. nw., were charged with operating a lottery and possession of lottery slips in a case involving a taxicab.

Police said they had reports that numbers bets were being picked up in a taxicab, and saw Hayes enter a cab March 19 and receive from Williams a wallet containing numbers slips.

Postponed Day Before

In another indictment, the regular grand jury acted on a case that had been postponed in Municipal Court only the day before.

This added to speculation that in an increasing number of gaming cases scheduled for arraignment in Municipal Court, the United States Attorney's office will step in and present the cases directly to the grand jury if there is any fear they may be dismissed in Municipal Court because of a technicality.

This procedure sidesteps Municipal Court, which normally would decide if cases merited court or grand jury action. If a case is somehow "doubtful," it would then be decided in District Court instead.

The arrest in point involves Novella Coghill, 21, of 30 Patterson st. ne., Ell Johnson, 49, and Louise E. Johnson, 43, both of 56 Patterson st. ne., all charged with operating a lottery and possession of lottery slips.

Originally, Novella Coghill was charged only with possession of lottery slips, and her attorney, James K. Hughes, served notice he would challenge this charge on ground that "numbers players" are not subject to court action. The grand jury, by its action, however, also charged her as a numbers operator.

The one case ignored by the grand jury involved Jesse Brock, 59, of 1549 N. Carolina ave. ne., arrested June 18 by Sergt. William McEwen and Officer W. A. Dalrymple, who said Brock had used numbers slips concealed in his socks.

Court Battle Over Pamphlets Fails to Develop

A promised court battle over the right to distribute political pamphlets on the street corners of Washington failed to materialize yesterday.

The charge against Jack Kutner, 41, arrested June 30 for handing out circulars for the "Veterans for Eisenhower" at 13th and F sts. nw., was changed, however, from distributing handbills to causing the streets to be littered. The change was made by the Corporation Counsel's Office in Municipal Court after police admitted that there was no provision here which prevents the distribution of political handbills.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Philip Brophy then was given until Wednesday to prepare the Government's case.

Kutner, who is a union business agent and resides at 1208 Evarts st. ne., was held for an hour before friends posted $5 collateral at the First Precinct stationhouse after his arrest.

Fight With Atheism Called Great Crisis

The great crisis of the present hour is between atheism and Christianity, Dr. Benjamin G. Wilkinson, president emeritus of the Washington Missionary College of Takoma Park, said last night.

Speaking before the biennial camp meeting of Seventh-Day Adventists at Takoma Park, Dr. Wilkinson declared the thought behind the present commotion in the world is the clash between two ideologies, the love of God and the love of power.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Elder Robert L. Boothby will speak on the power of Christ. He is the pastor of Capitol Memorial Church, D. C.

The Sabbath at Sunday services will be highlighted by the Voice of Prophecy radio program, whose personnel is arriving Saturday morning from Los Angeles on a tour of the United States. The speaker will be H. M. S. Richards.

The Hearst Newspapers have warned the politicians to

FROM A LETTER BY

William Randolph Hearst

PUBLISHED IN THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS, MAY 13, 1935

"I think too much planned economy, which is a high sounding phrase for Government interference, is disastrous — more disastrous than none.

"It is false to assume that American industry, if unhampered by planned interference, cannot maintain its supremacy over the rest of the world as it has in the past.

"Other countries now have machinery, of course. But we can have and do have and will have better machinery.

"We have better brains—in industry, not in politics. Our best brains shun politics.

"American business is not perfect, but it is more nearly perfect than American politics.

"Gambling in business, as in anything else, should be barred by law. Honesty should be enforced in business as in every activity.

"In other respects let the American business man conduct his own business in his own successful and beneficial manner. He has more ability than the politicians, and more morality, too."

W. R. Hearst

Today, as in 1935, American industry and consequently American prosperity is being hampered by ignorant political interference.

The Hearst Newspapers have warned again and again that government domination of business can be nothing less than disastrous to business and damaging to the country. And these papers continue to believe that if the American businessman is allowed to do his job in his own capable and creditable way, we will have the most united and satisfied and prosperous community in the world.

VA Bars GI Courses in Mixology, Dancing, And Charm, but Permits Flight Training

The Veterans' Administration yesterday eliminated dancing, photography, bartending and mixology (drink mixing) as G. I. training courses for which it will foot the bill.

The agency also clamped the lid on free courses in personality development, entertainment, instrumental and vocal music, public speaking, sports and athletics.

The agency said it will continue paying the customary subsistence allowances to veterans already enrolled, until they complete their courses.

It will authorize no new enrollments under the G. I. bill in courses that are avocational or recreational.

Flight training, which has been much criticized along with the other courses as time wasting, still is on the approved list. However, glider training and various flying courses that are clearly for amusement rather than education are no longer authorized.

Instructions were sent to all VA offices on the basis of the VA 1949 Appropriation Act.

This specifies that no part of the appropriation may be used to pay for any courses started after June 30, 1948, which the VA regards as avocational or recreational.

The measure specifies that flight training and related aviation courses which a veteran takes in connection with his present or contemplated business shall not be considered avocational or recreational.

Aside from the courses already listed, VA said these other courses will be regarded as avocational or recreational:

1. Any single-subject courses which are not a part of a general education or training program leading to an educational or employment objective.

2. All other courses which VA regional office managers know are used frequently in their areas for avocational or recreational purposes.

An elementary flight or private pilot course or a commercial pilot course elected by a veteran at an approved school will not be considered avocational or recreational if the veteran submits the following to the regional office before entering training:

1. Complete justification that such a course is in connection with his present or contemplated business or occupation.

Church Lack Of Appeal to Youth Is Hit

Richmond, Va., July 1 (AP).—A committee of the Southern Presbyterian Church in a report on "Restudy of Religious Education" today criticized deficiencies in the church's program.

The report, released here by Dr. Edward D. Grant, executive secretary of the Presbyterian Committee of Religious Education and Publication, charged that:

The Presbyterian Church in the United States is predominantly an urban church in an area where the population is predominantly rural;

It has less than its share of the young in a land with more than its share of young people;

Its membership is composed of people in relatively comfortable circumstances although it is surrounded by persons who are relatively underprivileged;

It is composed predominantly of females in a population where males slightly predominate.

The report, prepared by a 40-member committee that began its study in April, 1944, recommended:

A continuation of church literature that emphasizes and recognizes the church worship services as being an essential school or occasion of religious education;

That persons be selected to give full time to a program for Christian family life, and that expenses of church schools be assumed as a responsibility of the entire congregation and borne by it.

Dr. Johnstone, GW Professor, On Educational Exchange Job

Dr. William C. Johnstone, jr., dean of the School of Government, and political science professor, at George Washington University, yesterday began his new job as director of the Office of Educational Exchange for the State Department.

Johnstone

At 46, Dr. Johnstone is regarded as a specialist on Far Eastern affairs, and last year was credited with "selling" India's constituent assembly on American-type constitutions for the Indian provinces, or states.

He will continue on leave of absence from the university which began two years ago when he was appointed public affairs officer in New Delhi, India.

As successor to Kenneth Holland, who will return to Paris to resume his duties as U. S. adviser on Unesco affairs, Dr. Johnstone will direct the State Department's programs and policies in the fields of educational, scientific and cultural affairs.

Besides international educational exchange programs conducted by the State Department and other Federal agencies, he will direct American libraries and schools abroad, assistance to American-sponsored institutions, and aid to private educational exchange programs.

U. S. Rubber Ups Tires and Tubes

New York, July 1 (AP).—United States Rubber Co. today raised its tire and tubes prices from 5 to 7½ per cent.

The company, first to announce a tire increase, said passenger car tires would be up about 6 per cent, truck tires up 5 per cent and farm tractor tires up 6 to 7½ per cent depending on size. Inner tubes will be 6 per cent higher.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FBI Files Yield Another Corker

By Richard L. Coe

THE PALACE has a corking good semi-fact film in "The Street with No Name."

This picture stems from several files of the FBI. Its title refers to our land's back streets where the young hoodlums of today—the 17-year-olds of the war years—appears to be growing into the gangs which terrorized the law-abiding of a few years ago. But the film makes no attempts to sermonize; this, a rapid-fire, walloping story it leaves up to its audience.

Twentieth Century-Fox, which has taken the lead in these semi-fact films, has now worked out a skilled formula which permits the accepted "entertainment" ingredients to fuse with the documentary style which Hollywood evidently views with distrust. "The House on 92d Street," "Boomerang" and Eagle-Lion's "T-Men" have shown how the law may become intensely engrossing, though at the same time avoid both the self-righteousness of a lecture and the sadism of the gangster films of the questionable past.

It is, in a sense, an awakening to public service that a film like "A Street with No Name" reflects from the Hollywood scene. There is a marked growth between that approach to the excitements of crime and the gangster-glorifiers of the past. While all this sounds on the sententious side, the Spyros Skouras firm has certainly made some steps forward, both in the semi-fact field and in the stressing the futility of crime.

Lloyd Nolan's Inspector Back

Inspector Briggs of the FBI is one of the leading figures, as he was in "The House on 92d Street." Again Lloyd Nolan plays the inspector, whose chore now is to break up a gang of robbers and killers in a small Midwestern city. Richard Widmark, whose similar role in "Kiss of Death" catapoulted him to stardom, is the brainy young leader of the mob, and Mark Stevens steps out of his musical comedy roles to play a Justice Department agent with a forceful conviction.

While there is no reason to outline the story in this review, it is interesting to note that one of the villains of the piece is a civic law enforcement leader. The FBI reports that this venal character has his counterparts in actual cases. In a sense this film is as much an indictment of bad public officials as it is a bitter reflection on the parents of wartime youth who were too occupied to look after their young. Statistics show that the largest proportion of today's criminals are those same youths who a few years ago were in the dominant 17-year-old bracket; gradually the age group is moving up.

The cast plays with hard-hitting skill, a tribute to the men of the J. Edgar Hoover outfit whose patience and courage are so admirable. The pains which it's necessary to take to track down criminals should make the taxpayers give a solemn Selah to where some pennies go.

"The Street with No Name" is good, engrossing film-making.

ART MOONEY, whom thousands call "The Genial Irish Gentleman," will be making his first local date with his orchestra Saturday at Chesapeake Beach Park . . . Name Bands, Inc., is handling the park's band dates this summer and 'pears to be making good . . . Coming up the following weekend will be Ted Weems and his radio folk . . . Yes, there's bus service back to town after the dance folds at one ayem Sunday.

APOLOGIA: You wouldn't believe the mass of folks who've written from distant points or called to correct this reporter on his ill-informed gaffe that the recent Olney run of "The Marquise" was the Coward comedy's first showing in these parts . . . Yes, it played the National 20 years ago, with Florenz Ziegfeld as producer for his wife, Billie Burke . . . Evidently it was a memorable production, for a lot of folks remember where they sat and how striking was the Ziegfeld largesse in the costumes and settings . . . Abject apologies to all concerned.

THE LOUIS-WALCOTT fight pictures, which gave way at Keith's with the arrival of "The Best Years of Our Lives," are back, thus fussing up Keith's schedule, but even though the feature's a long one, evidently "public demand" is the real thing . . . The fight pictures also are on the screen of Sidney Lust's Drive-In on the Beltsville pike, where they'll be shown though next Monday.

WELCOME: Roll out the good luck mat for the new Coral Theater, on the Marlboro pike at the District line . . . This is the latest of the Fairlawn Amusement Co.'s chain; "Unconquered," the DeMille Fort Pitt adventure, was the theater's first attraction at last night's gala opening.

CARIB-BEINGS: These lithesome lassies are an artist's impression of the calypso chorines at work on the Warner screen in the Technicolor musical about a Caribbean cruise which opened yesterday, "Romance on the High Seas"

"Romance on the High Seas"

Doris Day Makes Nice Start In Musical Film at Warner

By Orval Hopkins

"ROMANCE on the High Seas," which sounds as if it ought to be the title of a book by Daniel Defoe, opened yesterday at the Warner Theater, and it's kinda cute if you'll permit a lapse this early in the lesson.

The film is rich and glittery and fast, thus putting one in mind of the rich, glittery jobs of some years ago through which Fred Astaire and the then relatively ingenuous Ginger Rogers used to trip. It even has Eric Blore, without whom, in those days, they couldn't call an Astaire-Rogers meeting to order. All the men in this one, except Johnny Berkes, who plays a drunk, wear not one but several $200 suits, and the women are got up in duds at whose price I could only guess. There are scenes in high-class quarters aboard ship, in swank South American hotels, and in richly furnished offices and apartments in New York—you know, the bathroom where you walk in and then have to go half a block to the shower. It's a very lavish business all around.

Doris Day, an engaging young singer and comedienne, gets off to a good start in this, her first picture, and has the advantage of almost uniformly good songs by Jule Styne and Sammy Cahn. Miss Day is sort of the uninhibited Martha Raye type, particularly effective with a song in which she can shout a little, though she handles the softies well enough.

Jack Carson, who actually has some talent as an actor, has only rarely amused me in light roles, but somebody, conceivably Michael Curtiz, the director, has cooled him down a bit and he gets through this one with a minimum of grimacing and exercising the double take.

Oscar Levant walks through this one, a trifle uncomfortably, I thought, portraying his own idea of what has come to be known as that stinker Levant. The authors gave Oscar some rather funny lines, though, and I regarded him as an asset to the picture. Don DeFore, Janis Paige, S. Z. Sakall and some other people also are in the movie, but Miss Day is what makes it get up on its feet. Avon Long, the Negro singer and dancer, does a somewhat frenzied but withal effective satire on the tourist trade, and others adequately performing are Sir Lancelot, the calypso man, the Samba Kings and the Page Cavanaugh Trio.

The story? Well, you know about these stories. It's about some people who go on a cruise in the Caribbean. Not at all an unpleasant film.

Number of Retiring Workers Drops After Pension Liberalization

RETIREMENT: An amazing thing has happened since the more liberal Langer-Chavez-Stevenson retirement act has been in effect—the number of Federal workers who retire has dropped instead of increasing sharply as had been so widely predicted.

A year ago employes were retiring at the rate of 2400 a month. In the three months since the new law has been in effect that gives them larger pensions about 6500 have retired, or less than 2200 a month.

Civil Service officials who had prepared to handle a record number of retirement cases are astonished by the smaller number. They have concluded that Federal workers simply can't afford to retire until they are forced to do so in these days of soaring prices. "That seems to be the only answer," was the comment of Warren Irons, chief of the retirement division.

When Congress debated the bill, it was repeatedly brought out that large numbers of the older employes would retire and that their jobs would be taken over by veterans.

Civil Service officials were confident that a big block of employes, especially women, would take advantage of the new provision which allows them to retire at 55 after at least 30 years of service on a pension reduced by 15 per cent. Instead, only a handful have retired under it.

In general, the record so far proves the contention that people won't retire voluntarily.

FEDERAL HOUSING must reduce its staff by about 900 despite a record volume of business that will put about 55 million dollars in the Treasury this year. Its budget for this year is 19 million dollars, or $1,700,000 under what it was a year ago.

However, FHA officials do not now plan to make forced lay-offs. They will gamble on balancing their budget by not filling vacancies. No FHA job can be filled unless it's approved in advance by the commissioner. FHA loses between 80 and 90 employes a month for various reasons.

PAY BILL: The President yesterday told a press conference that he will sign the bill that raises the salaries of upward of 1,300,000 Federal workers. Formal action will come before he leaves on his weekend trip to Missouri.

DISTRICT: Meantime, Representative George Miller (D., Calif.) announced he would introduce a bill at the next session of Congress to give District government workers a $330 pay raise that would be effective as of yesterday. He said it was a "terrible thing" for Congress to have exempted these employes from the pay bill, and that it was up to Congress to correct its blunder.

Miller is a member of the House Civil Service Committee that considers pay legislation. He's assured of reelection since he's the nominee of both major parties in his district.

NOTES: Civil Service is planning an exam soon for personnel officers in grades CAF-7 through CAF-12 . . . Frank A. Southard, jr., is the new associate director of Federal Reserve's Division of Research and Statistics. He was director of Treasury's Division of International Finance . . . William D. Beatty, one of the Nation's experts on burned and damaged money, has retired from Treasury after 47 years of service. He was assistant chief of the Currency Redemption Division.

DRAFT: An estimated 75,000 young men in Government between the ages of 19 and 25 are eligible for the new draft. How many will be taken is an entirely different matter.

Experts differ on this question: Will drafted men be eligible for veterans' preference for Federal jobs?

Bruce Stubblefield, Civil Service's veterans' adviser, is of the firm opinion that they will be. He explains that the war has not yet been officially declared to be ended; that enlistees are given veterans' preference, and that the draft law does not deny draftees preference. In fact, the law makes no mention of preference.

Other officials take the position that the draftees will be peacetime veterans and therefore are not entitled to preference.

Tentatively, it's planned to set up a single committee here to pass on deferments for Federal workers. Very few employes can expect to be deferred.

The proposed committee would be guided by directives from Selective Service on men who could be deferred. Selective Service can be expected to urge draft boards to defer young scientists, among others, from the draft.

Men drafted from Government will be carried on a military leave status. They will be able to return to their jobs without loss of seniority, in-grade promotions, retirement, and other benefits.

An over-all draft policy for the Federal Government is being written by the Federal Personnel Council.

Stowaways With Aim Achieved Hear Clark at Training School

Attorney General Tom Clark gives a smile of confidence and handshakes to Gilbert (left), 16, and Marcel, 15, who were determined to reach the United States from France

By Charles E. Davis, Jr.
Post Reporter

Attorney General Tom C. Clark had an international as well as a television audience last night when he spoke at the National Training School for Boys.

The occasion was the presentation by Clark of a giant television set to the boys at the Bladensburg rd. institution. A 30-minute program was carried over the NBC television network.

Two French boys, one from Puerto Rico and another from Alaska, were included in the delegation that paraded to the stage of the school chapel to formally accept the television set from the Attorney General.

It was the first time that Clark had been welcomed at the school by boys from a foreign country. Of the two French boys, Gilbert, 16, and Marcel, 15, he said, "I am sure they will reap a great benefit from this America they have persisted in trying to enter."

The Attorney General referred to the fact that Gilbert had tried to smuggle himself into this country six times as a stowaway. Five times he was returned to France. The sixth time, authorities here decided Gilbert should spend a year at the training school.

Marcel tried to get into this country four times as a stowaway. In his case, too, authorities finally threw up their hands and said off to the school with you.

From the smiles on their faces last night, this must have been just what the boys wanted. They liked everything—the Attorney General, the television, the school.

Both are orphans. Gilbert, who comes from Doual, about 60 miles from Belgium in the north of France, lost his mother during an enemy bombing raid. His brother was shot by the Germans. His father disappeared when war engulfed the country.

Marcel comes from Rouen. His father marched off with the French army when the war started and never returned. His mother was killed when bombs dropped on Rouen.

Although Gilbert and Marcel never teamed on their attempts to get into the United States as stowaways, they became acquainted on the docks of Marseilles and Le Havre. Both picked up a smattering of English from American GIs.

The French boys are worried about nothing except the danger they again may be returned to France.

Marcel spent three months on Ellis Island and a week in the Philadelphia city jail because of his determined efforts to get into America. But he is not one bit discouraged. He will keep trying.

Gilbert has the same determination. Once after being picked up by immigration authorities and detained in Baltimore, he escaped and for a week slept on park benches in Baltimore.

Gilbert and Marcel, along with the many American boys crowded into the chapel for the ceremony, gave the Attorney General a rousing cheer when he spoke to them.

The Attorney General spoke about the sponsor plan under which local men in the community sponsor individual boys. The sponsor plan is a big help to boys from faraway States whose parents cannot visit them at the school here.

"I want to get every one of you a sponsor," said Clark, "and when you get out of here I want to get you a job."

The television set presented to the boys last night was originally offered as a personal gift to Clark by a national organization. Clark declined the set for himself, but said he would accept it in behalf of the boys at the school, who, under the law, are his wards.

James V. Bennett, jr., director of the Bureau of Prisons; G. Howland Shaw, former Assistant Secretary of State; Harold Hegstrom, superintendent of the Federal institution, and representatives of various service clubs also spoke.

Washington Monument Fete, Parade Top July 4 Program

Martial music, marching men, floats and an Air Corps display will start Washington's three-day Fourth of July celebration at noon Saturday.

Following the spectacular hour-long parade, ceremonies will be held at the Washington Monument in observance of the centennial of the laying of the cornerstone.

President Truman, ex-officio president of the Washington National Monument Society, will speak at the ceremonies at 2 p. m. Secretary of State George C. Marshall, first vice president of the society, will also be on the program.

Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, 3d, National Capital Park and Planning Commissioner, will lead the memorial exercises.

Three vessels from the Atlantic Fleet, scheduled to arrive today at the Naval Gun Factory, will be open for inspection by visitors between 1 and 4:30 p. m., Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The Naval Gun Factory itself will be open to visitors from 12:30 to 4:30 p. m. Sunday and from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday.

Largest of the three ships to visit Washington is the USS Randall, 12,000-ton attack transport. The other two vessels are the USS Vogelesang and USS Ellison, destroyers. Permanently moored Naval Reserve training ships, the submarine Drum and the LST 987, will also be open to visitors.

The opening concert Sunday night of the National Symphony's Water Gate series and a program Monday night of addresses, stage revue and fireworks at the Washington Monument are other weekend highlights.

More than 60 military, National Guard, veterans, patriotic youth and business units will participate in the parade Saturday.

Led by Maj. Robert J. Barrett, superintendent of Metropolitan Police and a platoon of motorcycle police, the parade will start at 4th st. and Pennsylvania ave. nw. It will proceed west to 15th st., then south to the Monument Grounds, past President Truman and other dignitaries in the reviewing stand there.

Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey, grand marshall of the parade, and his staff will be second in line.

Twelve bands, in addition to the Marine Band at the reviewing stand, will participate. There will be 24 different types of wheeled military and naval equipment in the parade, in addition to 14 commercial floats.

Tickets, $1 including tax, for chairs on the Monument Grounds for the parade and ceremonies Saturday afternoon are on sale at leading hotels, Peoples Drug Stores, a trailer in front of the District Building at 14th and Pennsylvania ave., and other points. Tickets at the same price are on sale for Monday night's program also.

D. C. Holiday Exodus Already Jams Highways

Holiday-bent Washingtonians preparing for a big Fourth of July weekend, already were jamming highways bound for resorts, it was reported yesterday. And transportation officials looked for the biggest mass exodus of the year to begin this afternoon.

The weatherman refused to promise "perfect" weather for the three-day holiday but looked for reasonably "good" days. He predicted possible scattered showers for Saturday night or Sunday.

Travel experts announced that facilities are pretty much swamped with reservations at nearby beaches, including Virginia, Rehoboth, Chesapeake and Ocean City. The Skyline Drive and Blue Ridge Mountains are also popular going-away places, they said.

American Automobile Association spokesmen reported that their offices have been "crowded" all week long with residents seeking routing and other information.

Two Bids Offered for Old Belasco Theater

Both Proposals Would Involve A Non-Segregation Policy If Accepted

The Federal Works Agency yesterday received two bids for lease of the famous old Belasco Theater Building facing Lafayette Square—both with qualifications.

Each, while not stipulating intended use of the building in so many words, indicated bidders plan to use the structure for legitimate theater purposes. This was confirmed by spokesmen, who added that the theater—unlike the National Theater here — would practice non segregation policy.

Outline of Bids

Bids for lease of the former legitimate playhouse, now a Government storage space, came from the American National Theater and Academy which, through the Washington Art Center Association, did much toward inducing the Government to make the Belasco available; and Joseph Curtis of New York, nephew of Harry Cohn, president of Columbia Pictures.

ANTA bid $120,000 for a 10-year lease, promising the Government a guaranteed rental of $1000 a month. The organization also agreed to pay to the Federal Treasury 50 per cent of all net profits after "reimbursing" itself for the cost of remodeling and alterations, with the $1000 monthly rental to be marked off against the 50-50 division-of-profits agreement.

Curtis offered $250,000 for the 10-year period, promising a rental of $100 monthly until alteration and renovation of the building are completed. At that time the $250,000 would be divided by the number of months remaining in the term.

Action Expected Soon

Both bidders, mindful of the FWA's stipulation that th eGovernment may if it wishes cancel the lease on one year's notice, hinged their offers on a Federal agreement to "reimburse" the lessee for, as ANTA put it, "expenditures not yet recouped," and, in the words of Curtis, "for unamortized portion of the cost . . ." This is, of course, in the event the Government cancels the lease before the end of the 10-year period.

Allan Groom, FWA property management assistant for the District, who received the bids, said final action should be forthcoming early next week.

Woman Killed In Auto Crash, Husband Hurt

Chenoa, Ill., July 1 (AP).—Mrs. Frederick Loy of Washington, D. C., was killed and her husband and another man were injured today in a collision of two automobiles.

Loy and Dr. Edwin Rypins of Bloomington, Ill., were taken to a hospital in nearby Normal.

The Loy automobile and one driven by Dr. Rypins collided at the intersection of United States Highways 24 and 66.

[Mr. and Mrs. Loy were said to live here at 513 8th st. sw. Neighbors reported they left Tuesday on a motor trip to Manhattan Beach, Calif., to visit a son.]

Harrison Quits Auditor's Office After 35 Years

Bernard A. Harrison, 61, chief field examiner in the District auditor's office, retired yesterday after nearly 35 years of service in the municipal government.

Harrison began his city government career in the auditor's office in July, 1913, and became chief field examiner in September, 1942.

He served in the Navy from April, 1918, to January, 1919, during World War I.

He will receive a $212-a-month pension, officials said. Harrison lives at 2949 Upton st. nw.

Auditor A. R. Pilkerton said he was sorry to lose Harrison. "He's very efficient and very capable," he said. "He's been of great assistance to the office and to me, personally."

Autopsy Ordered Today in Death of Mrs. Grace Dean

An autopsy will be held today in the death of Mrs. Grace Dean, 58, of 1805 Monroe st. ne., found dead in her home yesterday.

According to a preliminary examination by Deputy Coroner Christopher J. Murphy there are indications that Mrs. Dean fell down the cellar stairs and injured her head, managed to get back to her bedroom, then to the bathroom, where she collapsed and died.

The body was discovered by a son late in the afternoon. Mrs. Dean was to have left for a visit to Hershey, Pa., yesterday.

High School Coaches Lose Pay Appeal

Board Rejects Demand for Rise, But Eases Tasks

In its last meeting of the school year yesterday, the Board of Education turned down the demand of a group of high school coaches that they receive extra pay, or they would refuse to coach interhigh athletic teams.

The "ultimatum" was delivered to the Board last April. School Superintendent Hobart M. Corning has conducted a survey to determine the number of hours spent on duties outside the classroom.

Conclusion of the dispute, as announced yesterday, is that principals were ordered to lighten the load of teachers who accept coaching duties, and relieve them of any extra-curricular assignments during the coaching season.

The board made it plain there will be no "down-rating" teachers who do not volunteer for coaching assignments.

Mrs. Doyle Reelected

Conspicuous action of the school board was the reelection for the fourteenth year of Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle as president. C. Melvin Sharpe was made vice president.

A program under which student nurses at three local hospitals have been taking science courses at Wilson Teachers College was continued by the board with the understanding that the hospitals pay the salaries of instructors.

The board had considered closing down the program of training nurses at Wilson Teachers College and continued it only after superintendents of Emergency, Garfield and Sibley Hospitals said it was essential and agreed to pay for the instruction. The program was started in the war years when enrollment at the teachers college was low. Now enrollment is up and the school board said it needed all its funds for training of teachers.

Dr. Corning was authorized to conduct a study to determine if the program should be continued after next year.

Other Board Actions

In other actions yesterday the board:

Noted that about half of the city's nonresident students have indicated they will return to District schools next year even though they will be required to pay tuition.

Granted a request of the Board of Public Welfare for use of the Truesdell, Mott, Harrison and Carbery Schools as child day care centers.

Joined the United Community Services of Washington and named Mrs. Doyle and Dr. Corning as representatives.

Asked Congress to grant teachers the same pay raise given Federal employes and asked the Board of Commissioners to reconsider a stand it took against granting teachers sick leave with pay.

Protested the commercial zoning of a strip of land at 6th st. and Florida ave. ne., near the site for the new Armstrong High School.

5 Teachers Retired After Long Service

Five teachers with long records of service in District schools were retired yesterday by the Board of Education. The teachers and their years of service are:

Miss P. Edna Thonssen, 4848 Van Ness st. nw.; assistant principal of Western High School, 47 years.

Mrs. Beatrice B. Campbell, 926 R st. nw., teacher Langston Elementary School, 24 years.

Mrs. Mildred M. Catlett, 908 South Ode st., Arlington, counselor at Bell Vocational School, 36 years.

Mrs. Edith H. Sherman, now living in Panama Ctiy, Fla., elementary school teacher, 24 years.

Miss Violet K. Austin, Sherwood Forest, Md., English teacher at Roosevelt High School, 26 years.

16 Highway, Bridge Plans Proposed Here

District Department Suggests Federal Aid Projects for 2 Years

Sixteen District highway and bridge projects were proposed by the Highway Department yesterday for construction work with Federal aid funds during the next two years.

The list of projects, which must be approved by both the Commissioners and the Public Roads Administration, would be built or begun with the aid of $5,288,000 granted the District for the next two years under the Highway Authorization Act signed Tuesday by President Truman.

Matching funds from the District will swell the total to approximately $10,572,000, Highway Director H. C. Whitehurst estimated.

Of this amount, only about $9,356,220 may be used for actual construction, he said, because the law requires that $158,000 be set aside for planning and 10 per cent of the total be held in reserve.

Three Types of Projects

The projects were divided into three types. Group "A" includes those left over from the postwar program because funds were not sufficient to meet rising costs:

1. Construction of Military rd. nw. (Fort Drive) from 13th to 27th st. ($1,900,000). This includes a small entrance bridge to Rock Creek Golf Course.

2. Division ave. ne., paving from East Capitol st. to Sheriff rd. ($178,500).

3. Kansas ave. railroad grade separation and paving of Kansas ave. between Madison st. and Eastern ave. ($579,000).

4. Construction of Harewood rd. ne., between Michigan ave. and Taylor st. ($200,000).

5. Completion of the east span of the new Highway Bridge ($995,000).

Group "B" includes leftover projects from previous Federal aid programs:

1. Construction of underpass beneath Washington Circle and widening and repaving of K st. nw from 21st to 27th sts. ($3,200,000).

2. Repaving and widening of K st. nw., between Connecticut ave. and 21st st., similar to the midtown K st. section ($120,000).

3. S. Capitol st. extension and relocation to connect with approaches to new Anacostia bridge ($200,000).

4. Paving, widening and channelization of S. Capitol st., from M st. to Canal rd. ($120,000).

5. Paving and widening 11th st. nw., from Vermont to Florida ave. ($108,000).

6. Repaving of Massachusetts ave. nw., from 1st to 7th sts., including channelization at 1st and G sts. ($162,000).

Group "C" Projects

Group "C" projects are those previously approved by the Commissioners as a result of the 1946 transportation survey:

1. Paving S. Dakota ave. ne., from 12th st. to Riggs rd. ($196,000).

2. Paving Ridge rd. se., from C st. to Bowen rd. ($175,000).

3. Paving Benning rd. ne., from E. Capitol st. to D. C. line ($175,000).

4. Paving Michigan ave. ne., from Varnum st. to D. C. line ($56,000).

5. Construction, paving and channelization on Arizona ave. nw., from Canal rd. to Wisconsin ave. ($990,000 of a total cost of $3,800,000).

Trans Lux Fire

Smoke Routs Diners; Film Goers Stay

Smoke from a basement kitchen fire in the Trans Lux Restaurant, 732 14th st. nw. sent some 30 diners to the street about 8:30 o'clock last night.

Flames in grease ducts leading from the kitchen range to the roof may have been caused by an overheated stove, Acting Deputy Fire Chief P. A. Davis said.

The fire was quickly brought under control.

A possible panic at the next door Trans Lux Newsreel Theater was averted by Manager Vincent Iorio, 1439 A st. se. Sniffing smoke, he investigated, then assured the audience of more than 500 there was no danger. Almost all patrons remained seated.

Outside, however, throngs of strollers gravitated to the scene as smoke billowed over the restaurant roof. Police detoured traffic from 14th st. between G and I sts. nw., and away from H st. at 15th st., and 13th st. and New York ave. nw.

Overheated tempers were believed responsible for a reported fire at the Atlantic Theater, Nichols ave. and Atlantic st. sw. shortly before 10 p. m.

Theater attendants suggested the false alarm may have been turned in by a couple irate at having been ejected from the movie house because of "unbecoming and noisy conduct."

Gunman Robs Night Manager Of $125 at Hotel

An armed bandit held up the night manager of the National Hotel, 1801 I st. nw., at 12:15 a. m. today and took about $125 in cash.

The night manager, W. R. Merrill, the only person on duty in the hotel office, described the bandit as a white man, about 40, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighing about 150 pounds. He was wearing, Merrill said, a gray suit.

Merrill said the holdup man entered the lobby, drew a pistol and demanded money. The bandit escaped, running east along I st., Merrill said.

Once before Merrill was a victim of a holdup at the hotel. About 4:30 a. m. last December 21, a bandit entered the hotel, pulled a pistol on him, and took about $15.

2 Women of Area Defend Bridge Title

Two Washington women will defend their titles in the 11th annual Carvel Hall championship bridge tournament, which begins tonight at the Carvel Hall Hotel in Annapolis, Md.

They are Mrs. Dora Schwartz, of 724 Taylor st., nw., and Mrs. Catherine Morman McGhee, of Braddock Acres, near Fairfax, Va.

The tournament, which continues until Monday, is sponsored jointly by the Washington and Maryland Bridge Leagues.

Finnish Legation Seeks American Loan

The Finnish Legation has begun discussions with the Export-Import Bank toward a possible American loan.

The United States has extended 95 million dollars in various loans to the Finnish government since the end of the war. The last was a two-million-dollar credit last February 18.

Holdup Man Caught in Wild Chase Downtown

Ex-Army Officer Uses Hearse and Taxi in Flight After $96 Robbery

A gun-brandishing bandit was captured in downtown Washington yesterday, after a wild getaway attempt in a hearse, taxi and then on foot. Police fired three shots as the fleeing gunman's weapon misfired twice.

Victims of a $96 holdup which turned the area into a frenzied uproar at 4:40 p. m. were Herbert Becker, 36, and his wife, Rena, managers of the Mutual Credit Co. at 901 10th st. nw.

Scores of rush hour pedestrians watched the movie-style drama. The alleged bandit was Joseph H. Sullivan, a former Army lieutenant, 30, of 4611 Hillside rd se., according to police.

Bandit Is 'Smooth Type'

Flashing a .32-caliber automatic, he ordered Mrs. Becker to open the cash drawer. He scooped up the cash, but halted long enough to pat Mrs. Becker's right hand and say:

"I'm terribly sorry—I just remembered you'd been held up before. I wouldn't have come if I'd thought of it before—but nobody's going to hurt you."

With that gesture, the gunman, described by Mrs. Becker as "the smooth society type," raced out. Becker was in hot pursuit, shouting, "Holdup! Holdup!"

Still brandishing his gun, the nattily attired robber fled down K st. to 10th, a swelling posse of passerby at his heels.

Jumps In Hearse

Attracted by the crowd, Pvt. John B. Kline, 27, of the Second Precinct, left his traffic beat at 9th and New York ave. nw., to fire two ineffective shots at the fugitive. The robber returned fire twice —and twice his gun jammed.

At 10th and K the gunman pulled open the front door of a Birch's Funeral Home hearse, which had stopped for a red light, and plumped down in the seat next to the driver, Homer J. Scorey, 1736 G st. nw.

The gunman ordered Scorey to "get going." But Scorey was "so scared when I saw that gun I couldn't move," he later told police.

Shouting an obscenity, the robber jumped out of the hearse and into a nearby taxi driven by Atwood Blunt, 33, of 529 3d st. nw.

Blunt deliberately drove his car towards a traffic jam at 12th and L sts. nw., he told police. The bandit hopped out as the taxi slowed to 10 miles an hour.

Hard on the heels of the fleeing thug was Pvt. Jesse Johnson, 28, of 3738 Hayes st. ne., who had left his traffic beat at 9th and K sts. nw. and commandeered a private car to join the chase.

One Slot Machine

Johnson fire one shot, which missed its mark, as the robber sped north on 11th st. nw. to an alley at the rear of 1101 L st. nw.

"He trained his gun on me over his shoulder as he was running and I kept hollering to him to drop his gun or I'd shoot again," Johnson said.

As Johnson closed in and readied his service revolver, the gunman suddenly lost courage—stopped dead in his tracks, dropped his automatic. Johnson, of the Second Precinct, a six-year veteran on the force with five commendations, hauled his captive away as police reinforcements arrived.

Police said the gunman had a shoulder holster, and had an extra clip of ammunition in the pocket of his gray business suit. Throughout the chase, his Panama hat remained secure on his head.

Victims of a number of recent holdups, most of them in the downtown area, were asked to be at police headquarters today to view Sullivan in a lineup. Police said that at least five robberies involved a man who looked and operated like Sullivan.

Charges against Sullivan were held up pending additional investigation.

Senators' Railway Expansion Planned

The Capitol's world-famed monorail shortline, connecting the Halls of Congress with the Senate Office Building, is going to be doubled in length.

The subway expansion program was disclosed yesterday by David Lynn, architect of the Capitol. He said that the trolley ride, now running around 700 feet, will be extended to twice that distance in order to link the new Senate Office Building into the trolley system.

The new office wing will go up adjacent to the present structure on 1st st. ne., between B and C sts.

The Senate subway extension plans are expected to arouse new agitation on the House side for a similar transportation between the Capitol and the House Office Buildings. An underground passageway connects the three buildings, but members of the House have to hike the 700 feet.

The Senate's two-trolley monorail system could not handle the much-heavier House-side traffic, according to Architect Lynn, and no satisfactory alternative system has yet been worked out.

The Senate subway was completed exactly 40 years ago and transportation for Senators who preferred to ride was offered via two specially built canary-colored Studebakers, powered by storage battery. For four years "Peg" and "Tom" thrilled the Capitol's visitors, but in 1912 they were shunted aside to make way for the two monorail trolleys, each running on its own track.

"Peg" and "Tom" were kept around to help out in rush hours, and later as museum pieces, but in 1939 they went under the hammer for $35.

When Congress is in session, the monorail trolleys average 225 round trips a day and carry some 2000 passengers daily.

License Suspended

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board yesterday ordered a two-day license suspension for George H. Schultze, owner of a liquor store at 1400 H st. ne., after finding him guilty of permitting sale to an intoxicated person.

The suspension will be effective from 10 a. m. July 12 to 10 a. m. July 14, ABC officials said. At a hearing Wednesday, police said they'd seen an intoxicated man emerge from the store with a bottle. A store clerk said he had refused to sell to the man and that apparently someone else had made the purchase for him.

Hyde Heads Alabamans

Edd H. Hyde of Fayette was elected president last night of the Alabama State Society of Washington.

Hyde, formerly treasurer of the society, is an aide to Senator Sparkman (D., Ala).

Charles Brewton of Scottsboro, secretary of Senator Hill (D., Ala.), was named treasurer, to succeed Hyde, who replaces R. B. Vail of Bay Minette.

The following were named vice presidents, one from each of the State's congressional districts: Mrs. Frang Boykin, Mobile; Mrs. Ada Price, Foley; Maj. T. E. Wise, Dothan; Harrell T. Vance, jr., Talladega; Mrs. Albert Rains, Gadsden; Mrs. Paul Duncan, Tuscaloosa; William Young, Vernon; Mrs. Robert Jones, Scottsboro; and Mrs. Pauline Byrd, Birmingham.

Jeff D. Harris of Montgomery was elected sergeant at arms.

Traffic Snarl Makes 8000 Late for Work

A traffic snafu at the Pentagon Building's south parking lot yesterday morning made some 8000 military and civilian personnel late for work.

The tangle resulted from failure of about 300 motorists to get new parking identification stickers although, it was said, a minimum of one week's notice was given. Those without the new stickers were rerouted to spaces ordinarily allotted visitors.

The new plan ordered under the name of Capt. Walter J. Flanagan of the office of the building commandant, is designed to halt a widespread practice of trading parking places current among employes seeking spots nearer their office.

Fire Fighter Burned

Jerry Rodis, 32, of 2703 Colston dr., Chevy Chase, yesterday received second degree burns on both legs while attempting to extinguish a fire that broke out in his home. He was admitted to Suburban Hospital. Firemen said the blaze was confined to the basement.

Maryland Buys New Ferryboat

Baltimore, July 1 (AP).—Aquisition of a new ferryboat for the Claiborne-Romancoke run was announced today by the State Roads Commission.

The ferryboat was bought for $155,000 and was formerly in service in New York on the Hudson River.

Now named the Jersey Shore, the boat docked here for alterations tonight. After an overhaul it will replace the Governor Harrington, which will be transferred to the Sandy Point-Matapeake run.

$3,500,000 Divorce Settlement Reported

Reno, Nev., July 1 (AP).—A divorce settlement of $3,500,000—probably the largest in Reno divorce history—is reported to have been made on the wife of a New York banker.

The woman, Mrs. Evelyn Lehman, is the wife of Allan S. Lehman, member of a New York banking firm and the nephew of New York's former Governor, Herbert Lehman.

16 War Dead To Be Reburied In Arlington

Reinterment services for 16 World War II dead, including two Washington men, will be held at 2 p. m. today in Arlington National Cemetery.

Page

Washington men who will be reburied are First Sgt. Patrick H. Leigh, whose widow, Helen R. Leigh, lives at 4926 J st. ne., and Pvt. James T. Page, whose father, Lewis E. Page, lives at 4231 Gault pl. ne.

Leigh, 27, a graduate of Dunbar High School, was drowned in Oro Bay, New Guinea, in August, 1944. He joined the Army in July, 1941, and had been in the South Pacific since June, 1944. Besides his widow, he leaves his father, of 127 Adams st. nw., four sisters and a brother, all of the District.

Page, 19, died in Sicily in September, 1943, in a swimming accident. Born in the District, he was graduated from Dunbar High School and was a freshman at Howard University when he joined the Army. He had been with the 24th Infantry in Italy for one month before his death.

Besides his parents, he leaves two brothers, George Daniel, of 4522 Eads st. ne., and Lewis E., jr., of 4226 Gault pl. ne.

Virginia Drops 17 Agencies in Reorganizing

Richmond, Va., July 1 (AP).—Seventeen Virginia State governmental agencies were out of existence today as the State's first full-scale reorganization in 20 years became effective.

Under acts of the 1948 Assembly, the agencies ceased to exist as of last midnight. These included the State Land Office, dating back to the seventeenth century, and the World War II History Commission.

Also abolished were the State Anatomical Board, Armory Commission, Division of Grounds and Buildings, Finance Board, Board of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, Virginia Conservation Commission, State Board of Corrections, Board of Public Welfare, Commission on Post-Mortem Examinations, State Board of Pardons and Reprieves, Planning Board, Port Authority, Division of Purchase and Printing, Board of Directors of the R. E. Lee Camp Memorial Park, and the Advisory Commission on Virginia Economy.

Functions of these agencies have been absorbed by other departments.

In some instances the changes were only on paper. Extensive changes in titles of agencies and officials also resulted from the reorganization. In some instances, established agencies were continued without change.

Governor Tuck has made most of the major appointments called for under the reorganization legislation. Yet to be named, however, are a director of the Division of Personnel, and a director of the new Department of Professional and Occupational Registration.

Petersburg, Va. Rites Today For Mrs. Lane

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Seward Lane, 48, daughter of an old Virginia family who died Wednesday in her home at 4000 Fordham rd. nw., will be held at 5 p. m. today at Old Blanding Cemetery in her home town of Petersburg, Va.

The wife of William Franklin Lane, president of the Florida Products Co., 57 N st. nw., Mrs. Lane was a graduate of Gunston Hall in this city. Although the Lanes have been District residents for 20 years, Mrs. Lane maintained an active interest in club work in Petersburg, where her mother, Mrs. Harvey Seward, still lives. The Sewards also are well-known in Richmond social circles.

Beside her husband and mother, Mrs. Lane is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frank L. Hereford, jr. of Swarthmore, Pa., and Miss Sally Lane of the Fordham Road address.

Morris F. Benton

Morristown, N. J., July 1 (AP).—Morris Fuller Benton, 74, former chief type designer of the American Type Foundry Co., died yesterday in All Souls Hospital after a short illness.

Born in Milwaukee, Wis., Benton was the son of Linn Boyd Benton, whose inventions were utilized in the development of the linotype machine.

The younger Benton was credited with inventing the "type family," a series of variations of type design used in advertisements and commercial printing.

Frank Rieber

New York, July 1 (AP).—Frank Rieber, 56, geophysicist who held 48 United States and foreign patents and 27 pending patent applications on scientific equipment, died yesterday.

Rieber contributed a number of new systems for research into geophysical problems, particularly in connection with petroleum exploration. He also aided in developing military instruments and devices.

At the time of his death, he was perfecting a system to map geological conditions, which associates said, was expected to double the Nation's oil reserves. His military inventions included a method of measuring muzzle velocity of shells, magnetic means for detecting submarines and sound-ranging systems for locating enemy guns.

Cannot Make Safety Repair, Utility Says

Winchester, Va., July 1 (AP).—The Consumers Utility Company today told Winchester's city council that it is financially unable to make the repairs the council ordered in its gas distribution system after last week's explosion that killed one and injured 17.

The blast, which wrecked the Rayless Department Store, has been attributed by investigators to an accumulation of gas in the store basement.

The expenditure required to make the plant safe along lines mapped by city council was estimated at $200,000, including piping, repaving of streets, other materials and labor, as well as a gas inspector at a salary of $7500 a year.

The new investment, according to R. M. Weaver of Harrisonburg, counsel for the gas concern, would be more than the original cost of the system, and more than could be obtained in revenue from the 900 patrons now served with gas.

The problem of what steps are to be taken will be placed before the State Corporation Commission in Richmond

Meem Retires, Bank Elevates Lawson, Doing

By S. Oliver Goodman

Retirement of Harry G. Meem as president, the election of Alfred H. Lawson to succeed him and the elevation of Charles H. Doing as board chairman were announced by the Washington Loan & Trust Co. following a special meeting of directors yesterday afternoon.

Lawson

Meem

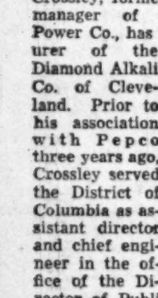
Doing

Meem requested retirement following 57 years of continuous service with the trust company. He will continue as a director and a member of the executive and trust committees. Born in Georgetown, Meem rose from the ranks and has been president since 1931. Active in civic affairs, he is a trustee of the endowment fund of the American National Red Cross and president and trustee of the John Dickson Home. He lives at 2730 34th pl. nw.

Lawson, the new president, formerly was second vice president of Washington Loan & Trust. He joined the company in 1923 and is also a director or officer of 16 business firms or civic groups. He is a former president of the Washington Real Estate Board and lives at 4901 Indian la., nw.

Doing, the new chairman, formerly was first vice president of the trust company. Associated with the Washington Loan & Trust since 1900, he is a director and member of the executive and trust committees. He also has a long list of business and civic organizations of which he is a director or officer. He is a former president of the District Bankers Association and lives at 3001 44th pl. nw.

IN NEW POST: Arthur W. Crossley, former assistant general manager of Potomac Electric Power Co., has been elected treasurer of the Diamond Alkali Co. of Cleveland. Prior to his association with Pepco three years ago, Crossley served the District of Columbia as assistant director and chief engineer in the office of the Director of Public Works. He also has held various engineering assignments with the local Public Utilities Commission, the Washington Gas Light Co. and Dennison Manufacturing Co.



Crossley

NEW BUILDING: Work will start within 10 days on a $250,000 branch office for the Prince Georges Bank & Trust Co., Treasurer J. Robert Sherwood said yesterday. Builder will be Lee T. Turner and architect is Paul H. Kea. The new building, to be located in 3700 block of Rhode Island ave., will be known as the Mount Rainier office. The two-story building will be air-conditioned, will have a full basement and will be 40 by 80 feet. Sherwood expects the building to be ready for occupancy by early spring next year.

ODD LOTS: Another three-day "holiday" is ahead with leading securities and commodities exchanges to be closed on Monday in observance of Independence Day . . . Hotels Statler Co., Inc., has purchased the Pennsylvania Hotel in New York from the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. . . . An unique presentation of the relative position of railroad common stocks has been set up by Walter F. Hahn of Smith, Barney & Co. . . . Trans World Airline has put into effect a new airfreight tariff schedule, naming specific commodity rates from and to certain cities . . . Real Estate bond prices in June, as measured by the Amott Baker & Co. index, advanced 0.2 per cent from the previous month . . . American Airlines put eight new Convair flagships into operation on its domestic lines yesterday, bringing its fleet to 19.

WHO'S WHO TODAY: Harry C. Williams of Washington, former division manager of General Electric Co., has been appointed general sales manager of the H. K. Ferguson Co., industrial engineers and builders . . . William Reed Macgill has retired as secretary of the Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of the District of Columbia after 49 years' service. He will be succeeded as secretary by William C. Noell, who also will retain duties as executive vice president . . . Loraine J. Milliken has been elected vice president of Chas. G. Stott & Co., local office supply house . . . James B. Morrison, formerly of Washington, has been elected president of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., succeeding William C. Bolenius, who has been elevated to an American Telephone & Telegraph Co. vice president in charge of personnel relations . . . Seymour D. Hesse has been appointed advertising coordinator of Schenley Distillers Corp.

A's Score 3 in Ninth, Beat Nats, 3-2

This Morning

With Shirley Povich

THE SEAMY SIDE of college football was exposed the other day when seven George Washington U. players got curt notices that their scholarships were being canceled because they couldn't make the team. The school's defense that it's a "routine practice" at other colleges as well, is no defense and no credit to the system, and it adds up to a shoddy piece of business.

POVICH

In the case of some of the boys who were attending G. W. U. on scholarships and got the bounce, their crime was flunking out in spring practice under a new coach. It seems that the scholarships they thought they were getting were retractable. Coach Bo Rowland made no bones about the fact that "your showing in spring practice was to be the determining factor. A missed block or a loose tackle in March, six months before the opening game, and poof! went their college educations.

It all sounds pretty ruthless, and that's what you'd have to call it. If, as the school people say, it's "routine" they ought to say it ashamedly and admit their institution of higher learning is neck-deep in the hard business of football and operating as crass a try-out system as any professional club. In the cases of some of the G. W. U. lads it's even rougher than that. They had reason to believe they had already made good.

THEY WERE good enough on the football field to justify their scholarships under the regime of last year's coach, Skip Stahley, apparently. Some of them were first-line reserves. But with a new coach, Rowland, moving in with a new system, and eyeing them skeptically, they were caught defenseless. When they didn't fit into his plans, they got the bounce, just like that, with no extenuations.

For the kids who were handed scholarships under Stahley, there was no protection against the hiring of a new coach who might not like their style of football. That's the kind of a tenuous scholarship that ought to make a school blush. The players are told they didn't make good in spring practice and get kissed off with "I want to thank you for your interest in trying out this spring."

It turned out that the dismissed players were merely sparring partners, scrubs, for the more-favored varsity, taking their bumps and getting their release before a new term started. Scrimmaging in the spring is rough business. Unlike Joe Louis' sparring partners, who get $25 a round, the bounced-out group won't even get training camp expenses from here in.

ONE G. W. U. official has commented that 98 per cent of the other colleges operate their football scholarships on the same basis, but that's nonsense. Some undoubtedly do, but the majority are more considerate. The conditional basis on which they hand out their scholarships are not as conditional. Usually it is a four-year arrangement. The players who don't make the team aren't cut adrift or the rug pulled out from under them completely. They prop their football scholarships with other jobs for players who can't make the squad.

As we were saying, the shabby part is that some of the players who got the ax did make the squad under their old coach and then find themselves bereft of their scholarships because a new coach has, maybe, set a higher standard. There's some kind of an obligation implicit, you'd have to say, but that apparently hasn't disturbed the new coaching regime.

Spring practice is a heluva time to judge a football player anyway. Most of 'em don't like spring practice, don't want to put out in hot weather, and on the theory that it wasn't important, they may not have been bearing down. Then comes the blow.

IT'S UNSEEMLY, anyway, for colleges to be party to that kind of a try-out system. It smacks too much of the pros, with none of the rational aspects of pro football. A college graduate who does get a tryout with a pro club and gets bounced before the season and his pay starts, is merely the loser in a gamble he made on his own ability to make good. He wasn't promised anything except a chance to qualify for a paying job.

If G. W. U. doesn't get the football talent it would like to have, it can scarcely make out a sympathetic case. Football players are leary about scholarships that are retractable like well-oiled landing gear and will take their talents to schools that regard the promise of a scholarship as something more substantial.

The coach is taking no gamble. Under the G. W. U. system he can offer scholarships and then cancel 'em and mess up a boy's educational career if the lad doesn't measure up to the coach's expectations. The onus ought to be on the school. If the coach picks boys for football scholarships and they don't justify 'em, the wiser course for a school would be to fire the coach as an incompetent assayer of football talent, and get a new man—or better still, junk their unfair system.

Cotton Fires 66 for 137, Turns Open Into Picnic

By Glenn Williams

Muirfield, Scotland, July 1 (AP). Henry Cotton turned the British open golf championship into a British picnic today with a record-breaking 66 for a 36-hole total of 137 that left the seven remaining Americans far in the ruck at the halfway mark.

Started off the first tee by King George VI, Cotton shattered Walter Hagen's Muirfield course record that had stood for 19 years. His spurt delighted British golf writers and fans with the prospect of saving their last major title from American hands.

The American challenge, headed by such formidable players as Lawson Little, Claude Harmon and Amateur Frank Stranahan, wilted and fell so far back as to be almost disregarded.

It was left to Arthur Clark, a little-known pro from Huntington, W. Va. to lead the American pack. This drawling six-footer with a crick in his back who came over here for a golfing vacation, hung up a 71 for a total of 145, eight strokes behind Cotton.

Americans Far Behind

The other United States players straggled along to the 148 class, the highest score surviving for tomorrow's 36-hole finals round.

The leaders looked like this after 36 holes:

Cotton, 71-66—137.

Charlie Ward, Britain, 69-72—141.

Sam King, Britain, 69-72—141.

Flory van Donck, Belgium, 69-73—142.

Arthur Lees, Britain, 73-69—142.

Roberto de Vicenzo, Argentina, 70-73—143.

Norm von Nida, Australia, 71-72—143.

Fred Daly, Ireland, 72-71—143.

Alf Padgham, Britain, 73-70—143.

All are Britons except De Vicenzo, the South American who carded a sensational eagle two on a 513-yard hole yesterday; Van Donck and Von Nida, the jockey-sized Australian and top money winner in Britain for the second straight year.

The American contingent lined up like this:

Clark, 74-71—145.

Johnny Bulla, 74-72—146.

Ed Kingsley, 77-66—146.

Bobby Cruickshank, 74-74—148.

Stranahan, 77-71—148.

Harmon, 75-73—148.

Little, 72-76—148.

Final Rounds Today

After today's play the field was sliced to the low 38 for two rounds tomorrow, when the 72-hole medal play tournament will be concluded.

A couple of Americans didn't make it.

Charles (Chuck) Rotar, Canton, Ohio, pro, now an Army sergeant in Germany, shot a 78 for a 153 total, not good enough.

Jimmy Thompson, Scots-born American pro who came back for his first visit with his father in 20 years, also wound up on the sidelines with a 76 for 150.

Kingsley, a stocky Utah amateur and a U. S. Army captain in Germany, tied the course record for amateurs with his 69. He now holds it jointly with Little, who set it in 1935—the year he won his second straight British Amateur crown and finished fourth in the Open.

Only three amateurs are left for the two final rounds. The others are Stranahan, winner of the British Amateur title last month, and Mario Gonzalez, spindling 125-pound Brazilian.

They Stick to Golf

The King was a big part of the news today but most of the 10,000 Scots roaming the course paid strict attention to the golf. After all, they had to pay five shillings ($1) to get in, and they love golf.

The King's visit was the first ever made to a British golf championship by a reigning monarch. The only similar occurrence was in 1931 when the Prince of Wales—now the Duke of Windsor—went to the open at Carnoustie, Scotland, and followed Argentine Pro Jose Jurado in the rain.

Sain Wins 10th As Braves Top Giants, 4 to 1

Boston, July 1 (AP).—Righthander Johnny Sain became the first pitcher in the National League to win 10 games this season as he pitched the Boston Braves to a 4-1 four-hit victory over the New York Giants.

The triumph enabled the Braves to increase their first-place margin in the National League pennant race to 2½ games over the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals, who wropped a 4-3 decision to the Chicago Cubs.

Sain had only one bad inning, the first when the Giants scored their lone run on two singles and Johnny Mize's fly ball.

The Braves tied the count in the second when Bob Elliott homered off starter Clint Hartung and won the game in the seventh inning on Tommy Holmes' three-run double.

WITH 137 TOTAL—Henry Cotton of England was far out ahead last night at the halfway mark of the British Open Golf Tournament with a total of 137. His 66 yesterday broke a course record set 19 years ago by Walter Hagen. Mrs. Cotton watches Henry hit a tune-up shot on Muirfield, Scotland, course.

10,000 Fans Set Laurel Betting Record

By Jack Walsh

Post Reporter

An estimated 10,000 fans equalling the opening night crowd, exceeded the record handle set by pouring $187,661 through the windows last night at Laurel Raceway.

The amount topped the $167,096 wagered when harness racing returned to Maryland with parimutuel trappings.

After two straight cancellations because of rain, the large gathering flocked to the track early and even before the second race the supply of program was exhausted.

Pat D registered a thrilling upset victory in the featured seventh race, a mile pace. The 5-year-old gelding, trained and driven by Charlie Knierim, just managed to stave off a gallant stretch move by Fortunate Boy and return $22.60 for $2.

A few additional firsts were scored in the earlier races. Frank Hanna, grizzled 70-year-old veteran from Aylett, Va., suffered his first setback of the meeting in six starts.

His Chester Hanover, 60-to-5 favorite, finished third behind Dispatch and Silver Keppie in the sixth race, a 6-furlong test for trotters. The defeat also snapped the five-race winning streak of the 8-year-old gelding.

Albert Washington, one of the few Negro drivers in the sport, finally got home in front after knocking at the door for the past week and a half. He drove Miss Abbe Law to a victory in the second race.

She and Auburn Volo, winner of the first, teamed to pay a $30.80 daily double.

The opening race also saw the first disqualification of the meeting. Royal Blue, driven by Ellis Myer, finished third but was placed fifth by the judges for breaking into a gallop in the stretch.

Doris Hart, Louise Brough Reach Finals

By Gayle Talbot

London, July 1 (AP).—Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., produced a hot brand of tennis in Wimbledon's famous deep freeze today to enter the finals of the all-England championships.

Miss Hart, blowing on her frosted fingers now and again to restore circulation, knocked out the defending champion, Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Wilmington, Del., by scores of 6—4, 2—6, 6—3. The tall Florida girl was superb in the clutches.

Miss Brough, the current American titleholder, beat Mrs. Pat Canning Todd of La Jolla, Calif., 6—3, 7—5, in a match replete with sparkling rallies.

15,000 Cheer Players

The usual capacity crowd of about 15,000 applauded both all-American matches continuously (partly, perhaps, to keep warm) and voted them a great deal better to watch than the previous day's men's semifinals.

In between the women's matches, a couple of men's doubles teams put on a rip-roaring exhibition that very probably will decide the championship in that specialty.

John Bromwich and his 20-year-old Australian partner, Frank Sedgman, came from a set down to outlast the No. 1 American combination of Frankie Parker and Bob Falkenburg in five brilliant sets, 6—2, 6—8, 4—6, 6—4, 6—1. Some of it was as spectacular as anything ever seen at Wimbledon, veteran observers agreed.

The Aussies' opponent in the final will be decided tomorrow in a match between Gardnar Mulloy and Tom Brown of the United States and Lennart Bergelin of Sweden and Jack Harper of Australia. Neither pair is likely to beat Bromwich and Sedgman on the form they showed today.

Falkenburg meets Bromwich in the men's final tomorrow. It might have been significant that the Aussie veteran seldom failed to knock baby Bob's bullet service today—usually right at his feet. A bookmaker offered seven to five against the Californian's chances of winning the title held by Jack Kramer in absentia.

Wapinsky Joins Waterloo, Iowa, Team Monday

Football and baseball star Joe Wapinsky, who withdrew from George Washington University two weeks ago after admitting he had been a professional baseball player, has signed with Waterloo, Iowa, of the Class B Three Eye League.

Oil City, Pa., of the Class C Middle Atlantic League, transferred its rights on Wapinsky to Waterloo, and the 22-year-old catcher will report there Monday. Waterloo is the property of the Chicago White Sox.

Wapinsky played for Hagerstown, Md., of the Interstate League in 1943. After two years in service, he returned to pro ball in 1946, playing for Oil City.

Newhouser's Relief Work Stops Indians

Detroit, July 1 (AP).—Hal Newhouser got the Detroit Tigers back onto the victory trail today as he made a relief appearance to trim the Cleveland Indians, 9 to 5, in a free-hitting game.

In the Tiger eighth, Kell singled with one out. Wakefield doubled, scoring Kell and driving Zoldak out of the game. Russ Christopher took over and gave Hoot Evers an intentional pass. He then walked Pat Mullins, loading the bases. George Vico doubled, scoring Wakefield and Evens.

Vic Wertz fanned and Newhouser clinched his game by slamming a long triple, scoring Mullins and Vico with the final runs of the game.

Fain Doubles, Valo Singles Off Haefner With 2 Out

By Morris Siegel

Post Reporter

Philadelphia, July 1.—Mickey Haefner tonight moved another step toward the dubious distinction of being able to lose a ball game quicker than any other pitcher.

He worked only 1/3 of an inning, just long enough for the Athletics to swat him for three runs in the ninth and nose out the Nats, 3-2.

His quick reversal this evening followed on the heels of his swift defeat in Cleveland last Sunday when the Indians belted him out in the first inning with a four-run assault.

Haefner pitched to only three batters. One of them, Ferris Fain, reached him for a two-run double and another, Elmer Valo, finished him with the single that broke up the game.

He Succeeds Welteroth

When the little left-hander relieved faltering Dick Welteroth, there were two A's on base, one away, and much enthusiasm among the 11,962 observers who weren't quite ready to accept defeat.

Welteroth, who relieved Starter Ray Scarborough in the eighth, departed the scene after Eddie Joost and Barney McCoskey rapped him for singles.

Haefner eased the tension momentarily when he got Outfielder Ray Coleman on a fly ball. He wasn't so successful with Fain, however, as the big first baseman socked a double to bring in two runs and then whizzed to third on the throw to the plate.

Hank Majeski was purposely passed but the strategy backfired as Valo, who hadn't hit a ball out of the infield all evening, rammed his game-winning single into right field.

Nats Back in 6th Place

That was the ball game and it also ended the Nats' short stay in fifth place. They were coholders of that not-so-lofty perch with the Tigers until tonight, but now they're back in sirth place.

The Athletics, who have been jumping back and forth between second and third the past two days, reclaimed second place over the Yankees with the victory.

Starter Scarborough set up the two-run Nat frame by singling off Joe Coleman, who started for the A's. Eddie Yost walked and Kozar followed with his two-bagger to left-center.

Although he allowed only five hits in the 7 1/3 innings he worked, Scarborough was flirting with trouble often. The A's loaded the bases on him in the sixth, but he pitched out of that.

In the eighth, Hank Majeski doubled and Scarborough walked Valo. Manager Joe Kuhel figured that was enough for Scarborough and Welteroth came in. He got the side out, but his mastery over

Player Says Career's 'Ruined'

Marvin Won't Interfere in GW Scholarship Row Unless He Discovers 'Some Injustice'

By Herb Heft

Post Reporter

DR. CLOYD H. MARVIN, president of George Washington University, said yesterday he would make no move to countermand the athletic department's recent cancellation of seven football scholarships unless he found "some injustice has been done."

"I have consulted with the assistants in the athletic department," the president said, "and they have assured me that everything is on the level, that nothing extraneous was promised these boys."

Cancellation of the scholarships was contained in a letter sent to each of the seven concerned, under a June 24 dateline, and signed by the new football coach, John H. (Bo) Rowland. It said the scholarships would not be renewed because "the consensus of opinion of the coaching staff" is that the player concerned could not make the 1948 team.

Players whose scholarships were dropped are Fullback Paul Skinner, Wingback Howie Williams, Ends John Neary and Jerry Angel, and Tackles Frank O'Brien, Martin Kirsch and Bill Peck. Center Johnny Grinnell, a regular along with Skinner and Williams, was told his scholarship would be renewed if he made the team, which begins practice September 1.

Dr. Marvin said: "The background to this story is Greek to me. I don't mix in the athletic department's business unless I find that an injustice has been done. Athletic Director Max Farrington and Coach Rowland are out of town, but others in the department have assured me that all this is routine.

"They told me these boys were given scholarships on a year-to-year basis, depending on their ability to make each succeeding team," said Dr. Marvin.

Coincident with the dropping of the scholarships was the announcement by Allen W. (Sparky) Adams that he has resigned as G. W.'s trainer after holding the job for a

Fish Biting For Kids at Culler Lake

By Jack Walsh
Post Reporter

A LOT OF Maryland bass fishermen had good reason for wishing they were kids again yesterday.

Constant rains and the resultant muddy streams made the opening of the large-mouth and small-mouth bass season just another day.

But Culler Lake, in Frederick's Baker Park, was clear as a mountain stream. And it contained plenty of bass. The catch was, to coin a good fishing phrase, angling there is for youngsters only.

Some 50 of them were on hand early yesterday morning and in no time at all they had taken 37 bass. One weighed 5 pounds.

Elsewhere, the Potomac, Susquehanna and Monocacy Rivers, usually noted for good smallmouth bass, were too muddy to offer good fishing.

The season for pickerel (pike) also opened in Maryland yesterday and, like the bass season, will run through November 30.

Creel limits for both fish are 10 a day—bass must be at least 10 inches; pike 14 inches. At Lake Roland, Pretty Boy and Loch Raven, in Baltimore County, only five bass may be taken.

FLOUNDER FISHING is reported to be excellent off Ocean City, N. J. Using live minnows, anglers are taking 20 to 50. Best catch last week was made by a Washingtonian, Pierre Digeon of the Honeywell Foundation. He took a 9-pound, 3-ounce flounder.

MISCELLANY—President Ed Cunningham is eager to have word passed along that the Alexandria Chapter of the Izaak Walton League is holding its annual boat ride on July 8. It will be aboard the S.S. Potomac, leaving the 7th st. wharf at 8:30 p. m. An outboard motor is being given as a door prize . . . The Salt Water Sportsman reports a "man bites dog" fish story. Ben Razee of Attleboro, Mass., landed a striped bass and found a small gull in its stomach . . . The West Virginia Conservation Commission will establish hunting dates on July 12 at a regular quarterly meeting. Dr. C. F. McClintic, who became director June 1, will preside. Principal business will be to fix the lengths of the hunting seasons on those species for which opening dates already have been set. They include squirrel, grouse and wild turkey, October 16; rabbit and quail, November 11, and antlered deer November 29. The commission also will set seasons for fur bearers and black bear.

Jim Thackara Defends Title

Jim Thackara will defend his men's singles title when the District open singles tennis tournament for men and women begins Saturday at the Edgemoor Club in Bethesda. Play will continue through July 11.

More than 100 men and about 25 women are entered in the annual event. Last year's women's singles titlist, Ann Gray, is not among them.

Thackara expects his toughest competition from such players as Capt. Robbin Hippensteil, Dr. David Johnsen, Don Leavens, Hugh Lynch and Landon School's Gil Bogley.

Favored women entrants are Charlotte Decker and Willie Herbert, finalists in the recent Evening Star tourney.

Three Baltimore entries have been received. They are Alex Keiles, Bill Fox and Nate Askins, all of whom are highly rated on the Baltimore courts.

Charles Town, W. Va., July 1.—S. M. Follin's Erato, short on name but long on courage, made good for the favorite players here today under a rousing ride by Jockey Johnny Tammaro. In winning her fourth race here and her fifth of the season, the 6-year-old mare drove home two lengths ahead of M. C. Plank's Teddy Smart..

Four lengths farther back came F. E. Westenberger's Army Belle to be third in the field of seven. The track was heavy and holding and Erato was clocked in buggy-horse time of 1:21 for the 6 furlongs, plus 120 feet. She returned a $5 mutual to her legion of backers.

Jocky Woodrow Kirk took Teddy Smart to the front at the break and the gelding set a good pace while Army Belle and Erato followed. In the stretch, Tammaro went to work on his mount and the mare responded with a burst of speed that Teddy Smart could not resist. Army Belle was a tired and leg weary third.

J. T. Harris' Blue April, another 5-year-old mare, turned in a brilliant performance in winning the fifth race, another purse affair. She was last turing in to the stretch but drove between horses to catch Mrs. Newell Ward, jr.'s Slam Bid and win going away. Mercer Love, 3d's Gertie O, was third in the vest pocket field of six going 6½ furlongs. The winner was handled by Apprentice (Rural Delivery) Jones and paid $10.80 after going the distance in 1:25 3/5.

Jockey Freddie Kratz rode two winners on the card, his thirtieth and thirty-first of the meeting. He brought John Red's Inmate from behind to take the seventh event with R. H. Leith's Shambles a close second in a photo finish. In the third race Kratz booted W. R. Chenoworth's Blind Buyer home, leading all the way.

The daily double on the two and four combination paid $84.40. Jockey Sammy Palumbo rode Mrs. J. B. Bond's Cash O'Baby to victory in the first event and Jockey Jimmy Ulmer took the second race with J. F. Murphy's Ariel Breeze.

Pafko's 3-Run Homer in 7th Enables Cubs to Edge Cards, 4-3

Victory Is Third in Row Over St. Louis

Chicago, July 1 (AP).—Andy Pafko pounded out a homerun with two mates aboard to hand the St. Louis Cardinals their third straight defeat by the Chicago Cubs today, 4 to 3, before 17,266.

Murry Dickson had a 3-1 lead in the seventh inning when Eddie Waitkus and Hal Jeffcoat singled to set the stage for Pafko's heroics. It was the eleventh homer of the season for the Cub third sacker.

The three-game series sweep gave the last-place Cubs a 6-3 margin over the Cardinals for the season.

Stan Musial, who maintained his .400 pace with a two-for-five day at the plate, drove in the first two St. Louis runs with singles in the first and third innings to rout Bob Chipman. It was Chipman's second start of the season. Emil Kush held the Cardinals at bay through the next three frames and then Jess Dobernic took over and got credit for his third relief victory.

Miller Paces Phils Over Dodgers, 4-2

Brooklyn, July 1 (AP).—The Philadelphia Phillies extended the Brooklyn Dodgers' losing streak to five games today, beating the defending National League champions, 4-2, behind veteran Schoolboy Rowe.

Eddie Miller, with three straight singles, sparked the Philly drive against Hank Behrman, who was making his first start for the Dodgers. Miller also played a great game in the field to help Rowe attain his fourth triumph.

Intentional walks figured prominently in the Philadelphia scoring. Leading, 1-0, going into the fourth, Bama Rowell doubled. Behrman got the next two batters and then intentionally passed Dick Sisler. Miller and Andy Seminick promptly followed with singles to score Rowell and Sisler.

Cubs Sign Kallas Of Eastern High For Class D Farm

The Chicago Cubs yesterday signed the prize player of last year's Interhigh baseball series, Eastern's Billy Kallas, and assigned him to the Lumberton, N. C., Club of the Class D Tobacco State League.

A shortstop at Eastern for the past two years, the 19-year-old Kallas goes to Lumberton with orders to learn how to play second base. He reports Monday.

The 5-foot, 9-inch 155 pounder was named All-High last year over one of the finest fields of shortstops ever to play Interhigh ball during the same season. He made only one error in 10 games and batted an even .600. He led the league in home runs with three, triples with three and doubles with five.

Benefit Golf Set at Langston

Golf Professionals Wilbur Garner and Bill Brown and Amateurs Lewis Walker and Lester Lewis will play an 18-hole exhibition match at the Langston course Sunday for the benefit of the Junior Police and Citizens Corps.

The foursome were semifinalists in the recent open tournament at Langston. Brown is a former U. S. Negro Amateur champion. There will be no admission charge to the match although a collection will be made for the corps fund.

Dutch Leonard's Luck Runs Bad

MANAGER BEN CHAPMAN OF THE PHILS AND DUTCH LEONARD

Being Beaned Latest Bit of Ill Fortune

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 1 (AP). The luck of Dutch Leonard is becoming a legend in the National League.

Being beaned yesterday in Brooklyn was just another link welded into the chain of ill fortune that has snarled the veteran Philadelphia Phillies' pitcher this year.

How else could a guy turn up in midseason with an unofficial earned run average of 1.96—and still show six losses against seven triumphs?

With an even break in the luck ledger, however, Dutch would have won 10 and dropped but three.

In 112 innings, the 38-year-old knuckleballer has given up less than two earned runs per nine inning. Leonard has allowed only 87 base hits in 15 mound appearances and has completed seven games.

Ben Chapman, the Phils' manager, has this to say about Leonard's effective ess.

"If I had one particular game that I wanted to win, I'd take Dutch to pitch over any one in the league."

Dutch is in a Brooklyn hospital today. He'll stay there until Saturday and then come back to Philadelphia for an X-ray examination at Temple Hospital. Preliminary checks showed no fracture.

How long Leonard will be out of action is not known.

The Brooklyn beaning was merely another item in the long list of tough breaks Dutch has absorbed all season. Here are a few of the others:

1. On May 2, Chapman, in a strategy move, started Leonard against Brooklyn and switched to Lefthander Curt Simmons in the first inning. Leonard pitched to two batters and gave up one hit. The Phils lost, 9-6, and Dutch was charged with the defeat.

2. On May 7, Dutch was workon a 1-0 lead over the St. Louis Cardinals when a batted ball cracked him on the foot and he was forced to leave the game. The Phils lost, 7-4, but Leonard escaped being charged with the loss.

3. On June 2, Dutch pitched a 10-inning shutout against the Chicago Cubs, but miscues in the eleventh enabled the Cubs to tie the count and in the twelfth allowed the Bruins to score the deciding run.

4. On June 12, the Phils battered Pittsburgh pitching for six runs in the first inning but with Leonard leading, 6-1, in the third, rain fell and washed out the game.

5. On June 15, Dutch pitched a sweetheart of a game against the Cardinals, but two errors let in two runs and the Cardinals won the game, 2 to 1.

Despite his tricky knuckleball delivery, Dutch has great control. He has walked only 23 batters this season and has fanned 40.

In addition to his pitching prowess, Leonard is a sharp fielder. He topped National League pitchers in fielding last year with a mark of 1.000.

"How can you describe him?" asks Owner Bob Carpenter. "He's just phenomenal."

7 Wins, 6 Losses With ERA of 1.96

Upsets Mark Day's Play in College Golf

Palo Alto, Calif., July 1 (AP).—Favorites tumbled all over the course today in second and third rounds of the 1948 National Collegiate golf tournament but the defending champion kept marching on.

Dave Barclay of the University of Michigan chalked up second and third round victories in the defense of the title he won last year. But he had to beat out two competitors from North Texas State College at Denton to do it and the going was tough.

The Michigan man first eliminated Palmer Lawrence, winning 1 up with a par 4 on the eighteenth hole after the former had snatched back five holes in a row to even the count. In the afternoon round, the champion went to the twenty-second hole before taking the measure of little Gene Towry.

Towry, after being two down at the ninth, squared the match by winning the seventeenth and eighteenth holes with pars. On the fourth extra hole, Barclay rolled in his putt for a birdie to grab the endurance contest.

Charles Coe of the University of Oklahoma and Joe Moore of Louisiana State were among the second round upset victims.

Rangy Edwin Hopkins of the University of Texas, former Southwest Conference champion, sent Coe into the discard, 3 and 2. Hopkins was one under par figures for the distance and held a 3 up lead at the ninth. Coe was one of the tournament favorites. He reached last year's semifinals in this tournament and won the Trans-Mississippi.

Moore, last of the LSU entries, went down before the superior stroking of Ted Richards of UCLA, the score 5-and-4.

The biggest upset of the day, saw Pete Elliott, one of Michigan's football stars of last season, defeat Harvie Ward, jr. of North Carolina, 3-and-2 in the second round.

Upsetter Elliott himself went down to defeat in the afternoon when he met James Mallory, University of Washington's ace. Mallory won 2-and-1.

The final upending was by Lefthander Loddie Kempa of Oklahoma A. and M., finalist in the national southpaw's tournament last year, ending the competition of Charles "Babe" Lind of the University of Denver, 1 up on the nineteenth.

In the morning round, the Oklahoman also had to go 19 holes to win from Robert Crozier of Stanford. Each time, Kempa won his match with a birdie 4 on the extra hole.

In the lower bracket, Mallory of Washington meets Bob Harris, San Jose State, and Richards of UCLA will pair off with southpaw Kempa.

Joe Kirkwood, Sarazen Lead At Detroit

Detroit, July 1 (AP).—Two ancient veterans of the links who were playing golft before many of the present day stars were born—51-year-old Joe Kirkwood and 46-year-old Gene Sarazen—stepped out today to show the young fry a thing or two in the $15,000 Motor City Open.

Kirkwood, Philadelpha trickshot artist who hasn't won a major tournament in 15 years fired a first round 35-33—68 over the 6618-yard Meadowbrook Country Club to earn a piece of a four-way tie for the first day lead.

Sarazen, the old time Connecticut squire now playing out of Germantown, N. Y., made a steady putting touch pay off for five birdies and was just a stroke behind with 34-35—69.

But youth had ts day too over Meadowbrook's rolling fairways where par is 35-36—71.

Souther Amateur Champon Gene Dahlbender, 24, of Atlanta, banged in seven birdies to offset a pair of three put greens and carded 34-34—68 to share first place with Kirkwood, 30-year-old Marty Furgol, Albuquerque, N. Mex., pro whose home is North Hollywood, Calif., and Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C. Furgol had 33-35—68.

Home Pro Melvin Chick Harbert, 33-year-old Detroit favorite, putted brilliantly on the first leg of the four-day grind for a 35-36—69 that put him in a tie with Sarazen just a stroke back of the leaders.

Another stroke away at 70 were: Ben Hogan, National Open and PGA champion, who holed out a 75-yard aproach shot on the 330-yard eighteenth for an eagle 2 and sank a chip shot from off the green for another deuce at the short eighth.

Also Bobby Locke, the South African star, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Albuquerque, N. M., Clayt Haefner of Charlotte, N. C., Elmer Reed of Atlanta, Ga., and Ky Lafoon, St. Andrews, Ill.

Heading a big brigade with even par 71's, three strokes out of the lead were Stewart (Skip) Alexander of Lexington (N. C.), Jim Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., and Horton Smith of Detroit.

Washington Club In Baltimore Meet

Washington Track and Field Club has entered a five-man team in the annual South Atlantic 15-kilometer championship race at Baltimore Sunday.

Team members are George Shorb, Jimmy Carrick, Robert Bard, John Leiss and James Montague. The race will be held at the Fort Howard Veterans Hospital for the entertainment of the hospitalized vets.

Opie Captures Freestyle Skate Title

Reggie Opie, 19-year-old entrant from Mineola, N. Y., turned in an outstanding performance in the 1948 National Roller Skating Championships last night when he dethroned Jude Cull, of Elizabeth, N. J., in the senior men's freestyle competition at the National Arena with lowest possible total of five ordinals, or points.

The nationals enter the final rounds today and tomorrow when outstanding junior and senior events are featured. The action will open with junior dance eliminations at 8 a. m.

The senior mixed pairs championship went to Charlotte Ludwig and Jude Cull of Elizabeth, N. J., with five points. Trailing were the teams of Violet (Torchy) Garganо-Kurt Hornlin and May Louise Leahy-Rod Hackett. Both teams are also from Elizabeth.

Yesterday's results:

Novice Ladies' Free-Style—Won by Carol Freitag, Bergenfield, N. J., 12 points; second, Helen Burkhardt, Mineola, N. Y., 11 points; third, Alma Garaffa, Port Amboy, N. J., 12 points.

Junior Mixed Pairs—Won by Helen Hayes and James Murray, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., 5 points; second, Doris and Alfred Dahl, Elizabeth, N. J., 13 points; third, Loretta Ruehle and Doug Milne, Plymouth, N. J., 14 points.

Senior Men's Free-Style—Won by Reggie Opie, Mineola, N. Y., five points; second, Jude Cull, Elizabeth, N. J., 11 points; third, William Reed, Bayonne, N. J., 14 points.

Cranford Will Box On Roach Card

Washington Heavyweight Jackie Cranford will face Pittsburgh's Jackie Lyons in a 10-round bout supporting the Laverne Roach-Aaron Perry match July 12 at Griffith Stadium.

It will be the first Washington appearance for Cranford since before his loss to Gino Buonvino last winter in Madison Square Garden.

Lyons will be making his first appearance here. He dropped a decision to Cranford last month at Richmond.

Harvard, Yale Crews Win Heats

Princeton, N. J., July 1 (AP).—Two beaten favorites in the Olympic eight-oared rowing tryouts and one rank outsider found today that they could succeed by trying again.

Yale and Harvard, picked from the beginning as probably semi-finalists, and the West Side Rowing Club of Buffalo, No. 6, which had been completely overlooked, won their repechage heats today.

These victories in the second-trial heats for crews that had been beaten on the first day qualified the winners for tomorrow's semi-finals and set the stage for return engagements with their conquerors.

Yale, which lost to Princeton by less than 6 inches yesterday in the most thrilling race of the series, again will meet the Tigers in tomorrow's first heat. The West Sides will be a third starter in this heat.

Navy Eliminated

Harvard, beaten by Cornell's record-breaking performance the first day, will get another crack at the Big Red crew from up-State New York. Washington, the Poughkeepsie winner and favorite to earn the Olympic designation, will encounter California in the third heat. The three winners will race in the final Saturday.

The four crews which won the first-round races were allowed to rest today while the others had their second trials. This probably will benefit them, especially in view of the hot, humid weather which has prevailed here for a week.

Three crews, Navy, Wisconsin and Massachusetts Tech, were knocked out of the running today and one more, the Wyandotte (Mich.) Boat Club, withdrew without rowing its second race. The Wyandottes took a bad beating in their first trial.

Yale's Time Best

Although the hot weather abated somewhat today, the times weren't nearly as good as those of the opening heats. This was due partly to a light wind which blew directly against the crews for the first mile and then quartered across the course in the last quarter mile, where they came out from the protection of the wooded shore.

Yale, whipping MIT in the final heat by more than a length and a half, turned in the best time, 6 minutes, 18 seconds. Harvard, which was under six minutes in following Cornell's record pace Wednesday, was caught in 6:35 today in beating Navy by about the same margin. The West Sides, who upset Wisconsin by a half-length margin, were timed in 6:38.8.

The semifinal heats tomorrow will follow the same schedule as today, the first starting at 5 p. m. (EST) and the others coming at 20-minute intervals.

Grays Win On Homers, 11-2

Home runs by Sam Bankhead and Luke Easter paced the Washington Homestead Grays to an 11-2 victory over the Newark Eagles last night in a Negro National League game at Griffith Stadium.

Bankhead's homer, with one aboard in the first inning, was a liner into the right-centerfield corner. Easter's two-run circuit smash, with two on in the fifth, was a long fly over the rightfield fence. Easter also had a double and a single to help the Grays keep their grip on first place.

Topping Tells Brown's DeWitt To Mind His Own Business

New York July 1 (U.P.).—President Dan Topping of the New York Yankees told Bill Dewitt of the St. Louis Browns today to mind his own business—"it needs it."

Replying to Dewitt's blast that the Yankees were "pikers" when it came to bidding for ball players which the Brown placed on the market Topping said that the St. Louis general manager had his talent priced out of all reason.

"Once again one of the spokesmen for the Browns had chosen to direct criticism at the manner in which the Yankees operate their baseball enterprise," Topping said. 'It would seem that Mr. Dewitt would be doing a greater service to the St. Louis Browns and to baseball if he would concentrate on building up the Browns rather than tearing them down—and attempting to discredit other members of the American League by ill-advised comments to the press."

Harrell Misses No-Hit Game On Last Out

Ben Harrell, D. C. Fire Department's undefeated righthander, came within one out of a no-hit, no-run game yesterday as the Firemen defeated Eastman Kodak, 11-0, in an Eastern Recreation League game on the East Ellipse.

Moe Zanger's sharp single with two out in the ninth cost Harrell the no-hitter. He struck out 13, walked four and hit a home run in the second inning to sew up his fifth win. The victory moved the Firemen into first place.

Politicians After Louis

Detroit, July 1 (AP).—The Detroit Tribune said today that Joe Louis is being urged to run for a seat in the city council here.

Louis announced his retirement as world's heavyweight champion last week and indicated he might be interested in politics.

The Tribune, a semiweekly Negro newspaper, said several Negro political leaders and public officials have promised their support to Louis if he should seek a council seat left vacant by a recent resignation.

'Fix' Figure Ill

Greensboro, N. C., July 1 (AP).—Emanuel (Ed) Weingarten, former Tri-State and Blue Ridge Baseball League club official, who was banned from organized baseball a month ago, was reported in fair condition today at St. Leo's Hospital where he is suffering from a serious kidney ailment.

The hospital said Weingarten was admitted Tuesday night with a blocked kidney. He had one kidney removed here during the past winter.

Brightman Hurls 5-0 No-Hitter

Righthander Harry Brightman, who does his school pitching for Randolph-Macon Academy, tossed a 5-0 no-hit, no-run game for Marx Jewelers over Costello Post yesterday in the Junior City League game played at Turkey Thicket Field.

Brightman walked four batters, but struck out 10. He received a boost from Rightfielder Sal DiGiorgi, who clouted a home run in the ninth inning.

Naval Receiving Edges Marines, 3-2

Naval Receiving Station edged Marine Institute, 3 to 2, yesterday in a Potomac Naval River Command League game at Anacostia.

Chief Deardoff hurled 8-hit ball for the winners, striking out 10. His mates lent him solid support, chipping in four double plays. The Receiving Station now has nine wins and six losses and is in fourth place.

McKee Wins, 6-4

McKee Pontiac's Flying Clouds defeated VFW Post 127 by a 6-4 margin yesterday at Fairlawn. John Harvath, McKee pitcher, struck out 15 men.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that an application has been filed with the Federal Communications Commission requesting the written consent of the Commission to the assignment by Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., to WTOP, INC., of the license for standard broadcast station WTOP, Washington, D. C., the license for remote pickup station WAEW, and the conditional grant for WTOP-FM, Washington, D. C.

Said application was filed pursuant to an agreement dated June 10, 1948, between Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., The Washington Post Company and WTOP, INC. wherein, subject to the conditions specified therein, Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., proposes to transfer to WTOP, INC., the properties and equipment of said stations described in the said application and associated documents, valued under the agreement at Six Hundred Ninety-Nine Thousand Nine Hundred Thirty Dollars ($699,930.00), in exchange for nine thousand (9,000) shares of the capital stock without par value, of WTOP, INC. Upon consummation of the transaction, The Washington Post Company will own fifty-five per cent (55%) and Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., forty-five per cent (45%) of the stock of WTOP, INC., and the forty-five per cent (45%) will be placed in a Voting Trust with the President of The Washington Post Company as voting trustee. The agreement further provides for the assignment to and assumption by WTOP, INC., of a lease, specified contracts, etc., and for the furnishing by Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., and The Washington Post Company to WTOP, INC., of additional funds up to One Million Dollars ($1,000,000.00) upon the conditions and for the purpose therein specified.

Further details concerning the terms and conditions of the proposed assignment and the arrangements in connection therewith may be obtained by an examination of the application and associated documents on file in the offices of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D. C.

Pursuant to Section 1.321 of the Rules and Regulations of the Federal Communications Commission any person desiring to acquire the facilities upon the same terms and conditions may file an application to that effect with the Federal Communications Commission within sixty (60) days from June 16, 1948, the date of the first publication of this notice. IN THE MUNICIPAL COURT OF THE District of Columbia, Civil Division. William A. Barber, d/b/a Barber's Radio Service, 10th and G and Maine ave. sw., Washington, D. C., plaintiff, vs. James E Kelly, University Station, Box 1128, Charlottesville, Va., defendant. No. B-473694. Order. The object of this suit is to recover the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-eight Dollars Seventy-five Cents ($498.75), said amount representing the balance due for certain notices and tubes sold and delivered by plaintiff to defendant in October, 1947, and to have judgment and condemnation of certain property of defendant levied on under an attachment issued in this suit to satisfy the plaintiff's claim. It is therefore this 28th day of June, 1948, ordered that the defendant cause his appearance to be entered herein on or before the fortieth (40th) day, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, after the date of the first publication of this order, to defend this suit and show cause why said condemnation should not be had; otherwise, the cause will be proceeded with as in case of default. WASHINGTON: FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1948

PECANS, one of Mississippi's important crops, were used in making this tempting pie. The recipe for this delicious dessert is given by Mrs. Whitten on this page

Magnolia State Favorites

Mississippi Likes Pie—After Fried Chicken

This is the fourth in a series of articles on regional cooking in the United States, featuring favorite recipes of wives of the Nation's lawmakers.

By Lucia Brown

OLD-FASHIONED Southern cooking with modern overtones—that's the kind favored in the Magnolia State, according to pretty Mrs. Jamie L. Whitten, wife of the Representative from Mississippi's Second Congressional District.

Down where the cotton fields lie level in the sun and the bayous meander up from the Mississippi, people are partial to fried chicken and smoked ham, hot bread with almost every meal, and vegetables cooked with a bit of "sidemeat."

But Mississippi homemakers, like homemakers everywhere, enjoy trying out new ideas in salads and desserts, says Mrs. Whitten, and in finding attractive and different ways of dressing up favorites before they come to the table.

Mississippians who live along the Gulf Coast take their seafood seriously, but up in central Mississippi, Mrs. Whitten's home territory, menus follow an inland Southern pattern. In general, though, natives of the State like their food rich and well-flavored, and they like it to look good.

Charleston, Miss.—on the eastern edge of the Delta—is home for Mr. and Mrs. Whitten, although they have lived in Washington for seven years now. A Charleston lawyer, Mr. Whitten was elected to Congress in 1941 upon the resignation of the Hon. Wall Doxey. He and Mrs. Whitten are among the younger members of the congressional group and the parents of two youngsters, Jimmy, aged 6, and Beverly, 2. Here in Washington, they live at 2117 Fort Davis dr. se.

Typical Sunday dinner menu at the Whitten house might be the following, says the wife of the Mississippi Representative:

Tomato Juice Cocktail
Fried Chicken
Rice and gravy Green beans
Garden salad
Hot rolls Iced tea
Pie

The beans would be cooked with several strips of bacon—really cooked, too, for about an hour and a half. The pie might be one of several Mississippi favorites that Mrs. Whitten likes to make. One is "Black Bottom Pie," which features a layer of chocolate and a layer of white cream mixture, chilled in the refrigerator. Another is a succulent concoction of pecans and cane syrup. The third is a luscious coconut cream pie. Here are the recipes:

BLACKBOTTOM PIE CRUST

14 ginger snaps
5 tablespoons melted butter

Roll out fine and pat into pie pan to make crust. Bake in hot oven 10 minutes, then allow to cool.

FILLING

2 cups milk, scalded
4 egg yolks, beaten
1 cup sugar
1¼ tablespoons cornstarch
1½ squares chocolate
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
4 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
2 tablespoons rum

Scald milk in double boiler and add beaten egg yolks slowly. Combine ½ cup sugar with cornstarch and stir in slowly. Cook in double boiler 20 minutes, stirring occasionally, until mixture coats spoon. Remove and take out one cupful. To this add the chocolate, melted, and beat well. Add vanilla, then pour into pie crust and chill.

Mix gelatin with the cold water. Blend thoroughly and add to remaining hot custard. Let cool while you beat egg whites into stiff meringue. Add to them cream of tartar and ½ cup sugar. Fold into custard and add rum. As soon as chocolate custard is set, pour this on top. Chill again. Shave half a square of bitter chocolate into flakes and scatter over pie.

PECAN PIE

3 whole eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup dark corn syrup
½ cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
few grains salt
1 cup pecan meats, whole

Beat eggs slightly. Add syrup, sugar, and pecans. Line pie plate with pastry and pour in filling. Bake in 450° oven for 15 minutes. Turn heat down to 300° and bake 40 minutes. When you turn heat down, place a pan of cold water in oven just above the pie and leave it there during the remainder of the baking. (One cup white corn syrup and 2/3 cup brown sugar can be substituted for dark corn syrup and white sugar.) This pie is delicious served a la mode.

COCONUT CREAM PIE

4 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 cup shredded coconut
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 baked 9-in. pie shell

Combine sugar, flour and salt in top of double boiler. Add milk and egg yolks, mixing thoroughly. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from boiling water and add one cup coconut and vanilla. Cool slightly, then turn into pie shell. Make meringue as follows:

2 egg whites
4 tablespoons sugar
½ cup shredded coconut

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Pile lightly on filling. Sprinkle with coconut. Bake in moderate oven (350° Fahrenheit) 15 minutes, or until browned.

By Charles De Vecchio—The Washington Post

Bureau of Nutrition Marks 25th Anniversary

Serving the Nation's Homemakers

A QUARTER century of serving the Nation's largest occupational group—homemakers—was marked by the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics yesterday.

The celebration was a modest one, but the busy bureau did take time, in a program presented in the Department of Agriculture auditorium at 3 p. m., to review some of its work on behalf of the American family and point with pride to a few of its accomplishments.

Birthday Greetings

Dr. Hazel K. Stiebeling, chief of the bureau, presided. Charles H. Brannan, Secretary of Agriculture, extended "birthday" greetings. Guest speaker was Dr. Pearl Swanson of the American Home Economics Association, an organization which played a large part in the bureau's founding 25 years ago.

There was a movie, too, that showed just what the bureau has been doing since it was created by act of Congress on a summer day in 1923. Titled "Research for Better Living," it pictured the various activities of this relatively small organization—only 240 employes in Washington and its Beltsville, Md., laboratories.

Thirty-two million homemakers, whose chief concern is how to clothe, house and feed their families properly, are in turn the chief concern of the bureau. It was established, Dr. Stiebeling explained, "because women of the country kept asking for information on food, clothing and housing, information that could come only from research."

More than 100 million copies of booklets on these subjects have been distributed by the Bureau since its founding.

Pioneering Achievements

Among its major achievements of the past 25 years are counted the following:

Pioneering in designing women's work clothes that bring greater comfort, efficiency and safety in farm, factory and household work.

Conducting intensive research which has put home canning on a more exact scientific basis.

Making the first study of body measurements of women and children on a Nation-wide scale, to help the clothing industry in producing better-fitting clothes.

Cooperating with other Federal agencies in obtaining the first comprehensive picture of American family spending and saving habits in a 1935-36 study.

Calling attention strongly to nutritional needs by its estimate that one third of the Nation was ill-fed in 1934-36, as judged by dietary standards and a study of more than 5,000 family food records.

Translating human needs for calories, proteins, minerals, and vitamins into family food needs at different cost levels.

Issuing comprehensive tables of food composition, based on regular reviews of the world's scientific literature.

Dr. W. V. Lambert, administrator of the Agricultural Research Administraton, also extended greetings to the bureau at yesterday's celebration. His administration oversees its work. Miss Ruth O'Brien, assistant chief of the bureau, presented its "picture album" and Dr. Stiebeling told of work in which it is now engaged.

Where to Find Pattern Paper

I have some patterns which are perfect for me, and what you might call classic styles. By very little changes, they are always in style. I have used the patterns so much they are falling apart. Is there some kind of sturdy paper that I can cut new patterns from and so save them? I haven't been able to find any pattern paper to use in making new ones. J. M.

I do not seem able to find a firm which sells tissue suitable in size and weight for patterns. However, there is an artist's supply store on 10th st. which sells a white poster paper similar to lightweight white wrapping paper. This comes 36 inches wide and sells by the yard or by the 60 yard roll. If you wished something transparent, the same store sells a tracing paper which comes in 6-yard rolls, but it is only 18 inches wide. This store can be reached by calling National 7888.

We have a sofa-bed which is upholstered in brick-colored tough cotton twist. Our baby-sitter spilled ink on it. We have tried soap and water, lemon juice and ink-remover (eradicator) to no avail. How can I get the ink off without taking the color too? What would be the best way to clean the entire sofa-upholstery ourselves? S. D. P.

Your chances of removing this stain are not very good. Even if it were possible to remove the ink without affecting the color, you have the additional problem of also removing the ink which has soaked into the padding under the upholstery. About the only way to do that would be to first remove the upholstery. However, you might be able to make the spot lighter by applying a paste made by mixing corn meal and one part alcohol to one part of water. Work this paste into the stain, brushing it away as it takes up ink and adding more fresh paste. Continue until the absorbent fails to take up more ink. Any stain remaining would have to be removed by a bleach, but as you suggest that would also remove the upholstery color.

The sofa upholstery can be cleaned by shampooing with a soap jelly. To make the jelly, dissolve one cup of mild soap flakes in two cups of water. Let cool and whip with an egg beater. Be sure to make plenty, for you clean with the suds alone. Now, apply the lather to a small area of the upholstery—say 12 inches square—and brush in a circular motion until the area is clean. Add clean suds whenever necessary to clean the area completely. When clean, wipe

Miss Webster to Be Nominated For BPW Head at Convention

Two local BPW members will be in the fight for national offices when the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs opens its biennial convention, July 4, in Fort Worth, Tex. The District group will nominate Marjorie Fraser Webster for the presidency, and Mrs. Ruth Robinson Roach for the vice presidency.

Miss Webster, president and owner of the Marjorie Webster Junior College here, is a past president of the D. C., BPWC.

Mrs. Roach, who hails from Kansas City, is an active member of the District chapter, which is composed of more than 900 members.

There'll be a large delegation on hand to root for the nominees. Miss Genevieve Rogers, newly installed president of the District Club, will head the group emplaning today for the conclave. In the contingent will be Mrs. Alyce Gatlin, Miss Lois Long, Mrs. Flora Mordhorst, Mrs. Marion H. Jones, Miss Mae Murray and Miss Jule T. Quilter.

Alternate delegates attending will be Miss Ora Morsino, Miss Emma Curran, Miss Almyra Campbell, Miss Inez Justus, Miss Catherine Martin, and Col. Mary Agnes Brown, who is serving in the dual capacity as alternate delegate and member of the national nominating committee.

In addition to the official conclave delegates will be several members of the District Club including, Miss Marguerite Rawalt, Dr. Charl Ormond Williams, Mrs. Catherine Winston, Mrs. Margaret Moore, Miss Clara Longstreth, Miss June Cleveland, Miss Catherine Blivens, Mrs. Grandis King, and Miss Webster.

Bride of English Widower Is Disconcerted By His 14-Year-Old Son's Irrational Hate Campaign Against Her, Backed by Grandmother

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Last December I married Jim, an English widower whom I had known four months. His first wife (a Czech) died 10 years ago, leaving him two sons, now 14 and 10, students in an English boarding school. Jim's work requires him to spend six months in this country, six in England, every year.

We were a happy couple until Easter, when the boys arrived to spend the holidays with us, prepared by their father's letters for a friendly relationship with me, we thought. However, when we met, the shock on the older boy's face was plain to see, though the younger boy took to me at once, calling me mother of his own accord and treating me with great affection, as if I were his own flesh-and-blood.

The older boy's attitude was rude and insulting to me throughout, though I tried my best to establish good friendship, keeping him supplied with spending money, giving him parties, inviting crowds of teen-agers for his company, encouraging his father to take him out alone to entertainments, sports, etc. Also, his father sat down many times for man-to-man talks with him, but all in vain. His hostility persisted.

Shortly before the boys were to return to England, we heard a terrible racket in Jim's study. Reason: Frank, the older boy, had "caught" the younger making me a birthday card, had torn it up, and was giving him a merciless thrashing, also warning Dick (the younger) that he would suffer further at his hands if he continued to call me "mother."

Calls the Bride "Damn Foreigner"

AT THE END of his patience, my husband took Frank upstairs, laid him across a bed and caned him severely. The next morning Frank came down to breakfast late, after his father had gone, ignored my greetings, and fed himself standing. A young friend came in, asked him why he was eating thus and he replied loudly, so I would hear, "That damn foreign wife of father's got me into a load of trouble by sneaking about me..."

No sooner had the boys reached England that Jim's mother started writing him horrible letters about me, saying that Frank had told her how dreadfully I treated him, how I henpeck my husband, want my own way about everything, etc.; and although Jim has fully explained the truth to her, these letters still come. She champions Frank absolutely, it seems.

Jim and I will be going to England soon and I dread meeting his family and friends, in view of Frank's hostile campaign against me. My first marriage was a real failure and I do want this one to be a great success. I want terribly to win the good opinion of Jim's people, especially the good will of Frank, whose intense dislike of me I cannot understand. Incidentally, I am 33, and was a divorcee when Jim married me. K. C.

Boy Is Stooge Of Grandmother

DEAR K. C.: Obviously Frank and his grandmother are very close, and her obstinate "will" to believe the worst about you, per his irrational-hate version, suggests that she initiated his prejudice against "foreign" females.

Also I daresay that her original venom on this score was inspired by Jim's first marriage to a Czech (Frank's mother), who spoke with a "slight accent." Gran is a "Mom" in relation to eldest sons, even unto the second and third generations, it seems.

Dick's heart was open to you, i.e., open to mothering, because Gran hasn't bothered much about him, probably, concentrating her stranglehold interest on Jim and Frank. I wonder why Jim remained a widower for 10 years? Was he waiting to meet the woman who most nearly resembled his first wife? Or did he marry you on his first getaway from England and his mother's surveillance?

Here Is Problem For Specialists

FRANK came to this country prepared to hate, revile and reject you, unconsciously conditioned to do his Mom-grandma's dirtywork for her; and the shock on his face at first meeting probably reflected an instant's naive consternation to see a woman so disarming, so lovable seeming, when imaginatively he was anticipating a fiend. But immediately he tightened his defenses, to carry the fight as Gran would have him do.

Thus Gran is the real adversary waiting in England to cut your throat; and Frank, poor lad, doubtless is a study in abnormal psychology at this point in his experience, which means that Jim's first business on reaching England should be to consult the Tavistock Clinic in London, or similar reliable psychiatric center, for advices on how to save Frank—and the marriage—from malign influences, if possible. Democrats to Have Campaign School

By Genevieve Reynolds

While the Democratic male politicos decide candidates' fate in the famous smoke-filled rooms during the party's convention in Philadelphia, the gentler sex will hold classes in practical vote-getting techniques. First convention ever to feature expert instruction on door bell-ringing levels, the Campaign School will open its doors Tuesday, July 13, 9 a. m., in the ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia.

Dynamic Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, wife of the Assistant Secretary of Navy for Air, and Washington's famous hostess, Mrs. George Mesta, who co-chairmaned the National Jefferson-Jackson Day dinners, will be among the speakers and instructors. Pretty Mildred Pepper, wife of the senior Senator from Florida, will be another school marm at one of the two sessions of the school, which is being sponsored by the Women's Division, Democratic National Committee.

Hard-working Mrs. Charles F. Brannan, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, will be there to give down-to-earth advice to convention delegates. For several years she has worked quietly and efficiently at what ever task the Woman's National Democratic Club here has assigned to her.

Mrs. Clark Clifford, wife of the Special Counsel to the President, will be another instructor on Tuesday's two-hour sessions on organization at county, precinct levels and house-to-house canvassing.

Also scheduled to speak on the same program is petite, brown-eyed Mrs. T. Lamar Caudle, wife of the United States Assistant Attorney General, who hails from the Tar Heel State.

Then there will be such veteran campaigners as Mrs. India Edwards, executive director of the Women's Division, DNC; Frances Satterfield of Atlanta, Ga., former research director of the Women's Division; Ann Barley, radio script writer and author of "Patrick Calls Me Mother," and alert Mrs. Philip Owen of this city, currently secretary of the International Legislation Information Service.

Also, Mrs. William H. Davis, a past president of the Woman's National Democratic Club, who now holds the imposing title of national chairman, Women in World Affairs.

Gotham, in Gay Mood, Goes To Bon Voyage Parties, Celebrates Anniversary

By Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer

NEW YORK, July 1.—This summer Gotham is no gay metropolis. High bracket boys and girls idle on Long Island or flit Europewards. Bon voyage parties have grown so gaily unwieldy, with 10,000-plus see-er-off-ers for each luxury ship sailing, that the Cunard Lines limited each passenger to a brace of guests.

The Republican Women's Committee, at a final meeting, moved their headquarters to 535 5th ave. and will undoubtedly bore from within this summer to raise their campaign quota of $350,000. Meanwhile, the overjoyed Republicans, their place in the sun no longer a mirage, are tossing ambassadorships and Cabinet posts about with gay abandon. Prominent in the local Republican limelight is Harold Talbott, who pried the first and toughest hundred thousand dollars for the Dewey preconvention campaign. Handsome, wealthy, polo playing, yet a shrewd businessman, his pals insist he will be envoy to the Court of St. James's.

The City Celebrates

ON JUNE 12, with an eight-hour parade depicting New York at work, the city opened its fiftieth anniversary celebration of the amalgamation of all five boroughs. Next on the program is an international air show at the Idlewild Airport, but most fascinating will be the mammoth fashion show staged and financed by the industry at Grand Central from August 23 to September 19.

Every afternoon, every weekend, every evening some 200 models will parade down a circular golden runway. New York's fashion industry is made up of 20 different units comprising everything from men's, women's and children's clothes through cosmetics, furs and what is known to the trade as "intimate apparel."

The latter apparel will not be shown, but the commentator will discuss its importance in regard to milady's silhouette. There will be some hundred women's models, 20 for children's wear and 15 for men's clothing. The whole job is being dramatically staged by Tom Leigh.

In addition, the fashion industry is getting out a remarkable golden anniversary souvenir book, and 20,000 copies are being mailed to libraries, museums, State Governors and foreign heads of state. The book covers New York's fashion industry from 1898 to today, and has been assembled quite regardless of expense.

New 'Gibson Girl' Named

AN AMUSING angle when the show's models were being chosen was to persuade the original Gibson Girl to pick her successor. The model for Charles Dana Gibson's famous beauty was his sister-in-law, Nora Langhorne, now Mrs. "Lefty" Flynn. Lady Astor's kid sister, picked out Dana Chessman as her ringer and the fashion experts had fun comparing their respective measurements.

Almost dimmed by the fashion hullabaloo, two other integral parts of New York's makeup will stage exhibits in Grand Central Palace. They will be communications and utilities and smaller facets such as the city's water system. It's educational, ditto will show what makes their wheels run.

Come July, New York's retail stores will put on a promotion featuring the merchandise shown in the fashion show. Coordinator of the whole works is Eleanor Lambert, the chic public relations expert, who in private life is the wife of Seymour Berkson, who heads the International News Service.

away the soiled lather with a clean cloth wrung out of clear water. Continue wiping until the small area is thoroughly rinsed, changing rinse water frequently. When rinsed, wipe the upholstery as dry as possible with a soft, dry cloth. Wash adjoining areas in the same way, being careful to overlap the areas as you wash to avoid leaving soiled streaks. When entire piece has been gone over, place out-of-doors in breeze and sun to dry, or if that isn't possible turn an electric fan onto the piece until thoroughly dry.

I spilled some of the new wax preparation now sold for cleaning glass, silver, etc., on a mahogany table. How do I get it off? P. L. A.

I am told by a chemist that this preparation contains nothing that should be harmful to a wood finish and that the spot on the table is probably just a surface deposit of the liquid. More of the same preparation should take it off, or usual furniture polishing methods.

I have an upholstered armchair on which some fountain pen ink has been spilled. Could you recommend some method for removing the stain? P. J. M.

It is very difficult to remove ink from upholstery because it is impossible to get a pad under the stain to absorb the ink as it is driven from the fabric. Also, there are so many different kinds of ink that usually several methods must be tried before it is removed. Start with the simplest first. Dampen the spot and work cornstarch or talcum powder into the stain. If the powder takes up ink, brush away and repeat. When the dry powder fails to take up more ink, make the cornstarch into a paste with one part water and one part alcohol and apply again. Let dry and brush off.

If some ink still remains and the material is washable, rub one of the soapless shampoos into the stain. Rinse thoroughly and quickly with clear water. Continue as long as ink is removed. Be sure to rinse thoroughly with clear water and sponge in such a way as to avoid spreading the ring. If these treatments fail to remove all of the ink, sponge it with a half-and-half mixture of household ammonia and hydrogen peroxide. This is a mild bleach and so should not be allowed to remain on the material more than a few minutes. Be sure to test the effect of the solution on the color in an inconspicuous spot.

The seriousness of ink stains on upholstery and rugs can be considerably lessened if, while the spot is still wet, constarch, cornmeal or talcum powder is dusted into it to absorb the ink and reduce the chance of its spreading and penetrating the padding under the upholstery. Brush away when the absorbent will absorb no more ink and repeat.

On the Town

SINCE the days when the Keystone cops were popping people on the head in silent flickers people in the show business have adopted glamorous names that the public can easily remember, or names that will make them sound more romantic. Susy Glutz becomes Susette de-Corno and Rose Klein becomes Dottie LaFleur . . . When you run across someone who hasn't changed the name and is still in show business, well that's news.

Ruth Brown

By coincidence we have a young lass in town at the moment who is one of the few people to stick to their real name. She's Ruth Brown, the singer with Eric Correa's orchestra in the Mayflower lounge. A long time ago, she's a sage 19 now, Ruth was blessed with a very cute face and cursed with a nature that was shy to a fault. Ruth decided to do something about it and talked her pappy into footing the bill for a course in modeling, with the thought that it might be able to shape her personality to go with the face and figure. A pact was made and Ruth became a model in a small agency in New York. An agent saw her picture and decided she might do well in show biz. After an audition he signed her up.

All this was a very little while ago, because she's actually been working in the Mayflower for three weeks and this is her first singing job. But to get back to the original story, Ruth's name is really spelled Browne, but the change wasn't made by Ruth. Seems that before she arrived in town she had been publicized as Brown, and being a cooperative young lass she agreed to keep the name minus the "E" for the time being. Her only reason for not changing the name is that all her friends back home asked her not to, so that they could read about her when she hit the top. From the singing of "Trees" at the age of 10 in grammar school to a billing in the Mayflower isn't bad progress in nine years.

WE can't forget the weather so let's talk about it. Dona Mason, who spends her nights singing in the King Cole Room, has been spending her afternoons in the Wardman Park pool. Another songstress who finds it a lot cooler swimming than singing is Floren Harper, who sings with Basil Fomeen's orchestra in the Carlton Congo Room.

You can't stay in the pool all the time since the need for food makes itself known now and then. One of the cool spots in town is the roof garden at Ciro's. You can sit there and munch on your Italian dinner while you watch the scenery on the streets. They've also made a special little Pizza room downstairs for the people who enjoy that spicy dish.

Tomorrow begins the Fourth of July weekend and a lot of people won't be able to get out of town. If you're looking for a spot to dance and keep cool at the same time try Chesapeake Beach Park. Art Moony, the boy who made a comeback on "Four-Leaf Clover" will be there with his orchestra for one night. The dance floor is open to the bay on three sides which makes for cool dancing. On your way down there and back remember to give the other driver a chance. We all like to live and fewer people have been doing it lately.

Minnesota Society Elects Officers

Mrs. Stanley C. Hedstrom of Arlington was reelected president of the Minnesota State Society at the annual meeting in the Wardman Park Hotel recently.

Other officers include Rolland W. Stoebe, vice president; Miss Leona M. Albachten, treasurer; Donald W. Larsen, secretary, and Mrs. Joseph H. Ball, Curtis A. Christianson, Lieut. Col. Paul A. Feyereisen, Everett C. Norberg, Gustaf A. Nordin, Floyd D. Peterson, Edwyn C. Rydlun and Reuben D. Siverson are members of the board of governors for three years in addition to filling several vacancies on the board.

Daily "Mail Bag" Proves Chivalry Still Lives

Dear Bill:

Chivalry still lives!

When I returned to my car, which was parked on a side street, I found a flat tire. As I contemplated it with great dismay, I heard a pleasant voice ask:

"Got a flat, lady? If you have a spare, I'll change it for you in a jiffy."

My Knight in Shining Armor emerged from his taxicab, changed the tire quickly and expertly, and answered my thanks with:

"No trouble at all, lady. I always make it a point to stop and help people with flat tires."

His license number was H-4822. I think his chivalrous act deserves public acknowledgment.

Helen Eldredge.
2110 Spencer rd.,
Silver Spring, Md.

Dear Helen:

Indeed it does. Your Sir Walter Raleigh is Elmer Wyatt of 5020 Wisconsin ave. nw., who drives for the Eastern Cab Co., and doesn't think there's anything remarkable about a fellow being friendly and helpful.

Bill.

SHE GOT THE LAST WORD

I didn't hear this one myself, but V. McNeill of 2645 15th st. nw. tells me it happened on the Lux program the other day.

The heroine's tormentors had been giving her a rough time, and when she couldn't take any more, she yelled, "Stop it. Stop it."

At that point the entire program stopped, and after an embarrassing silence a voice cut in to announce that unforeseen technical difficulties had arisen.

So, temporarily at least, the heroine got her wish.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

I see that Olmsted's has whipped up three new Republican dishes—avocado Warren, Stassen fruit salad, and appetizer Dewey.

The first two I can understand. Avocados, California, Warren. Okay.

The second is easy, too. Stassen, Navy, medals, fruit salad.

But that third one stops me. Appetizer Dewey turns out to be jellied consomme—and shrimp.

If anybody is planning to create some Democratic dishes, permit me to suggest that, after November, hash may be very appropriate. Or well-cooked goose.

OWED TO A GROCER

I know it ain't your fault, my friend,
When prices go still higher.
But if they climb a little more
You're going to lose a buyer.

I'll have to learn to do without
And stop my constant bleating,
But please explain how I'm supposed
To live when I quit eating.

PERSONAL NOTES

Sam Huff, Arlington, Va.: When using fluid drive, does one "throw in" the clutch? Bessie (my Pontiac) doesn't even have a clutch. I find it a distinct improvement over my 1936 Chevrolet, which didn't have brakes.

ADD NAMES

WTOP's Eddie Gallagher has a program (10 a.m., Saturdays) called "Let's Play Baseball." It requires the services of two honorary "coaches" each week.

So this week Eddie has arranged for one team to be coached by Warren Dewey, of 2012 N. Taft st., Arlington, Va.

For the other team, he's trying to get one of our local Trumans. He doesn't want to press his luck too far, but he's wondering somewhat wistfully whether there could be such a person as Douglas Truman, who might live on O'Mahoney st.

Oh, by the way—just in case you're curious, Warren Dewey of Taft st. is a Republican, I asked.

OVERHEARD

He: My! I wish I felt as cool as you look.

She: So do I.

Leonard Lyons . . .

NEW YORK—Another Eisenhower story concerns the trustees of Columbia University who, after arranging for the alteration job on the house which the general is to occupy—alterations to suit his requirements—were disturbed by the growing clamor for his accepting a presidential nomination. One trustee sent an inquiry to him, to learn whether, after Columbia spent a large sum to alter the house, he planned to move into it or into the White House. "I propose," Eisenhower assured the trustee, "to live in the house of the president of Columbia."

Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticutt is trying to organize a privately financed group to propagandize, throughout the world, the potentialities of the atom bomb . . . Elliott Roosevelt will be inside Convention Hall when the Democratic Convention opens in Philadelphia.

Brackett & Wilder, who wrote Paramount's new delightful hit, "A Foreign Affair," preferred the title "Operation Candy-Bar." Jean Arthur, who plays the role of a Congresswoman, must have listened to many recordings of Dorothy Thompson. Her voice and delivery are exactly like Miss Thompson's.

James Mason has just written a book, and is writing a second book in collaboration with his wife, Pamela Kellino—who also is writing her own book . . . A high New Dealer, who read of Sewell Avery's fight with his Montgomery Ward officials, said: "He runs a corporation the way corporation executives think Government officials run Government agencies."

Democratic Committee Wavers

By Drew Pearson

Despite optimistic statements by Democratic Chairman Howard McGrath, the Democratic National Committee has begun to fall apart at the seams. McGrath is trying desperately to hold it together behind President Truman—but it isn't holding.

McGrath

One national committeeman, Eugene Mahoney of Sioux Falls, S. D., has written McGrath a letter urging him to conduct an honest poll of the grass roots before trying to nominate Truman.

"As I understand it, it is not the duty of the National Committee to at all costs endeavor to bring about the nomination of President Truman," wrote Mahoney. "It is the duty and responsibility of the National Committee to lead the Democratic Party to victory and to take the leadership in bringing about the nomination of a candidate who can win.

"I would suggest that you as chairman of the Democratic Party make a very comprehensive survey of the Nation, and let the results of that survey guide you in your course of action. I would also suggest that that survey not be confined to a few political leaders, but that you actually make a grass-roots survey as was only done by Jim Farley in 1932.

"No doubt," Mahoney concluded, "if President Truman knew the true situation, he would step aside and withdraw to aid and assist in the selection of a candidate who could and would win."

Inside Yugoslavia

One clew as to what's happening inside Yugoslavia is a speech Marshal Tito made at a secret meeting of the Oblasni Egzekutivni Odbor (Red Executive Board) at Zagreb a short time ago. Speaking to his fellow Communist leaders, Tito was extremely frank in admitting trouble inside Yugoslavia. Here is a translation of one part of his speech:

"Comrades, you know very well that the peasant is not with us. This was made quite evident with the state's purchase of grain surpluses. The plan was a failure, as less than 50 per cent of the fixed quantity was delivered by the peasants. The peasant is cunning and refractory and his belief in gods and priests cannot easily be driven out of his mind. Because of that, we have had many difficulties and troubles. I will not indulge now in matters of religion, but if some day the priests rouse the people by ringing the church bells, it is certain we shall have to face a complete uprising. And the peasants are well armed.

"On account of all that, I have issued all necessary orders and instructions. We need time for a complete success. Therefore, get to work and work hard, as there is not much time left. I wish you, comrades, much luck and full success!"

Note—It may have been that Moscow, because of internal troubles in Yugoslavia, decided to junk Tito.

Special Congress?

Some White House advisers are strongly urging the President to call Congress back for a special session immediately after the Democratic Convention.

They tell Truman he should insist on enactment of major legislation, such as the Taft-Ellender-Wagner public housing bill, which though blocked in Congress, was indorsed in the GOP Convention platform.

Friends tell Truman that if GOP leaders continue to block housing during the special session, he could then charge them with failure to carry out platform pledges.

Other advisers, however, have told Truman it would be wiser politically not to call a special session, but to let these Republicans stew in the juice of their congressional mistakes.

Since the President plans to make Congress his No. 1 campaign issue if nominated, the latter is probably what he will do.

Under the Dome

AFL President William Green was even hotter against the Republicans in his private talk to President Truman than when he issued his blast later. "The Republicans," Green told Truman, "ignored us at Philadelphia. There was nothing favorable to labor in the platform. We didn't have a look-in." . . . J. D. Parker, the North Carolina winemaker indicted for income-tax evasion, has entered a Virginia mental institution—some people think to get out of a very tight fix. But while supposed to be sick, Parker has been seen on the streets of Raleigh—so the Justice Department will prosecute anyway . . . Negotiations between London and Washington for Britain's participation in the Marshall Plan are stymied. The British accuse us of trying to regulate the pound sterling in return for Marshall Plan aid. For two weeks diplomats haven't been able to break the deadlock.

Spaatz Speaks

One reason Air Chief of Staff "Tooey" Spaatz retired from the Army was that he felt he could do the Air Force more good on the outside. For the first time, he is now preparing to speak his mind fearlessly in a flood of magazine and newspaper articles.

Unhampered by military restrictions, Spaatz will tell bluntly how he thinks America should meet the threat of another war. He will also warn that the United States will have two independent air forces on its hands as long as the Navy is given free rein in the air.

Merry-Go-Round

When newly elected GOP Chairman Hugh Scott of Philadelphia walked into the first meeting of the Republican National Committee, only four members recognized their new boss. He was really appointed by Joe "High Tariff" Grundy to make sure Pennsylvania gets its share of jobs . . . The battle between Pennsylvania's Gov. Jim Duff and the Martin-Grundy machine didn't just happen at Philadelphia. For some time Duff has been trying to build up a revitalized, progressive Republicanism, with Grundy-Martin desperately trying to block him. Now that Dewey has given Pennsylvania's huge chunk of 40,000 Federal jobs to the Grundy-Martin machine, it will go merrily forward. Progressive Republicanism in Pennsylvania is out . . . Stan Arnold of "Star Spangled Banter," who loves history-probing, points out that no Democratic Vice President who became President because of death in the White House has ever been reelected. All who have been reelected were Republicans. Truman's chances to break the precedent are poor.

3 Ships to Visit Mediterranean

The Navy announced yesterday it will send three ships, including a small carrier, to Mediterranean and Persian Gulf ports between July 18 and September 15.

The cruise will include visits to Gibraltar, Maddelina, Sardinia, Naples, Phaleron Bay, Greece; Izmer, Turkey, and three ports on the Persian Gulf.

The ships are the escort carrier Siboney, the amphibious command ship Pocono and the fast destroyer transport Carpellotti. They will leave Hampton Roads about July 17.

Phantom Pals

Our daughter has some playmates whom . . . We do not see or hear . . . But who are constant company . . . For our Kristina dear . . . Including little Rusty and . . . Delightful Marianne . . . Red Riding Hood and Goldilocks . . . And sprightly Peter Pan . . . She talks to them continually . . . When it is light or dark . . . And now and then she scolds them and . . . She makes them toe the mark . . . But she is always quite prepared . . . To plead in their behalf . . . If ever we get in their way . . . Or have the nerve to laugh . . . And being just a little girl . . . She really has the right . . . To all the playmates far beyond . . . Our hearing and our sight.
